THE CLOSING DAYS.

Before another copy of our journal is issued, a great political contest in this State will be ended.

Our duty and danger. None are so blind as those who will not see, and none so ignorant as those who will not understand.

Our illustrations around us of the prodigality of the present administration, the superfluity and State offices created, the high salaries of the appointment of trial justices in violation of the Constitution and the exorbitant fees under the code, the corruptions of the land commissioners, the oppressive taxes, and numberless other grievances, all speak the condemnation of Radical misrule.

These things are known and seen by the people, and in this rests the hopes and strength of the opposition. Whatever be the verdict of the people, the present contest cannot be fruitless of good.

It has unveiled and exposed to public view many of the hidden corruptions of the past two years, the corrections of which the radicals, if successful, cannot resist.

Even in defeat we will gain a partial victory through the moral influence of a powerful and growing though numerically inferior party.

Defeat, however, is by no means sure. Great changes appear to have taken place in the middle and lower counties, and we may well hope for the election of Governor and Lieutenant-Governor and a majority of the House of Representatives.

Let no one neglect to vote through fear or indifference, for in our judgment the issue nearly concerns every material interest in the State.

Attention is directed to the various now advertisements in this issue.

In New York, on the 10th instant, cotton was quoted at 16 1/2. Gold, 13 to 13 1/2.

Mr. R. M. HUBBARD sends to our office a stalk of cotton seven feet high, on which there are 106 bolls.

We are authorized to withdraw the names of Messrs. ALEX. ALLOD and W. C. HILLHOUSE as candidates for County Commissioners in Pickens County.

A Fair Statement.

We have noticed the statement of "CORSAIR," in the Charleston News, respecting the transactions of the Land Commissioner in our County, and the reply of the Columbia correspondent of the South Carolina Republican. While "CORSAIR" has in particulars been misinformed, the natural conclusion of speculation and extravagance is correct, and the correspondent of the Republican has taken advantage of an error in names to cover up a transaction more than creditable to the powers that be.

We subjoin a fair statement of the affair, as gathered from the records in the Clerk's office here, and from the Attorney of the original owner of the lands.

In March, 1869, KEESE & McCULLY, of Anderson, purchased of J. OVERTON LEWIS, three tracts of land in Oconee County: The Poor Mountain, 2,550 acres; the Steele tract, 192 acres; and the Owens tract, 1,045 acres; making a total of 3,787 acres, for the sum of twelve thousand dollars, the terms being twenty five hundred dollars cash, and the balance to be paid in equal annual installments.

In October, 1869, KEESE & McCULLY sold the three tracts above named to COCHRAN, HARRISON & SCOTT, for $8,500, being a little under two dollars and twenty five cents per acre, (upon similar terms, as we are informed.)

On the 9th of May, 1870, SCOTT & HARRISON, by deed, conveyed to JOHN R. COCHRAN their undivided two thirds of the "Owens Tract," 1,045 acres, for the stated consideration of four thousand dollars, and on the 13th day of May, 1870, JOHN R. COCHRAN conveys this tract to R. C. DELARGE, for the sum of six thousand two hundred and seventy dollars, "reserving however to myself, my heirs and assigns the right and title to five of the largest and best trees on each acre of the said tract of land, and the privilege of entering thereupon, cutting down and hauling off the said trees."

If the timber reserved by COCHRAN be rated at 40 cents a tree, it would add $2,000 to the price he obtained for the land, and by its loss to the land reduces the true value of the property to that extent. It thus appears the State paid really $8,270 for the Owens tract, 1,045 acres, which cost COCHRAN but $2.25 per acre.

In this little transaction the Poor Mountain, 2,550 acres, and the Steele tract, 192 acres, stand the parties at $230. The Owens tract has some very good land on it, and would perhaps bring three thousand dollars with the timber.

We give another little transaction: On the 13th day of December, 1869, J. J. NORTON and W. C. KEITH conveyed to JOHN R. COCHRAN two hundred and sixty-one acres of land in this county, for two hundred and sixty-one dollars.

On the 13th of May, 1870, JOHN R. COCHRAN conveyed the same land to R. C. DELARGE, for fifteen hundred and sixty-six dollars. KEITH and COCHRAN sold in 1869, 50 acres of it to a freedman, at one dollar per acre, giving to their agent 25 per cent. for selling and surveying. The land is not worth over one dollar, if so much, per acre.

