

Waltham, S. C., July 28.—The State Alliance meeting has ended and the Alliance members have gone to their homes, carrying with them the best wishes of our citizens. The Alliance men had a pleasant time and are delighted with the outcome of the meeting.

Beyond doubt the following resolutions were the most important adopted at the meeting. They were drawn up by Mr. J. L. Keitt.

Whereas, the legislative demands of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union represent the highest development in the evolution of our order and are the essence of reform demanded by the people in their effort to overcome plutocratic domination and restore good government; and whereas, the only reasonable hope for relief to the farmers and laborers of our country resides in their uncompromising loyalty in support of these demands; therefore, be it resolved:

1st. That the Farmers' Alliance of South Carolina do hereby solemnly pledge its faith to the brethren of the United States, that our unequalled support shall be given to secure the enactment of these demands.

2d. For the purpose of faithfully carrying into effect the above resolution this body hereby notifies the Congressmen from this State, elected by the Alliance influence, that this order expects them to oppose the repeal of the Sherman silver act, unless the repealing bill embodies a substitute giving free and unlimited coinage of silver upon the basis of 16 to 1. Also they are expected to oppose the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on State banks.

3d. In order to further protect our demands and force them as an issue in the political campaign, the executive committee of this body hereby instructed to submit the latest legislative demands of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union to each candidate for a State office and request a written answer without ambiguity or equivocation upon the following questions:

1st. Will you disavow the Alliance demands in the coming campaign, particularly those relating to the finances of the country, and defend them against the enemies of our order?

2nd. Will you pledge loyalty to the demands of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union above loyalty to party caucus, and vote against any and all candidates who decline to commit themselves to this extent?

3d. That the executive committee of the District Alliance and County Alliance do hereby instruct to carry into effect resolution 3 with respect to all candidates for office within their respective jurisdictions.

4th. That the executive committee of this Alliance shall have printed the above questions and answers, and have copies transmitted to every subordinate Alliance in the State, and the District and County Alliances are advised and urged to adopt the same course.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be sent out by the secretary to each Alliance in the State.

Resolved by the South Carolina State Alliance in council assembled at Waltham, S. C., that we appreciate the services of Brother M. L. Donaldson as president of this Alliance.

We appreciate him for his wisdom in council, for his faithfulness to truth, for his energy in action and for his fidelity to his brethren.

While we no longer have the benefit of his leadership, we confidently expect valiant service from him in pressing forward to victory with the hosts of the Alliance, and we beg to assure them of our confidence in him as a brother battling for the final success of every true reform.

That we reaffirm our entire confidence in his integrity and faithfulness in the performance of every public trust reposed in him and wish for him a long and successful career.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

In this connection it is not improper to give some expression to our feeling of pleasure and profound gratitude at the magnificent achievements of the Reform movement through the Board of Trustees of the institution.

We found a princely domain dotted with commodious and handsome buildings, constructed after the most approved patterns and equipped with all the latest appliances for the instruction of the boys of the State.

We found a faculty of able instructors intently earnest in pressing forward to the noble work of training the youth of the State for practical and useful citizenship. Especially were we struck with the ample provisions for training in agricultural and mechanical arts, and the heartiness with which the 370 young men of the college have seized the opportunity of improving themselves on these lines.

We are impressed that this college is a worthy monument to the munificence of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Mr. Clemson, in the endowment of this institution, and an enduring testimonial to the wisdom, foresight and ability of the Board of Trustees.

The newly elected officers were installed by G. D. P. Duncan, the national secretary of the Supreme Council of the United States. Aiken was selected as the place for the next meeting of the State Alliance.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

In this connection it is not improper to give some expression to our feeling of pleasure and profound gratitude at the magnificent achievements of the Reform movement through the Board of Trustees of the institution.

We found a princely domain dotted with commodious and handsome buildings, constructed after the most approved patterns and equipped with all the latest appliances for the instruction of the boys of the State.

