

CONFEDERATE DEAD BURIED NEAR WINCHESTER.—We trust that the following circular, which we find in the Winchester papers, will meet with a hearty and material response throughout the county:

"To the People of the South.—The recent battles around Winchester, Virginia, have left their traces in the many graves scattered broadcast over an area of twelve miles radius. The dead were generally buried where they fell, and their rude graves are fast disappearing beneath the feet of men and beasts, free from the want of enclosures, to go where they will.

"Those who died in the hospitals were mostly buried in the old Episcopal graveyard, but its enclosures have long been destroyed, and cattle graze over its whole extent.

"The farming operations of next season, the wear of the winter and the disappearance by removal and death, of those who were present at their burials, will in a few months, leave no knowledge of the resting place of many martyred dead.

"Impelled by these considerations, some of the citizens of Winchester and vicinity have determined to endeavor to collect these scattered remains in one cemetery, and surround them by a substantial enclosure. This of course, will require a considerable amount of money. The means of our citizens are very much diminished by the war and its results; we are, therefore, induced to appeal to you for aid in this matter, encouraged by the belief that you will feel it a privilege, as well as a duty, to pay this tribute of respect to the memory of those who fell in your cause.

"Every Southern State has its representatives among these fallen heroes; we ask all, then, for such contributions as they feel able to give.

"Should we succeed in raising the necessary fund, it is proposed to remove the remains on the 1st of April, 1866, and we would respectfully suggest to all whose friends lie under those battle-fields to disinter them by that time if they wish to do so. In the removal every precaution will be taken to preserve all means of identification, and an accessible record will be prepared of every grave.

"All subscriptions may be sent to Mrs. Phillip Williams, or Mrs. Dr. A. H. Boyd, Winchester, Va.

"To Citizens of Winchester and Vicinity: In furtherance of the above object, all persons who have graves of Confederate soldiers upon their lands are requested to report to Mrs. Phillip Williams, or Mrs. Dr. A. H. Boyd.

"All approving papers are requested to copy. Winchester, Va., Nov. 26, 1865.

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD.—The Tallahassee Floridian, makes a suggestion which will meet with the approbation of the South, and no generous and brave, honorable man in the North will object to its accomplishment. It is to meet and proper that we should honor our dead, and that their remains now scattered from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, should be gathered together and their resting place marked by appropriate monuments. It is our right, as well as our solemn duty, to commemorate the glorious history of our kindred dead, and we trust that the people of the South will never forget what is due the Southern dead. Here is what our Florida contemporary says upon the subject:

The United States Government, in the true feeling of grateful patriotism, has taken steps to rescue its dead from the many battle fields and prison houses of the war, to reinter their remains in National Cemeteries, where their graves may be marked by suitable memorials. This is laudable; this is right. But what is to be done for the Confederate dead, scattered from Gettysburg to the Rio Grande? Will the people of the South be permitted to gather their lost in like manner and place suitable memorials of affection over their graves? We know not but that the suggestion might be considered disloyal, but surely every emotion of the Southern heart would sanction a proposition to recover and honor the remains of the Southern dead. Each State should take care of its own, as there is no other power equal to the task. The United States Government has set the example—let each of the resuscitated and restored States follow in the same path of honorable devotion.

Rev. Dr. J. Cross, well known in the South as a prominent minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church, has withdrawn from that denomination, and is now in New York, where he has become a candidate for orders in the Episcopal Church. In a private letter to the editor of the Advocate, he says:

"In making this change in my ecclesiastical relations, I have been influenced by no feeling contrary to 'perfect love' towards those with whom I have so long been associated in the work of the Lord. Their kindness to me has always been much greater than my merit, and I am indebted to many among them for brotherly offices which I am sure I never can forget. Having been born and partly reared in the Church of England, baptized by one of her presbyters, confirmed by one of her bishops, and early impressed with the spiritual beauty of her worship, I feel that in entering the Protestant Episcopal Church I am but returning to my mother. It is a matter I have been meditating occasionally for many years.

