SPARKS CIRCUS FIRST BIG SHOW To Reduce Prices for Children—To be at Seneca Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Realizing that circus day is one of the most important events in a child's life, Manager Chas. Sparks, of the Sparks Circus, which will exhibit in Seneca next Tuesday, Oct. 17th, announces a radical departure in prices that should prove most attractive to the youngsters.

Mr. Sparks writes: "Owing to the high cost of practically everything used by our circus, we are unable to present to reduce the price of adults' tickets, for which we charge the standard price of 75 cents.

That this important announcement will be popular with the kiddies goes without saying.

Greatly enlarged this season, and even more lavishly equipped than in former years, the Sparks circus is preceded to this section by most complimentary newspaper reviews from cities in which it has recently exhibited.

Several brand new features and many surprises are promised in the elaborate performances, which will commence at 2 and 8 p. m. circus day. The doors will be opened one hour earlier to allow the public ample time to visit the comprehensive menagerie.

gave illustrative chart lessons and statistics, and is quite an interesting talker, and genuinely earnest in the work.

After dinner a talk on "Religious Instruction in the Homes" and "Sabbath Observance," by Mrs. Burtis, of Spartanburg, was a delightful feature of the program.

Another earnest appeal by Mr. Koester in behalf of Sunday school work and a talk by Mr. Palmer closed the program.

The services of R. W. Grubbs, of Walhalla, as choir leader were much appreciated, and the music thrilled with life and melody.

Oldsmobile The Olds Motor Works

Has long promised us a car that we could sell for less than $1,000. Frankly, we didn't think that they could do it.

However, we have just been notified that on and after September 25th, the powerful roomy, economical and beautiful Model 43-A (four cylinder touring) will retail at $975.00 f. o. b. factory.

Think of it—quality "Four" at $975.00. And an "Eight" at $1375.00. Never in the long history of Oldsmobiles, has the slogan that Oldsmobile owners have adopted been more true—"The Most Car for the Money."

PARDON ALLEN AND EDWARDS,

Noted Participants in the Hillsville Court House Tragedy.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—Friel Allen and Sidna Edwards, youthful members of the Allen clan that, on March 14, 1912, shot up the court house at Hillsville, were en route to their mountain homes to-night "reformed young men and worthy of a new trial in life."

The executive reviewed the prison records of Sidna Edwards and Friel Allen, which, he said, "have been without a mark against them during the entire period of their confinement."

The pardons were given the two men shortly before noon, and as soon as they could take leave of their companions for ten years they started on their journey home.

The shooting in the court house at Hillsville followed the conviction of Floyd Allen on a charge of moonshining. The jury was still in the box when Judge Massie, after passing sentence of one year's imprisonment, ordered the sheriff to "take the prisoner in charge."

The shooting followed. Judge Massie was among the first to fall, and when the firing ceased the bodies of the commonwealth's attorney, the sheriff and Juror Foster were found near where the men had stood.

Miss Ayers was found among the spectators' seats so seriously wounded that she died next day. The prisoner, Floyd Allen, also was seriously wounded, but he recovered, only to pay the penalty of his crime six months later in the electric chair.

BOOST THE COUNTY FAIR. Big Picnic and Barbecue at Townville.

Texas "Dirt Farmer" is to speak of the weevil, on Saturday, Oct. 14, and there will be a big gathering of farmers from Anderson and Oconee counties, according to S. M. Byars, the Anderson county agent, and they will hear J. A. Evans, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, discuss the great and important subject of "Growing Cotton Under Boll Weevil Conditions."

Mr. Evans is schedules to talk at about 10 or 10.30 a. m. Saturday. Following this talk the people assembled will eat of their picnic dinners and the barbecue which is expected to be served. Afterwards other important talks relating to the changing of farm practices will be made. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Plow Under Stalks Now.

As soon as the cotton is picked from the fields the old cotton stalks should be immediately plowed under as soon as weather conditions permit.

The earlier the stalks are destroyed the better, for this gives the weevil a scarcity of food preceding the winter, so that he enters winter quarters in a semi-starved and weakened condition, and is more likely to die before cotton comes up in the spring, or before he can reproduce on the squares.

Plowing under is preferable because the soils need humus—decaying organic matter—more than they need anything in the world. Plowing across the rows at an angle of 45 degrees will help get them under, or a heavy chain attached from the single-tree to the plow will help.

Also, sow oats and vetch, rye and vetch and crimson clover. Boll weevils cannot live in a green field in winter.

Geo. R. Briggs, County Agent.