One significant fact in these transactions is that the deeds in some instances do not recite the true consideration. In the deed from KEESE & McCULLY to COCHRAN, HARRISON & SCOTT, conveying the Owens tract, 1,045 acres, the consideration is set out to be ten thousand dollars. We are reliably informed that eight thousand five hundred dollars was the true consideration for the three tracts, purchased from KEESE & McCULLY, being 3,787 acres, including in this the said Owens tract.

Census of the City of Charleston. The report of the United States census taker represents the population of the city of Charleston for the present year as follows: Total number of dwellings, 6,705; total number of families, 8,656; total white males, 10,907; total white females, 11,801; total colored males, 10,798; total colored females, 14,865; total number of whites, 22,768; colored, 25,663; aggregate population of the city, 48,431.

It will be seen that the white males outnumber the colored males, though the excess of colored females makes the negro population greater than the white.

Glad Tidings. Tell it to every household that C. L. REID has just returned from New York, with a full supply of Dry Goods, comprising everything elegant, useful and fashionable, which he has purchased at the present reduced prices, and will sell at small profits.

Mr. REID needs no commendation at our hands, as he has established a reputation as a merchant, for taste and judgment, which ensure everyone purchasing from him that he is getting the very best article of the kind.

Premiums. In this number will be found the advertisement of Col. NORTON, offering one hundred dollars, in premiums, for the best two-acre lots of tobacco. Our readers will recollect that it is the intention of Col. NORTON to manufacture tobacco in our midst, and he very naturally is desirous of stimulating the production of tobacco. The premiums are liberal.

Tobacco is one of our most profitable crops, and much less expensive than cotton.

Seed Wheat. Dr. BELL hands us a specimen of seed wheat from North Carolina, known as the White or Bowden variety. The grain is white, large and plump. Dr. BELL has a few bushels for sale.

Frost and Ice. Within the past few days frost has been seen in the neighborhood. At Franklin, N. C. both frost and ice appeared.

The Worms that Never Die.

In temporal matters interest and taxes exert no small influence. There is nothing to which the public pulse is more sensitive than taxes, and no greater destroyer to private fortunes than interest. Both are necessities, the one to proper government, the other to individuals enterprise, and yet both should be guarded and kept within proper bounds.

While no government should limit taxes by arbitrary legislation, yet communities should see to it, that the appropriations of public monies should be made wisely and with a proper regard to economy. Neither should the value of money be confined by statutory regulation to a specific maximum, but each individual should be careful to borrow as seldom and as small amounts of money as possible.

They should remember, too, interest is a hard master, even crying, give, give, and never suffer it to accumulate for any length of time.

The Courier-Journal attributes the following novel expressions on interest to HENRY WARD BEECHER, which, whether entirely true or not, might well be recommended by every person:

No blister draws sharper than interest. Of all industries none is comparable to that of interest. It works all day, all night, in fair weather and foul. It has no sound in its footsteps, but travels fast. It gnaws at a man's substance with invisible teeth. It binds industry with its film, as a fly is bound in a spider's web. Debts rot a man over and over, binding him hand and foot, and letting him hang upon the fatal mesh until the long-legged interest devours him.

There is but one thing on a farm like it, and that is the Canada thistle, which swarms with new plants every time you break its roots, whose blossoms are prolific, and every flower the father of a million seeds. Every leaf is an awl, every branch a spear, and every plant like a platoon of bayonets, and a field of them like an armed host. The whole plant is a torment and a vegetable curse. And yet the farmer had better make his bed of Canada thistles than attempt to be at ease upon interest.

Southern Cultivator. For October received, containing another valuable article from Mr. Barnett on growth and distribution of cotton and corn roots, illustrated by three excellent cuts—an able article from Mr. Gift on increase of labor at the South—another of Dr. Clow's admirable series on manufacture of Sugar—a suggestive article on rust in cotton, with a great many others too numerous to mention.

For twenty eight years this admirably conducted and eminently prosperous magazine has labored vigorously for the improvement of Southern Agriculture, Horticulture &c., and we doubt not much of the progress visible of late years is due to its teachings. Whilst made up in large part of communications from practical and experienced farmers—there are several pages in each Number devoted to inquiries.

have doubts on chemical and botanical questions cleared up—one of the Editors being Professor of Agriculture &c., in the University of Georgia. Another department on diseases of animals and their treatment will be found exceedingly useful. The large number of its first class advertisements indicates a very large circulation, as advertisers rarely misjudge as to the best mediums for communicating with the public.

