

From the Daily Telegraph.
Mr. Editor—I beg a corner of your sheet to express the feelings of gratification that I have lately felt on visiting a South Carolina Cotton Factory. I allude to Graniteville, a new establishment just put in operation in Edgefield District.
Three years ago, all around there was a wilderness of poor, uncultivated land, with a small but durable stream tumbling over the lowest chain of granite rock in the State, in a wild waste of useless water.
Now the stream is substantially dammed, and the water brought down in a canal about a mile, forming a 40 feet head.—Here stands the Factory 350 feet long, and 50 feet wide 2 stories high, and built of solid blue granite, dressed in blocks, forming one of the handsomest buildings in the South.
This is to contain 9,245 spindles, when all in operation, with 300 looms, which will be enough to weave all the yarn. This will consume 10 bales of Cotton a day, and turn out 10 to 12,000 yards of 30 and 36 shirting and drilling, and require 300 operatives.
By the arrangement of the machinery, the Cotton comes in upon a railway from the store house in the pickers room at one end, and goes out cloth at the other, and is taken into another store house, all in the same yard, but detached from each other to make all more secure against fire.
Most of the machinery is now in operation by "raw hands," from the piney woods population, under charge of experienced overseers, and working mostly by the job, or piece price, and average $5 a week all round, including men, girls and boys.
The village contains beside the factory and store house, 83 dwellings, a hotel, saw-mill, school house, and two of the neatest little Gothic churches ever built.
Taken altogether, I venture to assert that a more beautiful manufacturing village cannot be found in the world.
The machinery is all of the latest improved kind, and seems more like things of life, than dumb engines.
The whole establishment, operatives included, is a pattern of neatness. The cost, including 9000 acres of land and another mill site, has been $300,000.
It is not only worthy a visit from every gentleman who feels and interest in the prosperity of South Carolina, but is especially worthy the notice of every traveler like myself, who is or may be among you, "spying out the land."
Three miles above Graniteville, is the old "Vaucluse Factory," owned and conducted by Gen. Jas. Jones, a very gentlemanly and enterprising South Carolinian, whom I am pleased to learn is meeting with deserved success in his business.
I will give the public some items at my earliest leisure that will tend to show that the manufacturing spirit that is just now budding into bloom in the South, will soon produce a golden fruit, South-Carolina, Georgia and Alabama are all in the field.
I wish some of my Northern brethren could have been with me during my long sojourn in this beautiful country, to see the capabilities of the South to do her own manufacturing, but that they might have seen the actual workings of that system of labor that they are so blindly warring against—a system that brings more comfort and contented happiness to the working class who are most affected, than I have ever seen among any other part of the United States.
I have no time here to enlarge upon this subject, but I hope to live to be able to give my testimony upon all proper occasions, truthfully, upon this subject.
It is but proper that I should remark before closing, that my extended tour through all the Southern States is purely an Agricultural one.
I may be known to some of your readers as a correspondent of the "American Agriculturist," published in New York, by A. B. Allen, and it is in that character that I am now travelling; and in hope of being able to disseminate some useful information, while learning many things that tend to make the North and South better acquainted than they now are.
I am most respectfully,
Solon Robinson,
Columbia, S. C. April 24, 1849.

Southern Baptist Convention.
To the Delegates of the Southern Baptist Convention.—BELOVED BRETHREN—In consequence of the presence of Cholera at Nashville, Tennessee, at which place the Convention was to be held this year, the brethren of that City have consented that the meeting shall be held on the 29th instant in Charleston, S. C. on condition that the next meeting shall be held in Nashville in 1852. I have the concurrence of the Board of Foreign Missions in the proposed change and the acquiescence of the Board of Domestic Missions. And my Circular will appear accordingly in a few days. Meantime I inform you of the change as constitutionally made, and affectionately urge upon you, the importance of a large attendance, as the state of our Mission affairs, and the proposed conference on the subject of a General Theological Institution for the South, will require your presence in full meeting.
Affectionately your brother and fellow laborer. WILLIAM B. JOHNSON, President of the Convention.
N. B.—Our Southern Exchanges will please copy.

The columns of the Press throughout the country seem to be filled with notices of cures and specifics for all diseases flesh is heir to, that one scarcely knows what to do in case of disease, for fear that in using one medicine, another and better may be overlooked. But from the remarkable cures, high order and vast amount of testimony daily brought under our personal notice of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. ROGERS' LIVERWORT AND TAR, we are compelled to regard the evidence of our senses, and confidently state that for COUGHS and COLDS, and that HYDRY HEADED MONSTER CONSUMPTION, we think this preparation a safe, speedy and certain cure. At all events we may say to our friends—try it. It can be obtained at J. D. CHASE'S Apothecaries Hall, and if it does not help them, nothing will.