Black Made Grand Master K. of P.

Walterboro, Oct. 6.—D. B. Black has just received notice of his appointment as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of South Carolina. Mr. Black takes the place of E. D. Lemacks, deceased. The appointment came as a pleasant surprise to Mr. Black, as he was not in any sense an applicant for the position. Mr. Black has been an active member of Ashby Farrow Lodge for many years, having served it in almost every official position, including that of Chancellor Commander.

The Honea Reunion.

ENFORCING COTTON CONTRACTS

Injunction Restraining Member from Disposing of Cotton Individually.

Columbia, Oct. 10.—An injunction restraining John R. Pope, of Marlboro county, from disposing of any of his cotton except through the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association was served upon Mr. Pope at his home, some eight miles from Bennettsville, it was announced by officials of the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association.

The injunction was granted by Judge T. J. Mauldin in Columbia last Thursday on complaint filed by Douglas McKay, State counsel of the co-operative association, alleging that Mr. Pope had disposed of some cotton which he had contracted to sell through the association. The complaint alleged that Mr. Pope had sold his cotton at Cheraw. Mayor Josiah J. Evans, of Bennettsville, is associated with Mr. McKay in the case.

Officials of the association stated that Mr. Pope was the only member out of the over 11,000 members of the organization that they have been forced to bring legal proceedings against. Not another allegation of violation of the contract has been made, it was said.

Under the provisions of the special act passed at the 1921 session of the General Assembly any member of the association violating the contract is liable to a penalty of five cents a pound on all cotton sold outside of the association.

"The great majority of the farmers who signed the contract did so because of its binding features," said Harry C. Kaminor, president and general manager of the association. "There is a practically unanimous sentiment among our members that the association vigorously enforce the contract and that every provision of the special act passed by the General Assembly be taken advantage of in its enforcement. This we propose to do."

In Oklahoma cases were recently brought against several members for violation of the contract. One member has voluntarily paid the five cents a pound penalty, and all of them have been restrained from selling any cotton except through the association. Arkansas has reported one violation of the contract and Georgia one.

GEO. BRIGGS OPERATE NURSERY

Near City of Greenwood—Will Also Do Landscape Gardening.

(Greenwood Index-Journal, 5th.) George R. Briggs, formerly of this county and now county agent of Oconee, expects to open a nursery here on a large scale in the near future, and to do landscape gardening throughout the Piedmont section, he announced to-day. Mr. Briggs will establish his nursery on the forty-acre farm of his mother, Mrs. M. R. Briggs, on the Power House road, near the city limits. He expects to handle and grow all sorts of fruit trees and ornamental trees and plants.

Mr. Briggs graduated from Clemson College in 1915, after having taken the course in horticulture. He has studied for about six months with a noted English landscape gardener and for the past three years has been in the home demonstration work in Oconee county. Mr. Briggs was also employed by the Franklin-Davis nurseries of Maryland, and has had practical experience in nursery work. Before entering the army Mr. Briggs was for a time with the Greenwood Index. He is formerly from this county, and the fact that he is to establish a large nursery here will be learned with pleasure by his friends in this section.

Particular attention will be paid to landscape gardening, Mr. Briggs says. He has signed a contract for considerable work on the estate of Feaster I. Jones, of Starr, and expects to do other landscape planning in the Piedmont section.

SPARKS CIRCUS FIRST BIG SHOW

To Reduce Prices for Children—To be at Seneca Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Realizing that circus day is one of the most important events in a child's life, Manager Chas. Sparks, of the Sparks Circus, which will exhibit in Seneca next Tuesday, Oct. 17th, announces a radical departure in prices that should prove most attractive to the youngsters. At both performances there children under the age of 12 are to be admitted for thirty cents, including war tax.

Mr. Sparks writes: "Owing to the high cost of practically everything used by our circus, we are unable to present to reduce the price of adults' tickets, for which we charge the standard price of 75 cents. Knowing that the circus is primarily a children's entertainment, we gave the little ones first consideration when we felt that business conditions warranted a price reduction, and believe that a far greater number of children will now be able to attend the circus."

That this important announcement will be popular with the kiddies goes without saying.

Greatly enlarged this season, and even more lavishly equipped than in former years, the Sparks circus is preceded to this section by most complimentary newspaper reviews from cities in which it has recently exhibited.

Several brand new features and many surprises are promised in the elaborate performances, which will commence at 2 and 8 p. m. circus day. The doors will be opened one hour earlier to allow the public ample time to visit the comprehensive menagerie.
