MR. VERCHOT TALKS

Manager J. A. Verchot, of the Opera House, has returned from a visit to his old home in Alabama. Mr. Verchot found things prosperous in the old home town. He says that when he left Alabama six years ago the boll weevil had just made its appearance there as it has now done here, and that the people were panic stricken, believing they were consigned to poverty for the rest of their natural lives. Being interested in what has since happened, and on account of conditions here, Mr. Verchot made it his business to inquire into farming conditions there now. He tells us that the people there today are comparatively free from the boll weevil menace. One large farmer to whom he talked said that he had not had a boll weevil on his farm the present year so far as he knew.

Manager Verchot says that this is a very different condition from what existed at the time he left Alabama. He recalls that he talked to a farmer who had made thirty-five bales the year before, and who made only three bales the year of his departure from that state, the difference being caused by the weevil.

Mr. Verchot believes that the damage done by the weevil in this county, from now on, will yearly be less and that in five years we will have recovered in large measure from the losses we are now experiencing as a result of the appearance of the weevil here three years ago.

That indeed has been somewhat the history of the weevil's career in other sections. The amount of damages which he causes usually is greater about the third year than any other time. Nature begins then to fortify itself against its plague so to speak. The damages done by the insect may be compared to the results of the appearance of "flu" in our midst. At the height of its malignity people died everywhere from its ravages. The next year it was of a milder type, and now the disease is not worse than a bad cold, except in cases here and there. The same is true of other diseases and pests in the animal kingdom, and by analogy we may expect the same history with regard to the damage done by the weevil.

This is not intended of course to cause people to be off their guard, nor to keep them from taking every possible precaution to lessen the damage done by the weevil. People should be plowing up the cotton stalks, burning off terraces and ditches, and preparing to do intensive farming next year and to poison the weevil just as they have been advised. But we should take comfort to ourselves in the thought that nature is itself going to aid us in the fight. But nature is not going to help the man much who does not try to help himself.

Frost Predicted in South.

Washington, Oct. 19.—A considerable drop in temperature generally east of the Mississippi river last night was followed by frosts this morning as far south as Oklahoma, Arkansas and western Tennessee, the weather bureau announced. Frosts are probable tonight as far south as North Carolina and the extreme northern portions of Alabama and Mississippi, the forecast showed.

Shaw Ordered to Pen.

Columbia, Oct. 19.—Governor Harvey today instructed the sheriff of Greenwood county to return Reed Shaw to the penitentiary. Shaw was paroled in May 1921, when he was serving seven years for manslaughter. He was arrested in Greenwood two days ago on a charge of violating his parole.

THE STAR CAR

Will Be Shown in Augusta For The First Time.

If anyone stated a year ago that an automobile could be constructed with the latest and most approved standard units throughout, and successfully produced to sell at the remarkably low price of $348.00, everyone would have declared it impossible.

But at last this dream of years has become an actuality this unprecedented feat realized. The new Star Car is in every way an attractive and modernly designed motor car, in every detail if its construction is an exact counterpart of the larger, far more expensive automobiles. It is the latest product of W. C. Durant, the man whose genius and vision created such names as Durant, Cadillac and Buick. He has performed one of the greatest and most for reaching achievements of the present age, and it is certain to revolutionize low cost transportation throughout the world.

The Star Car must not for a moment be compared with any other low priced cars. It is distinctly in a class by itself, with all the improved features of body design and chassis construction, further the motor is smooth, and quiet running.

Never in all the history of automotive manufacture was such interest shown in the introduction of a new automobile as has been given the Star Car. It has been predicted that the Star Car will become the greatest success ever attained in the small car field, for it is the greatest value ever offered to the small car purchaser.

The Henry Weathers Motors Co., Inc. 815 - 819 Ellis street, Augusta Ga. Have been selected as distributors for the Star Car in this territory. They state that a complete line of the new Star Car models will be shown in their display rooms during Jubilee Week, October 25th, 26th, and 27th.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Mr. Weeks will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. on the subject: "The Bible's Message to a Restless Age."

The 7:30 p. m. service will be the usual monthly union service. The sermon will be preached by Rev. M. R. Plaxco.

Every member of the Sunday School is urged to be present next Sunday. The members of the two men's classes are specially requested to be present as some plans will be discussed looking toward larger and more effective class work.

The proposed "Sunday School Institute" for Nov. 12-17 will be discussed Sunday morning and some committees appointed. This Institute should be a great occasion for a splendid revival in Sunday School work in the church. It is hoped that every adult member of the school may be enlisted in this enterprise.

The prayermeeting of the church is being well attended now. It is the hope of the pastor to bring some helpful, practical message from the Word of God each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. These messages will consist largely of expository discussions of Bible passages.

The Baptist Young Peoples Union is now doing a splendid work. The meetings take place each Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This Union is the means by which all the young people of the church should gain helpful and inspiring training for church life and Christian service.

The church rejoiced to receive into its fellowship on Sunday, Oct. 8, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Paschal.

H. L. Weeks, Pastor.