"After long deliberation, and a severe mental struggle about abandoning those whom I so dearly loved, and with whom my relations have been so pleasant and profitable. I have at length reached the conclusion that it is my duty to take this step; and asking counsel of the Heavenly Wisdom, and conferring not with flesh and blood, and I now bid you an affectionate farewell.

"We reciprocate the kindly feeling expressed in this letter, and wish well to our friend wherever duty calls him.—So. Christian Advocate, November 16.

WATT'S STREET.—A Frenchman stopped a lad in the street to make some enquires of his whereabouts:

"Mon fren, what is ze name of ziz street?"

"Well, who said 'twan'?"

"What you call ziz street?"

"Of course we do it!"

"Pardonnez! I have not ze name you call him."

"Yes, Watt's you called it."

"Ziz street?"

"Watt's street, old fellar, and don't you go to make game o'me."

"Sacre! I ask you one, two, tree several times often, will you tell to me ze name of ziz street—eh?"

"Watt's street, I told yer. Yer drunk aint yer?"

"Mon little fren, vere you lif, eh?"

The religious belief of the deceased Presidents of the United States, as indicated by their attendance upon public worship, and evidence afforded in their writings, may be summed up as follows: Washington, Madison, Monroe, Harrison, Tyler and Taylor were Episcopalians; Jefferson, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, were Unitarians; Van Buren was of the Dutch Reformed Church; Jackson, Polk and Lincoln were Presbyterians. The surviving Presidents are Fillmore, a Unitarian; Pierce and Buchanan, Episcopalians, and the present Chief Magistrate, Johnson, who is a Presbyterian.

New York, December 28.—Cotton was advanced half a cent. Sales of three thousand bales. Naval Stores dull. Gold 45.

THE JAMAICA INSCRIPTION.—TERRIBLE FATE OF THE INSURGENT NEGROES.—Some of the English journals denounce the horrible massacres committed by Governor Eyre and the planters of Jamaica. One of them remarks:

"The accounts of the exploit of troops are just like the accounts of sportsmen popping away at pheasants in a preserve, and when after a month of it, on the 7th ultimo, the new pit, dug at Morant Bay, for negro bodies, was filled without any, the general opinion of the disappointed English settlers is reported by the Jamaica Standard's reporter as a universal verdict of 'too soon,' in which he himself heartily concurred. The Daily News says that if a thousandth part of the tales narrated with heartiest applause by the Jamaica papers are true, then 'hell itself has broken loose in that wretched island. But the demons are not the blacks, who burst into the sudden fury of a single day, and never afterwards offered a remonstrance or a show of resistance.' It is said that fifty lives have been taken for every white person killed or wounded in the 'emete!'

A war of races is the only kind which is worse than a war for religion.

The National Intelligencer of Thursday says:

A delegation of prominent gentlemen belonging to the Society of Friends, representing thirteen different States, paid their respects to President Johnson, on Thursday last, and were received in a frank and cordial manner, the interview being of the most agreeable and satisfactory character. In the course of a free conversation upon the condition of the country, the President was assured by the delegation that they had not sought the interview for the purpose of suggesting, and much less dictating, a course of action in the existing emergency. On the contrary, they came to signify to him their admiration of character and confidence in his wisdom, and to assure him of their hearty support in the just and merciful policy which was guiding his administration.

FROM MEXICO.—The Times' Mexican correspondent says the liberal General Diaz is carrying all before him, and the whole State of Oajaca is in arms against the imperialists.

The liberals are masters of the whole coast between Vera Cruz and Tuxpan, also south of Vera Cruz. Foraging parties of Austrians have met several defeats.

Marshal Bazaine writes to Mejia that the Northern frontier is under the double protection of the Emperor of Mexico and Emperor of the French.

LIVERPOOL, December 15.—Sales of cotton for three days including Wednesday, 37,000 bales, of which 13,000 were taken by speculators and exporters. The market strong and tendency upwards. American cotton a half penny dearer since Friday. Flour active and unchanged. Corn flat, and in some instances lower. Pork quiet; no American stock on hand.

The message of President Johnson has been favorably received. It is regarded as friendly, and United States bonds improved after its reception.

