FLAMES DESTROY HOME AT CLEMSON

Residence Occupied by Prof. J. L. Tennant Burns—Students Try to Save Building.

Clemson College, Jan. 21.—A dwelling belonging to I. L. Keller and occupied by Prof. J. L. Tennant was burned today. The students responded quickly to the fire alarm, but the building was aflame all over by the time they reached it and all they could do was to protect adjacent houses. Loss on the building is $3,000 without insurance. The furniture was insured. Only a few pieces were saved. Either an oil stove or defective wiring is supposed to have caused the fire.

Consider Refunding Bill.

CIRCLE REORGANIZES.

Circle 6, which is one of the junior circles of the Presbyterian church, met last Friday afternoon to reorganize and elect new officers. Despite the unfavorable weather, 13 of the 16 members were present. Various committees were appointed, a new name for the circle chosen, and the following officers elected: Miss Lucy Highsmith, president; Miss Pauline Russell, vice-president; Miss Jean Milford, secretary; Miss Lucy Thomson, treasurer.

The program committee for the next month will consist of the president, vice-president and Miss Ada Perrin. New committees will be appointed each month, officers will be elected quarterly, and the circle will meet on the first and third Fridays of each month. The members decided that their efforts for next month will be directed to sewing which will be sent to the Rescue Orphanage at Columbia.

BOY BURNS TO DEATH

Youth Falls Asleep After Starting Blaze in Abandoned Corn Crib
Beaufort, Jan. 21.—John Green, the 12 year old son of an old blind woman who lives at Grays Hill, was burned to death several days ago. The boy started a fire in an old deserted corn crib with the idea of cooking, but fell asleep letting the floor catch fire. Only a few charred remains could be found upon search among the ashes.

COMPARATIVE COST OF LIVING IN 21 CITIES

Washington, Jan. 21.—Figures on the cost of living in 21 cities issued today by the bureau of statistics of the department of labor showed declines from June, 1920, to December 1921, ranging from 12.5 per cent at Los Angeles to 21.6 per cent at Cincinnati, while declines from September 1921 to December ranged from unchanged at Scranton to 2.9 per cent at St. Louis.

The percentage of decrease by cities from June 1920, and September, 1921, respectively, to December 1921 were announced as follows:

Birmingham 18.1 and 2.8; Jacksonville 19.1 and 2; Memphis 15.8 and 1.5; Norfolk 19.4 and 2.6.

Increases in the prices in eleven cities on six groups of items, including food, clothing, housing, fuel and light, furniture and furnishings and 1914 and December 1921 were listed as follows:

Jacksonville 75.1; Norfolk 79.2.

Statistics on increases in the prices for the same groups of items in ten cities from December 1917 to December 1921 showed:

Birmingham 16.2; Memphis 23.2.

SMITHVILLE

Mrs Ben Frazier of Salak spent the week-end with her father, Mr J J Edwards.

Mr J R Tolbert spent Sunday here with home folks.

Mr John Robert Tolbert came down Saturday to see his parents and returned Sunday, leaving Mrs Tolbert and baby for a longer stay.

Mr Clarence Williams and family spent the week-end with Mr John Beauford and family.

Mr G R Tolbert and family visited in the home of Mr Jim Scott last Sunday.

Since the highway camp is located in our community farmers find a nearby market for some of their produce. This goes to prove that interprise and business is what the country needs. It puts money into circulation and while it is passing around the wide awake farmer will see to it that some finds its way into his pocket.

Mr and Mrs Bonner Haddon and children spent Sunday with Mr J D Miller.

Friends will be glad to know that Mr Gus Miller is rapidly recovering from injuries received while working at his wood saw. Mr Miller's hand was badly torn and has caused him much suffering.

SOFIA IS BECOMING ENTIRELY TOO GAY

Sofia, Jan 20.—Sofia long believed by European travelers to be the most moral, respectable and staid old town in the Balkan is becoming too gay to suit Bulgaria's stern prime minister, Alexander Stamboulsky.

The peasant premier has just given warning that the city folk are being demoralized by contact with evil western influences. Among the worst offenders, he said, are wealthy Russian "refugees," who are squandering their money in riotous living and scandalous excesses. To put a stop to this, he ordered the deportation of these rich and dissolute aliens.

It is evident also to the American visitor that the capital has lately shaken off some of the drab aspect it acquired during the war. The theatres, the opera, the restaurants and hotels are thronged nightly.

FEUD CAUSES KILLING OF AGED RECLUSE

Washburn, Wis., Dec. 21.—The latest killing in the Indian feud generations old, is charged against John "Red Bird" Beauregard, who was lodged in jail here today without bail for the slaying of John Mealey, an aged recluse of the northern Wisconsin woods.

Chieftains of two Indian tribes have been successive victims of the feud.

Mealey is said to have taunted Beauregard that the latter was "not man enough to avenge his father's death."

Years ago, Beauregard's father is said to have avenged a feud, killing by shooting an Indian named "Black Bird."

Not long afterwards, "Red Bird's" father was shot down and suspicion pointed to "Big Bone" Lombard. Fifteen years ago Lombard was slain in a cottage belonging to John Specht, who was convicted on circumstantial evidence and sent to prison, although he maintained his innocence. While Specht was in prison, Charlie "Light-foot" Beauregard, "Red Bird's" brother attempted to make a death bed confession of some sort, but the sheriff arrived too late.

Several years later, "Red Bird" served a term for the slaying of an Indian named Mitchell, one of the elder Beauregard's bitterest enemies, and after his release led the life of a hermit in the shack where Mealey was killed.
