We go to Press a Day Earlier. In order that the advertiser copies, who are so kind and enthusiastic, may be at liberty to attend and enjoy the great Hampton Meeting of to-morrow, we go to press on Tuesday afternoon, instead of Wednesday. Next week we shall lay before our readers the speeches of the distinguished men who will visit us on the morrow—as well as the occurrences and incidents of the day.

LOCAL ITEMS. On Sunday next, the Episcopal and Baptist Churches will be closed. The Methodist Church will be open for divine service in the afternoon. The Democratic meeting which was to have been held in Graniteville on Saturday last, was abandoned, it having been agreed by the citizens and Chairman of the County Executive Committee to concentrate all their present efforts upon the grand Hampton meeting in Aiken on Friday next.

Within the past three weeks two of our citizens, prominent and beloved in their respective sections, have departed this life—William Williams, Esq., of Gilgal, and the Rev. Thomas Barley, of Johnston—both of them men of high character, and of good old Edgefield stock.

Our friend, Dr. James A. Self, who lives in the Turkey Creek country, between Pleasant Lane and Gilgal, sends us a superb specimen of Sorghum Syrup—the best we ever tasted. He should send a gallon or two to our State Fair.

Read Genl. Gary's fine Ridge Spring speech. Miss L. J. Leckie, Successor to Mrs. Anna Leckie.

"Princes and kings may flourish and fade, but the regular succession of seasons will go on just the same, with no regard to any such small facts. Constitutions will crumble and disappear—as we have seen in our own day—and the bones of our ancestors will be scattered, and is made beautiful by certain other heads, will merely vary in color, shape or size. Dynamic forces, which States will be reduced to geographical expressions, but Hats, Feathers, Flowers, Ribbons, Stashes, Jewels, Clocks, Bracelets, Neckties, and other articles of female taste and fancy. How all these things are made, and done, and sold, is my business. I have been appointed by a visit to Miss L. J. Leckie, in Augusta, Miss Leckie, who is an exceedingly elegant and accomplished young lady, the daughter of our old and honored friend, Mrs. Anna Leckie, who, for the present, remains in the establishment, ready to give all her Edgefield friends a very good time. The Leckie establishment has been moved back to where it used to flourish so luxuriantly in former days, near the Augusta Hotel, and within a few steps of Washington St., where Edgefield people, in the S. C., in another column, we beg very special attention.

"We Propose to Give Them Honest Value for Their Money." If the crowds who constantly enter the magnificent premises of Messrs. Gray & Co. for retail dry goods stores in Augusta, may be regarded as a sign of the times, then the times are indeed good. The amount of business done, this fall, is even greater than usual; and from the well known character of the firm, it is fair to presume that the business done in the future will be still more extensive. For Miss Leckie's establishment on Broad Street, in Augusta, we propose to give our patrons honest value for their money; and when our customers are always ready to trade and beat them.

"Shoemaker's Tools" Somewhat low down on Broad Street, Augusta, opposite the Marble yard, Mr. G. Cohen keeps a new and splendid stock of "Shoemaker's Tools"—all kinds and all sizes—from a Colchester down to the smallest. If you wish to read his list, refer to his new card in our business columns.

The Smith & Wesson That Does Not Click! As is well known to our people, Smith & Wesson, in pity to a certain class of individuals, have so modified the machinery of their pistols that they no longer click. Consequently nervous and intellectual heroes will be spared much anguish in future. For these non-clickers, as well as many other kinds of guns, shotguns, and pistols, go to Rogers in Augusta. Read what Rogers says in another column. The question now is to click or not to click!

G. L. Penn & Son Arrested as "Dynamic Fiends." Our popular and beloved townsman, G. L. Penn & Son, were arrested a few days ago by U. S. Deputy Marshals, upon a charge of having in store a vast quantity of Dynamite for the purpose of blowing up the whole Radical party. "Gang-busting," on the occasion of the "Gang-busting," dozens of huge hogsheads, barrels, boxes, bags, &c., were seized, bound up in the light, and were merely inspected. One hogshead contained A. Sugar; another contained C. Sugar; another contained coarse Brown Sugar; another contained fine Orleans Sugar; another contained "Nigger Molasses"; another was packed with Baltimore Hams; another contained Drugs, Medicines, Apples, Lemons, Confectioneries, Nuts, &c., of all sorts. The boxes contained "Dynamite." The thousand and one wagon loads of new supplies lately brought up from Pine House by the "Gang-busters," were all packed in the same manner. The "Gang-busters" are all Democrats, and hence the "Dynamite" is all Democratic. The "Dynamite" is all Democratic. The "Dynamite" is all Democratic. The "Dynamite" is all Democratic.

THE ARMY IN EDGEFIELD.

