

Last year's cotton crop received up to date, is 6,546,784 bales.

Beginning Saturday last, Congress is now holding night sessions.

The latest announcement is that Cleveland favors silver—in spoons.

Yellow fever, a few cases, at Brunswick, Ga., and Tampa, Fla.

Bad feeling exists between Italy and France, and there are rumors of war.

Caterpillars are reported in the cotton in some sections of the State.

State banks can be made as safe as national banks; why not, then, have State banks.

The biggest scheme of the Populist party is for the government to ruin the railroads.

The Ohio gubernatorial campaign is in full blast, and Vice-President Stevenson will assist in making speeches.

Civil war is going on in Mexico. Serious fights have taken place in Saltillo. Many persons on either side were killed.

Gold to the amount of 796,000 lbs. was withdrawn from the Bank of England on Friday last for shipment to the United States.

A bill will be introduced into Congress next week by Congressman Shell to deepen the Congaree river below Columbia, so that good sized boats might come up to the city. This should have been done years and years ago.

The Presbyterians have determined to open a college in Greenville for the education of young ladies. The name "Chicora College" was adopted for the new institution. Prof. J. F. McKinnon, of Aiken has been elected president.

About five thousand unemployed working men indulged in a riotous demonstration on the streets of New York on Thursday last. After they had smashed a number of plate glass windows and wrecked a hall they were scattered by the police.

A cablegram received on Saturday by President J. B. Dyer, of Augusta, Ga., from Liverpool, announced the putting of a line of steamers between Port Royal and Liverpool by September 15th. This means direct shipment and better prices for cotton.

Prof. Newman, of Clemson College suggested that the people of all the counties in the State be invited to assist, by contribution, in raising a monument to John C. Calhoun. He further suggests that the monument shall cost $10,000 and be erected near Clemson College, at the home of the distinguished statesman.

A parliament of religions will meet at Chicago on Sept. 11th, and remain in session until the 27th of that month. Representatives of various sects from every part of the world will be present, and it will be an interesting sight to see Christians, Buddhists, Theists, Mussulmans, Parsees, Jews, etc., assembled for the discussion of religious topics.

It was said some time ago that the Sherman law was the cause of gold being sent out of the country, but now it is coming back from Europe at a rapid rate and the Sherman law still unrepealed. The truth is that the Sherman law had nothing to do with its going out or its coming back, and it simply went and came according to the laws of trade, supply and demand.

The watchword of Democracy ought to be "Stand on the platform." Mr. Cleveland may have good and sufficient reasons for sitting down on silver, but the party has not, and we do not think Mr. Cleveland has. A large majority of the people of the United States desire the free coinage of silver. Hearken to the voice of the people. If we do not, they will raise thunder.

A prisoner in the county jail at Birmingham, Ala., was certainly ingenious. He improvised a still and made whiskey for himself and fellow prisoners. The still was made with a bucket in which were a piece of glass pipe as a worm, three tin boxes as beer tubs, and a spittoon as a furnace. McAsses, apples, and the like furnished the raw material for making the rum. They broke up his distillery, but we think he ought to have been allowed to keep it, or else been turned out and put at the head of a Samdag.

Mr. Cartledge, one of the dispensers in Columbia, has been turned out of the church because he has accepted the position and sells whiskey as a beverage.

The exports of specie from the port of New York last week were $264,000, all silver. Of this amount $255,000 went to Europe and $9,000 to South America. The imports of specie at the same port for the same time were $11,253,000, of which $11,249,780 were gold and $4,246 silver.

Governor Tillman is now in Chicago visiting the great Fair. He was accorded a public reception and made the following little speech which pleased the Chicagoans immensely: "Crossing a thousand miles of this grand country of ours, from the South Atlantic to the Northern Lakes, one must feel that we have a grand country, grand in its size, grand in everything, and it makes anybody, let him come from where he may in the United States, feel proud to say, I am an American. I do not hesitate to say, without flattering you in the least, that God appears to have picked this spot to be in the future the hub of North America, the centre of thought, wealth, progression, pluck, and energy, and I make the prediction to-day that in less than two years you will have more people in Chicago than any city on the American continent, if not in the world."

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 20.—Receiver Chamberlain, of the South Carolina railroad, has made arrangements to give a large number of the roads employees a free trip to the World's Fair. The coaches will be run from this city through to Chicago, starting from Charleston on the first of September.

Bland, of Missouri, in the House, and Vest, of the same State, in the Senate, have made the best speeches up to date in favor of free coinage. We publish below an extract from Mr. Vest's speech: He said that it was high time for the people of the United States to know whether politics were a juggle or fraud, or whether the solemn declarations of parties were worthy of the confidence of a free people. Talking of the Sherman act Senator Vest spoke of it as a houseless and homeless legislative dog, with no one even to give it a bone, and without being able to find a kennel in which to hide its dishonored head. And nevertheless people would vote against repeal without a guarantee as solemn as the great necessity of the people that silver shall exist in the United States as a money metal. He had been known as the firm and unshrinking friend of the President of the United States, and has in all his campaign speeches in Missouri declared Mr. Cleveland to be a bimetalist himself, and that they only disagreed in reference to the ratio. He had the right to make that statement, because Mr. Cleveland accepted the nomination on a platform which pledged the Democratic party to bimetalism. It had been as well known that the Democratic party stood on the doctrine of bi-metalism as that it had met in Chicago and nominated Grover Cleveland for the Presidency. He did not undertake to say now that the President was opposed to bimetalism, or that he would not give his executive sanction to a measure to coin silver at a commercial ratio with gold: but he did undertake to say that the President's message was most significant for what it failed to say.