We found a faculty of able instructors intently earnest in pressing forward to the noble work of training the youth of the State for practical and useful citizenship. Especially were we struck with the ample provisions for training in agricultural and mechanical arts, and the heartiness with which the 370 young men of the college have seized the opportunity of improving themselves on these lines.

We are impressed that this college is a worthy monument to the munificence of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Mr. Clemson, in the endowment of this institution, and an enduring testimonial to the wisdom, foresight and ability of the Board of Trustees.

The newly elected officers were installed by G. D. P. Duncan, the national secretary of the Supreme Council of the United States. Aiken was selected as the place for the next meeting of the State Alliance.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

In this connection it is not improper to give some expression to our feeling of pleasure and profound gratitude at the magnificent achievements of the Reform movement through the Board of Trustees of the institution.

We found a princely domain dotted with commodious and handsome buildings, constructed after the most approved patterns and equipped with all the latest appliances for the instruction of the boys of the State.

We found a faculty of able instructors intently earnest in pressing forward to the noble work of training the youth of the State for practical and useful citizenship. Especially were we struck with the ample provisions for training in agricultural and mechanical arts, and the heartiness with which the 370 young men of the college have seized the opportunity of improving themselves on these lines.

We are impressed that this college is a worthy monument to the munificence of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Mr. Clemson, in the endowment of this institution, and an enduring testimonial to the wisdom, foresight and ability of the Board of Trustees.

The newly elected officers were installed by G. D. P. Duncan, the national secretary of the Supreme Council of the United States. Aiken was selected as the place for the next meeting of the State Alliance.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

In this connection it is not improper to give some expression to our feeling of pleasure and profound gratitude at the magnificent achievements of the Reform movement through the Board of Trustees of the institution.

We found a princely domain dotted with commodious and handsome buildings, constructed after the most approved patterns and equipped with all the latest appliances for the instruction of the boys of the State.

We found a faculty of able instructors intently earnest in pressing forward to the noble work of training the youth of the State for practical and useful citizenship. Especially were we struck with the ample provisions for training in agricultural and mechanical arts, and the heartiness with which the 370 young men of the college have seized the opportunity of improving themselves on these lines.

We are impressed that this college is a worthy monument to the munificence of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Mr. Clemson, in the endowment of this institution, and an enduring testimonial to the wisdom, foresight and ability of the Board of Trustees.

The newly elected officers were installed by G. D. P. Duncan, the national secretary of the Supreme Council of the United States. Aiken was selected as the place for the next meeting of the State Alliance.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

In this connection it is not improper to give some expression to our feeling of pleasure and profound gratitude at the magnificent achievements of the Reform movement through the Board of Trustees of the institution.

We found a princely domain dotted with commodious and handsome buildings, constructed after the most approved patterns and equipped with all the latest appliances for the instruction of the boys of the State.

We found a faculty of able instructors intently earnest in pressing forward to the noble work of training the youth of the State for practical and useful citizenship. Especially were we struck with the ample provisions for training in agricultural and mechanical arts, and the heartiness with which the 370 young men of the college have seized the opportunity of improving themselves on these lines.

We are impressed that this college is a worthy monument to the munificence of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late Mr. Clemson, in the endowment of this institution, and an enduring testimonial to the wisdom, foresight and ability of the Board of Trustees.

The newly elected officers were installed by G. D. P. Duncan, the national secretary of the Supreme Council of the United States. Aiken was selected as the place for the next meeting of the State Alliance.

Resolved, That the thanks of the South Carolina State Alliance be, and the same is hereby, tendered to the Board of Trustees of Clemson College for the cordial reception and handsome entertainment extended the members of this body during our visit to the institution on July 25.

Friday, August 4, 1903.

Subscription, $1.50 per annum.

Post Office Directory.

The P. O. will be opened for business from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

The Money Order Department will be opened for business from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mail going East will close promptly at 12.40 P. M.; going West 1 P. M.