How Chamberlain's Trumpeters and Troops Were Received. Gen. Ruger's Mission to South Carolina—His Interview with the Governor—What he Says of his Instructions from President Grant—Deportative Negroes to be Protected by United States Troops.

(Special Dispatch to News and Courier.) COLUMBIA, October 15.—Gen. Ruger, the general commanding the United States forces in the department of the South, arrived here last night, and had a long interview with Governor Chamberlain, lasting until 1 o'clock A. M. He brought with him two additional regiments of infantry, which he left at Pine House, and which went to Edgefield yesterday morning. What passed in the interview is not known, but the last moment the Governor declined to go to Edgefield, and sent S. M. Pillsbury, Brayton and Hayne instead. They were accompanied by Commissioner J. G. Thompson and six deputy marshals, under the command of James P. Law, with instructions to arrest any and every person who attempted to divide time or even to speak at or near the Republican stand. It is reported that they entered Edgefield, but no notice was taken of their coming by the whites, and the leaders spoke at the Academy grounds to between five hundred and one thousand negroes, mostly slaves and all ages without molestation. About two thousand whites, of whom twelve or fifteen hundred were mounted, were present in the town, attracted by the report that Chamberlain would speak. When it became known that he had not arrived, and that a large force had been sent to Pine House, a difficulty, Gen. Butler and Governor Chamberlain had come they had insisted on being heard, but did not propose to give any notice of the call's jaw party he had sent to Pine House, and they wanted to be instituted for effect at the North. The fight is already won in Edgefield, and they would like to see the Whites desired above all things. They counselled the people to keep away from the Republican meeting and to return to their homes in Aiken and Edgefield. Wednesday to hear Hampton. The crowd insisted on hearing the Republicans a visit, and a column was formed, which went out at night, by the other stand without stopping or causing a disturbance, both sides hurrying continuously. The procession, which was an imposing one, returned to town by another street. One or two addresses were delivered and all then disbanded and went home. Not a single case of disorder occurred. The people were more excited and enthusiastic than I have ever seen elsewhere. All the troops were kept in a back yard during the night, and were ready to meet at a moment's notice, but they were not used, nor used.

It has transpired that Gen. Ruger says that President Grant has informed him, through official channels, that as the Governor is unable to afford protection to citizens in the exercise of their rights, it is his duty to see that they are protected, and to do all in his power to prevent such "outrages" as are alleged to have taken place in Aiken and Edgefield. Gen. Ruger has had an interview with Col. Haskell also, and informed him that Democratic negroes will be protected from violence or intimidation by persons of their own color or others. Gen. Ruger will remain until Tuesday, and will probably have an interview with Mr. Hampton, who is here.

For the Advertiser. Tribute of Respect. At a meeting of the Tilden Democratic Club, held at Harmony Church, the following Resolutions and Resolutions were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, in His all-wise Providence to remove from our midst by death, our beloved companion and counselor, COL. THOS. G. BACON; therefore, be it Resolved, 1st, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doth all things well, we deeply deplore the loss of one whose counsel and influence we so greatly need. Resolved, 2d, That we deeply sympathize with the afflicted family, and relative in their sad bereavement. Resolved, 3d, That the colors of this Club be draped in mourning for thirty days. Resolved, 4th, That a copy of this Resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased, and a copy to the Edgefield Advertiser, for publication in their issue of the 17th inst. R. E. KENNEY, et al., Committee.

A By-Word Throughout Two States. The princely Jewelry and Silver Establishment of H. A. Brahe, of Augusta, has for many years been a by-word throughout Georgia and South Carolina. And this fall Brahe's is more princely than ever. He has a quantity of the known world has, within the past few months, been contributing its treasures to the embracing splendor of Brahe's. Brahe's new stock comprises: First-Class Diamonds; Fine Gold and Silver Watches, both for gentlemen and ladies; of all makes; Gold and Silver Chains; Plain Gold Rings; Clocks of American and French make, in Marble, Bronze and Wood; Shining Silver Ware; Triple-Plate Ware of the Collected Factory of Reed & Barton; a large assortment of Fancy Goods, Vases, Statuettes, Candelabra, Jewel Cases, and other articles of taste and utility. A very large variety of "Shoemaker's Tools" of the smaller and more elegant sort. And as for H. A. Brahe himself—we know him well—he is not only a polished and educated gentleman, and an enterprising man of business, but he is also the best his work of God, "an honest man."

We beg for his new card, in this week's issue, the universal attention of our readers.

The Talk Now. The talk now throughout our town and district is of Mr. J. H. Cheatham's cheap Dry Goods—as elegant too as they are cheap—and all perfectly new and fresh. Call your eye over Mr. J. H. Cheatham's fall and winter card in another column.
