LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. J. W. Cox of Johnston was a visitor in Edgefield Tuesday.

Mr. P. L. Cogburn and Mr. E. J. Mims attended court in Saluda Tuesday.

The petit jury for the first week of the October court is published in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith came up from Augusta and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Scurry.

Mr. E. J. Mims spent the week-end in Johnston visiting Mrs. Lilla Ready and Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mobley.

Mr. L. R. Jones of Columbia spent Sunday in Edgefield visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones.

After spending a while here with Miss Kate Samuel, Mrs. O. P. Bright left yesterday for her home in Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Broadwater of Greenwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Abner B. Broadwater last week.

Mr. C. C. Cely of Anderson, Mr. R. E. Johnson and Mr. H. W. Sanders of Greenville were guests of Messrs. Linwood and Shields Johnson last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Padgett motored to Marietta Friday afternoon to visit their daughter, Mrs. Norwood Cleveland, returning to Edgefield Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ned Prevost, bee specialist of Clemson College is in Edgefield and will give a bee demonstration this morning at the home of Mr. E. J. Mims.

Dr. J. S. Byrd motored to Columbia Sunday and Mrs. Byrd and their children who had been spending several weeks in Columbia returned with him Sunday afternoon.

At 11 o'clock on the morning of the third Sunday in October, Rev. G. W. M. Taylor will preach a special sermon for the members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics at the Methodist church.

Rev. W. R. Barnes of Red Hill preached in the Baptist church Sunday night. His strong message was well received by the congregation and has been very favorably commented on.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Harris who reside in the northern edge of the county has been brightened by the coming of a little daughter last Tuesday to be a permanent visitor.

Cotton seed are bringing 57 cents per bushel on the Edgefield market, which is better than last year but, considering the short supply, it is only about half what they should bring.

Next Sunday morning Rally Day and Promotion Day exercises will be held at the Methodist church which will take place of the regular preaching service. Everybody is urged to come and bring a new member.

Mr. J. A. Townsend has begun the erection of an eight-room bungalow on his lot just north of the home of Mr. R. T. Hill. The work is to be done under the supervision of Mr. T. J. Langston, which means that it will be a first-class job.

The Edgefield Mercantile Company invites its friends, customers and the public generally, to inspect its stock of household goods, furniture, buggies, wagons, etc., and see the prices they are being sold at. Do this before you buy.—Advertisement.

Hon. and Mrs. Raven I. McDavid and children, Miss Annie Addison and Miss Mamie Addison of Greenville, S. C., motored through Edgefield on Saturday. They have many relatives and friends in Edgefield who regret that their stay in the old town was so short.

Mrs. Israel Mukashy arrived from New York Friday, where she went several months ago to meet her father, Mr. Meyer Marcus, who was en route at that time from Poland to the United States. Soon after he reached New York they left for Edgefield. Mrs. Marcus, Mrs. Mukashy's mother, will come to the United States, and thence to Edgefield, later.

Mr. L. H. Harling has rented the Roper place where Mr. W. E. Ouzts now resides and will soon move his family there.

Mr. Oscar O. Burnett of Sumter county, Georgia, spent Tuesday in Edgefield, having come to pay his son, Mr. Claude Burnett, a visit.

Mr. Israel Mukashy announces the arrival of his new stock of fall merchandise this week. His large store is well supplied with new merchandise in every department.

The fall term of the Court of General Sessions will convene the third Monday in October, with Hon. T. S. Sease of Spartanburg as presiding judge.

The Edgefield people are invited by Mr. Abram Datch to come to his store to supply their fall needs. He has replenished every department of his store with attractive new fall goods and is now ready to supply the needs of the entire family.

The Edgefield friends of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Kernaghan extend affectionate greetings because of the dear little girl which the Stork recently gave them. Mrs. Kate Kernaghan is spending some time in Waco, Texas, with her son.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of the Quality Shop, telling our readers of the pretty new fall merchandise that has been received. After this week the Quality Shop will be found in the rear of the store of Smith-Marsh Company.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Merrill of Minneapolis, Minn., are stopping at the Dixie Highway Hotel for a month. Mr. Merrill has been engaged by Mr. B. B. Jones to manage his special sale. We are delighted to chronicle the fact that these good people of the far-away northwest will spend a month or possibly longer among us.