The mail will be taken from the street box each day at 12.40 P. M.

Any intimation or irregularities should be reported promptly to the P. M.

R. W. HARRIS, P. M.

Rev. B. G. Clifford requests us to state that he expects to fill his church appointments regularly from this time on.

Mrs. Rodney, the female pedestrian, spoken of by our correspondent, "Old Joe," arrived at Chicago, July 31st, one day ahead of the time stipulated, and won the $5,000 prize.

T. D. Kline, a native of the city of Columbia, and a railroad man well known all over this and adjoining States, has been appointed general superintendent of the Georgia Central Railroad.

The new iron bridge across Tyger river, at Beaty's, is completed. It is a solid, well built, handsome structure, creditable alike to the business tact of the Board of Commissioners and the county itself.

Our young friend, Hayne Perry Smith, of West's Spring, will please accept our thanks for a bucket of as fine peaches as we have seen or tasted this year. Call on us when you come to town, Hayne, and we'll treat.

Correspondents must not be surprised at our curtailing their favors to only the local items of their neighborhoods. We have no room for long details unless of incidents in which the people at large are interested.

The lynching of the three negroes at Gaston, in Lexington county, last Monday, was a horrible affair, but not more horrible, in our opinion, than the crimes they had committed and for which they were made to suffer.

We fully agree with our esteemed contemporary, the Greenville News, in the following:

"For our part we are entirely willing that all the people of South Carolina should be regarded as sympathizing with the Gaston lynching. There should not have been tortures or unnecessary cruelties even to the ring-leader, because those things deprive the act of the dignity and decorum which should always mark the taking of human life. So far as the criminals are concerned we think few people will be sorry for them. They deserved all they suffered. Their crime was deliberate, brutal, merciless."

We publish in another column so much of the proceedings of the late meeting of the State Alliance as has been given to the public.

No doubt many are disappointed at the very conservative proceedings of that body, but we seriously distrust "bleeding" writers seriously disturb its harmony. But, from our outside standpoint, the cool, wise and patriotic course of the late President had much to do with preventing any dissensions and in restoring harmony and brotherly feeling among the members. It is evident to us that he thinks more of the good of the order than the advancement of his own interest or the gratification of his personal ambition. The unanimous passage of the resolutions endorsing his character as a man and as a member and officer of the order was a well-deserved compliment.

We fear, however, the passage of the resolutions demanding that candidates for State and county offices shall pledge their loyalty to the Alliance demands and to discuss these demands in the coming campaign, will not meet with unanimous and hearty endorsement from the members of the order, much less those outside of it. It is an arbitrary demand upon each man who dares to offer himself as a candidate, and we do not believe the majority of the independent voters and citizens of the State are willing to subject themselves or their favorite candidates to such narrow restrictions in their political views. They originated in an extreme corner of the Alliance, and will, no doubt, be considered too extreme to be prudent or wise.

There is no dispensary in this town, and we have not heard a whisper of suspicion that there was a "blind tiger" here. Sobriety and good order reign supreme in this beautiful town of Union.

A friend from the country last week told us that the good effects of closing the barrooms in Union was very apparent in his neighborhood. He says there is no running to town every few days by certain men, and going home "full," inside and out, and quarrelsome. Instead of that their crops are worked better, and everything at home and around them is moving along quietly and smoothly.

It is practical prohibition here, and it is a very happy state of affairs, which we sincerely hope neither a dispensary or "blind tigers" will interfere with.

We don't know that any State Dispensary detectives are nosing about here, watching for "blind tigers," but if there are, we hope they will do their duty.

Other towns are testing the dispensary law by voting for dispensaries to be located in them, but we would like to see its prohibitory features fairly tested in Union, by having no barrooms, no dispensary and no "blind tigers" in operation here.