The present No. is printed with new and somewhat larger type, contains forty odd pages of reading matter and over fifty pages of advertisements. Subscription only $2.00. WM & W. L. JONES, Editors and Proprietors, Athens, Ga.

Disorganizers. The following from the Charleston Courier is to the point:

"OCONEE—PICKENS. It is perfectly astonishing to observe how many patriots there are in these two counties, who are anxious, to serve the State. In Oconee there are seven candidates for the office of County Commissioner, three for the Legislature, and two for School Commissioner, independent of the regular Regular ticket."

"In Pickens there are twelve patriots eager to be County Commissioners, aside from the regular nominees. To these gentlemen we have just a word to say. If the Reform ticket is defeated in those counties, (in both of which there are white majorities), the responsibility will rest with them. No true patriot would allow his name to be used in an election like the present, when it can only weaken the cause."

The War in Europe. Has become chiefly a war of sieges for the present, and progresses with that slowness and caution, which characterizes such undertakings. No great armies are anywhere opposed to each other in the open field and hence the war is of little interest.

The investment of Paris is reported to be complete, and the preparation for bombardment of the City will soon be finished. Metz still holds out. Predatory bands of Prussian cavalry are overrunning the country around Paris. The French are harassing the rear of the enemy, in a Guerrilla warfare. There are no prospects of an early peace.

We have received the second number of the Lexington Dispatch, published at Lexington C. H., by Mr. G. M. HARMON, at $2 a year. We wish Mr. HARMON great success in his enterprise.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. J. J. W. LUDEN, in which he offers for sale his entire household and kitchen furniture.

Jacob Miller, of Lost River, West Virginia, a leading citizen, had his brains blown out by the bursting of the cylinder of a thrashing machine, on Wednesday week.

Two Sisters of Mercy were found among the dead on the battle field of Spoheren.

Particulars of a terrible earthquake which occurred several weeks ago at Batang, on the confines of Tibet, China and Burmah, have reached England, after having traveled long in letters written by the missionaries stationed in that region. The whole town was leveled, and half the population killed or bruised. The "large and splendid" Lamasery, inhabited by 3,000 Lamas, fell with a crash. The Chinese official reports, which Dr. Chauveau tells us a little exaggerated, estimate the loss of human life at 413 Lama priests, 57 soldiers, and 2,812 "common people." This earthquake extended so far, in a series of shocks, as to block with debris the imperial highway from Peking to Lhasa. On that line, it is stated, a mountain was prostrated and a new one raised.

OBITUARY.

DIED, on the 17th of August, 1870, in Habersham County, Georgia, SALLIE J. JARRETT, daughter of the late Robert and Elizabeth Jarrett. On the 24th of the month of her death she completed her 20th year.

Her earthly pilgrimage was short and full of suffering. She never was of sound bodily condition, and in her years became extremely diseased, always in some degree of distress, and at times in excruciating pain. Though called to pass her earthly days in such tribulation, her lot was not an unhappy one, but blessed for beyond those of her young companions who have spent their days in worldly pleasure and forgetfulness of the Lord and their chief joy. A suffering allotment in this world does not necessarily lead the soul to seek and find the true joy, by seeking the renewal of the heart through Christ, and attaining the enjoyment of heavenly things.

Often it runs the soul into murmuring and rebellion against God, because deprived of its earthly idols, but the wise improvement and happy issue of a suffering lot depend upon a sovereign Lord, who can leave the sufferings of some to terminate in greater or wickedness as examples of human depravity, too deep to be changed by anything but special grace; or who can choose to lead others, by sufferings, to find that with the world and glory of which the sufferings of the Lord are as naught. We think we can say, with confidence and thankfulness to the God of all grace, who has mercy upon whom he will, that the beloved daughter, whose departure we now mourn, was one of this latter class. Deprived of the accustomed pleasures of youth by long sickness, she began several years ago to seek the Lord, if happily she might find him. After a long struggle, she felt that she could say: "I believe my sins are pardoned, my peace is with God, my heart is renewed, I love the Lord, and can find my pleasure in him and his service."

She showed her faith by her works. Her fortitude, her patience in suffering, her resignation to the will of God, her willingness to forego earthly pleasure for God, her calmness in going down the vale of death, her assurance of heaven, and readiness to depart, her excellent counsel to her brothers and sister to pray daily, read the word and try to meet her in heaven; her consoling word to a distressed mother, not to grieve for her as she would be better off. All confirm us in the belief that she is now a glorified spirit in heaven.