The London Times says concerning the message, that the part referring to England ought to be received in a friendly spirit. The Telegraph observes that the document reflects the highest credit on its author, and furnishes the world satisfactory auguries of peace.

A beautiful tribute to the women of the South comes from the Nashville Banner:

Let the late war stand in history as it may; let it be damned as a hateful rebellion or unprovoked revolution; let it, as you think, be the corridors of time with the acclamations of the world, or with the anathemas of mankind, whatever it may be declared by a verdict of history, it will pass onward before the eyes of coming ages with many a glorious deed and many a noble martyr to illustrate its eventful scenes, but with nothing more glorious and beautiful to adorn it than the holy devotion of Southern women.

A passenger left thirteen thousand dollars in a sleeping car at Cleveland, and the money was found and restored to him by the colored porter. The loser, with remarkable liberality, took out a five dollar bill and presented it to the honest darkey, without asking for any change.

Hon. Thomas Corwin, Ex-Governor of Ohio, United States Senator in 1845, and Secretary of the Treasury under President Fillmore, died in Washington, D. C., on Monday afternoon last, from a paralytic stroke received the previous Friday evening. His death called forth unusual manifestations of personal regret.

A United States revenue officer the other day received the following "note": "To Mr. Adams. I have bin sellin chesnuts by the quart to sum of the nabors, an the boys says I shal be prosecuted if I dont have a license or get my chesnuts stamped onto. How much have I got to pay for sellin a fu chesnuts."

One of the Supreme Court Judges of Alabama is the Hon. Thomas J. Judge. It will thus be seen that they have a judge there who is a Judge sure enough. But when his friends call him "Judge," who is it to know whether they mean his title or his name?

LONDON, December 14.—The statement that Head Centre Stevens had arrived at Paris and is safe, is confirmed. O'Donnell convicted of Fenianism has been sentenced to penal servitude for life. The London "Observer" says that Napoleon is apprehensive that Maximilian will soon abdicate the Mexican throne.

Information has been received from the American emigrants in Brazil. They are chiefly Southerners and represented by Col. Wood. They have selected a site for a town near Raynou.

It is reported that France has given England six months notice to terminate the Extradition Treaty, because of the strict formalities required before French offenders are given up.

The Roman Catholic churches in Baltimore have just contributed over $151,000 for the benefit of the poor in the South.

WILL NEGOTIATE the Sale of Plantations, Lands and Tenements, when placed in their care. And on this subject we beg leave respectfully to say to our friends and the public, that as we were born and raised in the State, and engaged in business for thirty years, and having travelled extensively over the State, and well acquainted with the location, soil and climate, and feeling in the closest degree identified with you, we flatter ourselves that we can be of great advantage to those who wish to sell their lands or plantations. We are now in correspondence with friends who are natives of this State, but recently located in New York, which will give us additional facilities for finding the most desirable purchasers. We therefore offer our services to those who wish to dispose of their lands, &c.

To such we say, send us a plain written description of your property; the district in which it is located; whether North, South, East or West, and the distance from the county site; how watered and the character of the streams; number of acres, and how many cleared and in cultivation; and, as near as you can, the number of acres in bottom and upland; and your price per acre; with $25 to cover expense of advertising; and we will serve you to the best of our ability.

IN FACT, give their personal and undivided attention to every interest committed to their care.

H. L. J. & CO.

I most respectfully beg leave to return my sincere thanks to my friends and the public for their long and liberal patronage. I thank them. And now, as the late disastrous and fatal war is over, I am again established in this city; and (as it were) commencing anew; I therefore assure my friends and the public that my personal attention and energy shall be faithfully given to every interest committed to my care. Hence I most respectfully appeal to all my friends and the public, and solicit a share of patronage. Born and reared among you, and thirty years devoted to business under your own eye, is my reference.

My entire Stock was selected by myself with great care in New York, and is full and complete in every line. To accommodate my customers and prepare for an increasing trade I have enlarged my store double its original size where the present beautiful supply of goods can be seen to greater advantage. I will sell the above goods 72 1/2 per cent cheaper than any other house.
