Too many of our people are, we fear, and turnips. For their benefit, we re- development of the mind; and recognizing spectfully tender the following as the the fact that a college, not characterized by results of certain scientific investigations recently made, regardless of time and trouble, by the writer:

1st. That the trees next Spring probably will not bear a more bountiful supply of biscuits than heretofore. 2nd. That hogs will respectfully decline turnips as an article of diet-unless they are procurable, in which case they will be found a sovereign remedy against the cholera.

3d. That horses and mules will jus as willingly eat oats next Spring, as to gnaw their troughs and meditate on and human providence. 4th. That our cows are not going "to

That our hogs, the loss of an oc casional bouquet of turnips notwithstanding, will probably remain fat and happy, having at last discovered, after many long years of patient investigation, whilst thrown upon their own resources, that it is at least possible to live on pine roots, which are moreover healthy-in the absence of everything else-and, "providentially," too difficult to be dug and stored away by man. 6th. That our sheep and goats, which are highly jubilant over the possession of stomachs as kindly accommodating as that of an ostrich, may possibly survive the Winter and Spring by eking out an existence on such delectable tidbits as they may anywhere discover unappropriated by other animals, and fortunately overlooked by the provident eye of the owner. THE DIZZY BLONDES.—Thursday a strolling company came in unannounced Soon it began to be whispered that the celebrated "Dizzy Blondes" had come and would exhibit in the Town Hall at on Monday as the printers take holiday | night. Some who had read and heard of their performances in Charleston and Columbia were indignant, and said the Intendant ought not to allow it-inwardly hoping, however, that he would. When the hour for the performance arrived a crowd of boys rushed in; but not so with the older ones. They stood on the corner-waiting, watching, scheming. There were two or three dozens standing there—all by chance; one was going home from his store, another had come to the drill, others were "just walking about." Nobody J. M. Crawford and J. P. Hardy have intended to go. "No," said one, "'taint associated themselves together in the fit to be seen," and then walked off, dodged around the corner, and in he went. When the reporter entered he found every man there who didn't intend to go. There were old men whose teens, all crowded in a mass as near as possible to the stage, with eager eyes scarce are eggs. In short, the Faculty of Newberry College has at various times and by prominent and influential members of the Lutheran Church, been seriously charged with not having wrought miracles. A strange idea seems to prevail among a certain class, that when a man is elected to a professorship in an institution of learning, and especially in Newberry College, he is at once to saddle upon himself all sorts of labor, fit or unfit, while others, who should feel and take equal interest in the work stand by only to applaud or deride accord-

It has only undergone a new birth: All available and proper means should be employed to promote its growth. It is now with the people of Newberry. FOR THE HERALD. Our Washington Letter. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12, 1877. Yesterday was one of the few days since October 15th, that this Congress may justly be proud of. In the House there was a dignified debate upon the Mexican question. and members of both parties united in what must be considered a warning to the Administration against plunging the country into war. Your correspondent has not fail ed, from the first, to expose what he believed was a wicked as well as formidable on the train and scattered bills of a effort of certain powerful gangs of speculamysterious character around the streets. tors and adventurers to involve the two countries in hostilities. There was never more danger of the success of such a scheme than on vesterday, and it is to the infinite credit of Representatives Hewitt, Hale, Stephens, Garfield and others that they said and did what will certainly cause the Administration to halt if it was, as feared, about to take steps which could only end in war.

In the Senate, Mr. Eustis, of Louisiana, was admitted to his seat and not by a party

For the record of yesterday, so far as these facts go, the House and Senate are entitled to the thanks of the country. Senator Mathews spoke in favor of his resolution, which is to the effect that all debts of the United States may be paid in silver dollars of 4121 grains each. The speech of Mr. Mathews was an able one, but the most interesting portion of the debate was the unreserved manner in which Mr. Thurman advocated remonetization of sil-

Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court, was yesterday sworn in and took his seat. The ay Edmunds was beaten in this case is posed to confirmation, and it was thought if he was present when a vote was to be taspicuous in the matter, set the party machinery to work to cause a rejection. So the friends of Harlan called up the subject in Executive Session while Edmunds was taking a needed repose after the Butler-Kellogg contest, and confirmed their man. Then they made a motion to reconsider the vote of confirmation for the reason, as they said, that "Senator Edmunds, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee was absent." If Harlan had been rejected after that the responsibility would have been on Edmunds, and the result shows that he did not care to have the subject go to the country in that

An instructive statement of the cost of public printing in South Carolina for two years is made. One year was under carpetbag rule when Chamberlain, Patterson and the rest had the State by the throat, and the other is for the current year. The carpet-baggers took $250,000. The cost for this year is about $6,000. All your readers who live near State Capitals well know what qurrreling there always is over the few housand dollars annually expended, and how each party charged the other with extravagance in that line. What would the people of Maine, or Connecticut, or Michigan, or any other State of no larger population say to an annual printing bill of a quarter of a million. It is now understood that Mr. Morrison will be Chairman of the Committee on Pacific Railroads. Mr. Potter declined this Chairmanship on account of his business relations with those prominently interested in the Texas Pacific. All the bills so far presented giving subsidy to this latter road have previsions guarding Government interests more carefully than in previous subsidy bills. It remains to be seen whether Congress can be made to believe that there will be no risk in aiding the Road. Convinced of that, there would be no delay in adopting the bill of Mr. Stephens.