We have no faith in the State law standing long under either the local dispensary or prohibitory provisions. We consider prohibition almost an impossibility, while we think the manner of conducting the local dispensaries will soon become so loose and flexible as to override the moral restrictions of the law and make them greater nuisances than ordinary barrooms, to the utter disgust of all decent people.

We are doing as well in Union, we think, without runshops of any kind, as other places with dispensaries, and if there is a tiger in town it is no more than in towns with dispensaries.

MISSISSIPPI. Misses Marie Clifford and Lillie Harris are visiting their schoolmate, Miss Josie Minter, at Laurens.

Mrs. W. G. Childs, after a very pleasant visit to her brother, Capt. Montrose Gibbs and other relatives here, and making many warm friends, left for her home in Columbia last Thursday.

Capt. C. C. Culp, W. E. Ray and W. W. Hughes got home safe and sound last Sunday, from the World's Fair, Washington, and as many other places as the stringency of the money market would permit.

Mr. R. F. Stokes, of Charlotte, spent two days with us this week. He says Charlotte is going ahead at fast bicycle speed, in the face of broken banks and general business depression in the West. He claims that a dollar will buy more in Charlotte at this time than for years back.

We were glad to shake the honest paw of our young friend, Dr. Ben. Frank Sims last Tuesday. Himself and wife are visiting their many old friends here. The Dr. is located at Seneca, on the Airline road, and we are pleased to learn is extracting a handsome living by pulling at the masticating apparatuses of the people of that flourishing town.

Mr. J. H. McKissick and wife left Tuesday for Clarksville, Texas, to visit relatives.

Miss Nora Nell, of Charlotte, has been visiting relatives here.

Messrs. Wm. Munro, I. G. McKissick and James Munro are attending court at Spartanburg, Judge Wallace is presiding.

Miss Blanche Moore has returned to her home in Spartanburg.

Miss Virginia Littlejohn, after a pleasant visit to friends and relatives here, returned to her home at Gowdeysville last Friday.

Thos. B. Butler has returned from a short rest in the mountains.

Misses Annie Briggs and Jennie Wilkins went to Paoclet last Wednesday, as delegates to the District I. O. G. T. meeting of Spartanburg District.

Jas. M. Farr has returned from the World's Fair.

Rev. B. G. Clifford has returned from a two days' trip in the lower counties of the State, and brings news of many new pupils to Clifford Seminary next term.

Mr. John T. Rose, our efficient town marshal, has gone on a short visit to Monroe, N. C.

Col. I. G. McKissick has returned from Spartanburg, where he went to defend Henry Gist for murder. The Colonel acquitted his man, as he usually does.

Misses Nellie and Lou Purcell, of Augusta, Ga., are visiting the family of their brother, Mr. John J. Purcell.

Mr. Willie Wilkins, of Raleigh, N. C., is on a visit to his parents.

Local Laocoms.

Work on the armory and club room is progressing nicely under Contractor W. B. Coater's management. In a short while Union will have a splendid dancing hall and a first class military company.

The first story of Union's first factory has been completed and the boiler room will be pushed this week. Respected citizens, and it will not be long before the hum of the spindles will be heard.

The Union Oil and Manufacturing Company has made some improvements and additions to its building, and under President Thomson's management the company has declared a handsome dividend. No stock for sale.

U. S. Commissioner Butler goes to the U. S. Courts on next Monday. He has sent up fifteen violations of the revenue laws.

Mr. J. D. Arthur's neat dwelling has been completed, and it's a beauty, but he find it too small.

Having been disappointed in getting a location, I will do photo work and engraving. My prices are as follows: 100 photos for $1.00; 200 for $1.50; 300 for $2.00; 400 for $2.50; 500 for $3.00; 600 for $3.50; 700 for $4.00; 800 for $4.50; 900 for $5.00; 1000 for $5.50. If you want work done early, for as soon as I find a location I will hand and deliver what work I have on hand and leave.

