Mrs. W. L. Dunovant,
President.

A Handsome Contribution.

Notwithstanding the fact that he recently had his ginny burned, sustaining a financial loss of four or five thousand dollars, Mr. W. Frank West has voluntarily contributed the sum of $50.00 to the Y. M. C. A. welfare fund for our soldiers. That is the spirit that will win the war. If you can't go, or don't have to go to the war yourself, contribute generously to the support and welfare of those who are fighting for us.

New Real Estate Agency.

Attention is directed to the attractive advertisement on our second page of the Davis Realty Company, which has just located an office in Edgefield. Mr. George H. Davis will be in active charge of the business. These gentlemen are the largest dealers in the State in farm lands, their sales last year aggregating $30,000. The company gives a strong list of references to prove their claim. List your farm property with them.

Delightful Halloween Party.

Friday night last Miss Kate Mims entertained the members of the McDuffie Literary Society with a Halloween party. The decorations were unique and altogether pleasing in effect. All of the members of the society were present and entered heartily in the evening's pleasure. At the close of the contests and other forms of diversion, refreshments were served. So short were the hours and so delightful the occasion that good-byes were reluctantly said.

Patriotic Rally at Johnston.

Monday night next, at 7:30 o'clock, a patriotic rally will be held at Johnston, in the opera house, in the interest of the welfare work for our soldiers in camp and on the battle fields that is being conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association. Everybody is invited to attend. After a brief statement by Mr. J. L. Mims, the county chairman, addresses will be made by Ex-Gov. John C. Sheppard and Hon. B. E. Nicholson. Tell your friends about the patriotic rally at Johnston Monday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Wellmore-Cheatham.

The following is a copy of invitations that have been received to a marriage in which all of our people have an affectionate interest and in advance The Advertiser extends Brother Cheatham very hearty and sincere congratulations:

Mrs. Josephine Wellmore invites you to be present at the marriage of her daughter Margaretta Elizabeth and

Lieut. Colonel Wigfall Cheatham on Saturday evening November the seventeenth nineteen hundred and seventeen
at seven o'clock
1415 John Street
Baltimore, Maryland.

Pleasant Hour at Colliers.

The editor of The Advertiser spent an exceedingly pleasant hour Sunday afternoon with the good people of Colliers, having accepted an invitation to address the Peace Haven Sunday school. In spite of the chilly afternoon, there was a representative attendance, each class being taught by a capable teacher. Mr. T. M. Adams is the popular and very worthy superintendent. The men's class is taught by Mr. Murphy Miller and the women's class by Dr. J. N. Crafton. All of the other classes have faithful teachers.

The singing of the Peace Haven Sunday school is fine. Miss Ellie Mathis presides at the organ and Mr. Tom Adams, with his strong voice, makes a good leader. There is no choir set apart for the singing, the entire school constituting the choir, which is the ideal way.

The Peace Haven Sunday school is wielding a very helpful influence in Colliers, and long may it live, perpetuating the memory of the lamented Dr. McKie who founded it.

Grateful For General Response.

As county chairman of the war fund to be raised for the welfare of our boys in the training camps, the editor of The Advertiser wrote more than 50 letters to citizens in different parts of the county, inviting and urging them to attend the meeting which was held in the court house Monday. With but few exceptions, all of these men—true, patriotic men that they are—either attended or wrote us personal letters giving the reason for their absence and expressing interest in the very worthy cause. For this very general response to our appeal we are profoundly grateful. The following letter from a good citizen of the west-side shows the fine spirit manifested:

Modoc, S. C., Nov. 6, 1917.

Dear Mr. Mims:
I regret exceedingly that I could not attend the Conference as per request in letter of Nov. 2nd from you.

Have been somewhat indisposed several days. I am with you in the grand cause you so nobly espouse for the good of the fight we are making for Humanity and last but not least christianity.

I trust our people of Carolina will become enthused take up this good work and carry same to a successful end. With best wishes.

I am sincerely yours,
T. W. Lamb.

Patriotic Mass Meeting.

There was a very gratifying response to the call issued by personal letter for the conference or mass meeting which was held in the court house Monday at noon to launch the campaign to raise the $2,100 asked of Edgefield county. The attendance was large and representative and the meeting was presided over by Mr. J. L. Mims, the county chairman, who called upon Rev. J. H. Thacker, the Methodist pastor of Johnston, to invoke divine blessings upon the deliberations. Acting upon the plan of organization, the chairman appointed two vice-chairmen, Hon. B. E. Nicholson and Mr. S. J. Watson of Johnston. Mr. E. J. Norris has been chosen secretary and treasurer for the county and to him all funds will be reported.

There were several very earnest, patriotic addresses, among the speakers being Ex-Gov. John C. Sheppard, Dr. E. Pendleton Jones, Hon. B. E. Nicholson, Rev. J. A. Gaines, Mr. Orlando Sheppard, Dr. J. R. Beall of Blythe, Ga., Mr. Arthur S. Tompkins and others. At the close of these addresses an opportunity was given for making voluntary contributions. The response was general and most gratifying, $553 being collected. The names of the contributors and the amounts are given below.

The chairman announced the committees upon whom are placed the responsibility of thoroughly canvassing the different communities of the county. Their names are published elsewhere in this issue. Where a solicitor or member of any of these committees has made a contribution it should be added to the list prepared for his own community, so his community will receive proper credit for it. If the amount has already been paid to Mr. Norris, the treasurer it can be adjusted when the funds are finally turned over to him.