Senator Vest went on to argue against the idea that the over-production of silver, in relation to gold, justified the demonization of the the white metal, and he quoted the tables of gold and silver pro and con without the slightest doubt of his argument. He undertook to say, with the greatest respect for the President, and without the slightest drought of his honesty of purpose, that when he wished (in that great state) to say one word in respect to bimetalism, he certainly meant that a consideration of the question of the free coinage of silver, at any ratio was so impracticable it did not need executive notice. Senator Vest spoke three hours, in the course of which he was frequently interrupted with questions from his colleagues. To a question from Senator Palmer Senator Vest replied that he was willing to have the Sherman act repealed, but not willing to have its repeal made a stalking horse for monometallicism. In reply to a question by Senator Platt, Senator Vest said he did not know what the President would do. He knew that the President sent a message to Congress in which he did not say one word about bimetalism, and he took it for granted that if the President had any idea of sustaining bimetalism, he would have said something about it. In conclusion Senator Vest repelled the idea of there being a necessity for international agreement on the subject of silver.

BULLETS AND BUCKSHOT.

Judge Lynch Holds Court In Abbeville.

Columbia State. GREENWOOD, August 21.—This morning, while Mr. William Munday, a respectable citizen of this community, was in town, a vagabond negro named Jake Davis assaulted Mrs. Munday, who is fifty-five years old, and would have accomplished his fiendish purpose but for the attack of a fierce yard dog, which frightened him away, leaving his victim considerably bruised. A posse of cool yet determined men, both white and black, were soon scouring the country for him, and caught him at Ninety-Six this evening about 4 o'clock. He was immediately carried before Mrs. Munday, who readily and without a shadow of a doubt identified him. Several colored women on the place testified to his presence there about the time the assault was committed. There being no doubt of his guilt, he was quietly led to an open field near the house, bound to the trunk of a tree and shot to death. During the time preparations were being made for his execution and up to the very time of it the negro displayed a stolid indifference to his surroundings. When the State correspondent arrived on the scene he was standing with his back to the tree, facing one hundred guns in the hands of many determined men. On being approached, he spoke in a clear strong voice; not a tremor was noticeable, nor was fear on his countenance. There was no mockery or taunting on the part of the crowd. The opportunity was offered Davis to pray, but he declined it. A more orderly execution could not have taken place in a well drilled army. The men with the guns, some negroes among them, formed a line fifteen paces in front of the doomed man, and at the word "Fire!" a simultaneous volley of bullets and buckshot went whizzing through his body. He died without a struggle; only a slight shrug of his shoulders was noticeable after the smoke had cleared away. After the execution the crowd turned away and dispersed to their homes; without any boisterous display; only a few of the more curious lingered around the scene. Too much praise cannot be given to the colored people, who manifested such an intense desire to have the wretch caught and punished. The same negro committed an assault on a white woman in this community a few years ago, but as her character was questionable he was allowed to go unpunished.

Tillman Talks at Chicago.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 19.—Two receptions were held in the rooms of the national committee in the administration building at the world's fair yesterday. Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, who accompanied the Augusta exposition delegation, was recognized officially by the commission. He was introduced by State Commissioner Roach and presented by Vice President Penn and was greeted with applause. Governor Tillman congratulated the commission and officers upon the grandeur of the exhibits and regretted South Carolina's absence. "Crossing a thousand miles of this grand country of ours from the South Atlantic to the Northern lakes one must feel that we have a grand country in its size, grand in everything and it makes anybody, let him come from where he may in the United States, feel proud to say I am an American. I do not hesitate to say without flattering you in the least that God appears to have picked this spot to be in the future, the hub of North America, the center of thought, wealth, progress, pluck and energy, and I make the prediction today that in less than twenty years you will have more people in Chicago than in any city on the American continent, if not in the world." In closing Governor Tillman expressed his confidence that great good would grow out of the fair. There had gathered in the room while Governor Tillman was speaking a very large delegation from the Augusta exposition, including fully seventy-five representative ladies and gentlemen from Augusta, and it was probably a novel scene to have so many ladies gathered in this room during a sitting of the body.

MERCURIAL

Mr. J. C. Jones, of Fulton, Ark., says of "About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of blood poisoning. Leading physicians prescribed without any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with unsuccessful results, but which brought on an attack of mercurial rheumatism that made my life one of agony. After suffering four years I gave up all remedies and commenced using S. S. S. After taking several bottles, I was entirely cured and able to resume work. S. S. S. is the greatest medicine for blood poisoning to-day on the market."