All of the people of the community regret the physical breakdown of Mr. J. D. Holstein and he is greatly missed from his store. He went to Johns Hopkins hospital of Baltimore Tuesday, accompanied by Dr. R. A. Marsh, for special treatment and his friends hope that he will soon be able to return fully restored to health.

We are still giving numbered cards to purchasers of five gallons of gasoline and those who hold the successful numbers when drawing is made next Saturday will each be given a gallon can of oil worth $1.25, absolutely free.

Great Bargain Sale.

In order to convert his large stock furniture, buggies, wagons, harness, stoves, etc., into cash, Mr. B. B. Jones has an attractive double-page advertisement in this issue of The Advertiser, telling the people just what unprecedented bargains can be secured at this popular store. Although Mr. Jones has been in business here 27 years, during which time he has thoroughly established himself for honest, fair and square dealing, he has never before conducted a sale of this kind. Read what he says and profit by this opportunity to purchase first-class merchandise at very low prices. He has secured Mr. F. D. Merrill of Minneapolis, Minn., an expert manager of sales, to conduct this sale for him. Mr. Merrill comes to Edgefield with the strongest of credentials and with fifteen successful years of experience. This great money-saving sale will begin Saturday, October 1. Be on hand early and get what you need before the stock is broken.

Do not fail to examine the stock of furniture, rugs, stoves, and household goods offered for sale at greatly reduced prices by the Edgefield Mercantile Company. Come at once and buy something at a bargain. Don't wait.—Advertisement.

Will Hold Community Fair.

The ladies of the Edgefield Civic League have decided instead of having just a Chrysanthemum show, they are going to have what they will call a Community Fair.

By this we mean to give prizes for fancy work of different kinds, canned fruits and vegetables, cakes and breads, and, perhaps, other things that will appear when we get our prize list complete.

The date for the fair has not been set as this depends on the opening of the chrysanthemums, which is generally not later than the middle of November.

We hope to make this fair a great pleasure to all, as well as a financial success. We will sell dinner the day of the fair. People all over the county will bring what they wish to enter.

CIVIC LEAGUE.

Blind Entertainers.

A concert will be given in the Opera House Friday night, September 30 for the benefit of the Columbia Association for the Blind of South Carolina. This concert will consist of vocal and instrumental music, jokes, mimics and artistic paper tearing. A hearty laugh and a good time is guaranteed to all who attend. This concert which will be given by blind entertainers is under the auspices of the Edgefield Civic League and it is hoped that our people will patronize it generously. It is a very worthy cause.

Sunday School Rooms.

The members of the Methodist church will at once erect Sunday school rooms immediately adjoining the church. The structure will be of brick and will contain seven modernly equipped rooms. The addition will be erected west of the church but will in design and architecture harmonize with the church, making it a modern plant. The steady growth of the Sunday school has made this addition necessary. Besides erecting Sunday school rooms, the members of the church will make improvements upon the old parsonage near the church, by installing water, etc., and their pastor will occupy it as a home. The building is conveniently located to the church and when improved will be admirably adapted for a parsonage.

A Surprise Marriage.

The announcement that Mr. Goode Reel had taken unto himself a bride came as a great surprise to many of our people. Sunday afternoon he and Miss Anna Belle Smith were married in Augusta by Dr. Grace, pastor of the First Baptist church, at his residence in Augusta. They motored to Augusta Sunday afternoon and were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Reel, Miss Lucile Reel, Miss Louise Smith and Mr. T. L. Smith. The bride is a beautiful and very popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. K. Smith of the Horn's Creek section. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reel who is successfully engaged in merchandising. He is a young man of sterling qualities and exemplary habits. The Advertiser extends sincerest good wishes to these young friends.

Returned to Citadel.

Yesterday Sergeant Ralph Byrd stopped in Edgefield while en route to the Citadel. His delay in returning is due to his having been at Camp Perry, Ohio, attending the national rifle contest. He reached home Monday morning from Camp Perry and left Tuesday for Charleston. Sergt. Byrd said his sojourn of a month at Camp Perry, attending the national marksmanship contest as one of the Citadel's representatives, was a great experience for him. It is very gratifying that the Citadel boys made such a splendid record. Thirty military schools from all parts of the country, including West Point and Annapolis, participated in the contest and the Citadel ranked second, Annapolis being first. Sergt. Byrd is wearing a medal for distinction, one being presented to each of the six Citadel contestants. Edgefield county is honored by having one of her boys selected as one of the Citadel's representatives.