My work is too well known to need advertisement. The first week of the month will do well to come early.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]
To the Voters of Union County.
JONESVILLE, S. C., July 29, 1893.

MA. EDITOR:—I desire to say to the citizens of Union county through your paper that I regret my inability to canvass the county. I am satisfied that they will look at this matter sensibly and not think that I would not enjoy a visit round the county to see my friends and neighbors. It is well known to the people of the county that I have no time to lose in solving the greatest, the most important and most difficult problem to me that I have ever encountered; that is, how shall we meet the storm that is crushing banks, bankrupting merchants, turning the farmer into the streets and roads, threatening to drag the laborer to the edge of starvation and the landowners making millions of their lands through the sheriff to millions, who have been enthroned on all places of power and are gutting the country of its wealth. I am striving to make a living for myself and family by honest toil.

My countrymen, there are gloomy days ahead. Will you act in time to avert the ballot box and in thought and sentiment the small business men of the country must take part. Learn why panics occur, why trade is depressed and men and women dependent. The trusts are eating us up; we have had the warning and let us act.

In the wind up I cannot help saying in the way of suggestions, to watch the dark secret canons that are liable to take place that your own judgment suggests; vote for men that you think will stand firmly on principle and not policy. As to myself, I say, you all know me. I am sorry that I cannot, on account of my work, go round and see the people. If you elect me to the legislature I promise to look after the interests of the people with all the energy and ability that I can command, by filling the offices of the country with men that will stick to and advance the reform cause at the ballot box and in the office, in a way that will secure to the people a restoration of their rights, that they may have a voice in the structure of our government.

GODFREY B. FOWLER.

For the Times.
MISS EDITOR:—A writer in the Columbia Register of July 28, in alluding to Adjutant General Farley's arraignment of Senator Irby says: "Let Senator Irby take no notice whatever of such attacks."

That may be comforting advice to Senator Irby, but should his constituents complacently sit down and allow the grave charges against their representative in the Senate of the Nation to pass unanalyzed, and without a thorough and honest investigation? No doubt thousands are very well satisfied with the Senator's explanation, but it is well known that thousands are not at all satisfied with it. And that dissatisfaction is as pronounced among Senator Irby's partisan followers as his opponents. "Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire," and the people of all and every political faith, complexion and organization, cannot and will not again endorse the humiliating and always utterance of many independent men in the Reform ranks in 1890 and '92, that they would "vote for a certain man, if they caught him with a stolen sheep on his back." Such blind party following not only encourages dishonesty in the officials we elect, but invites the most unscrupulous honey-tongued political rascals into our ranks to seek and obtain office under the banner and shout of reform. I believe we can and do, in that way, make honest and conscientious officials politically corrupt and to downright dishonest. If time and developments in this State do not bear me out in this, I shall be most agreeably disappointed.

"I am a man free born, of lawful age, and under the tongue of good report," but I am not inflexible; nor do I think any other man is. I believe the most unscrupulous honey-tongued political rascals into our ranks to seek and obtain office under the banner and shout of reform. I believe we can and do, in that way, make honest and conscientious officials politically corrupt and to downright dishonest. If time and developments in this State do not bear me out in this, I shall be most agreeably disappointed.

It is well known to those of us who participated in the reform movement of 1890 that L. Irby put himself in a high position he not occupies by admit manipulation of men and means. However he may have reformed under the reform movement inaugurated by B. R. Tillman and G. W. Shell, there was not enough reform in his previous character to entitle him to the full and implicit confidence of the reform party of the State now, and I don't think a good investigation of his acts and doings will hurt the party. If the charges prove to be false Senator Irby will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted, if it will purify itself by casting out the guilty ones.

But the Senator has the "inside track"—he's a member of the Alliance and Farley is not. He will be a great gain, in every respect, and his accusers will be ruined politically and forever other respect; and the investigation chips fall where they may the reform party will be benefitted,