ORANGEBURG S. C.,
Feb. 13th 1875.

The Annual meeting of the Orangeburg Agricultural and Mechanical Association was held this morning at the Fair Building.

The meeting was organized by calling Dr. T. A. Elliott to the chair, and Mr. J. W. Patrick was requested to act as Secretary. A majority of the stock being represented the chair announced a quorum present, and the meeting ready for business.

Dr. W. F. Barton, President of the Association being absent, Mr. S. Dibble from the Board of Directors submitted the Annual report of the Board, viz: To the Stockholders of the ORANGEBURG AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL ASSOCIATION;

The Board of Directors respectfully submit the following report:

The Board congratulates the Stockholders upon the improved condition of the Association. A comparison of the statement of the Treasurer, this year with last year's statement, shows that the finances are in better condition than at the last meeting. The Annual Fair of 1874, notwithstanding it was held during the pendency of the general election realized a profit of $239 84. The grounds of the Association are in process of improvement, trees have been planted, some fencing has been built, and arrangements have been entered into for the cultivation of such parts of the ground as can be rented for that purpose, and the various special resources for income have been utilized, so as to make the property pay as much as possible.

In addition to the profits of the last Annual Fair, we had on hand, at its close, premiums enough for a Floral Fair this spring, but they were unfortunately destroyed in the store lately occupied by the Treasurer, in the conflagration of January 5th 1875.

The Board of Directors, consider that ample opportunity has been furnished to all who desired to take stock in the Association to do so; and they recommend, that the stockholders, by resolution, express their opinion on this matter, and if the wish of the stockholders is in accordance with the views of the Directors, the Board which will be this day elected, can then take the proper constitutional steps to fix the stock at the number of shares thought proper by the Stockholders. All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. G. WANNAMAKER,
S. DIBBLE,
L. R. BECKWITH,
M. J. KELLER,
Board of Directors.

The Treasurer's report was then submitted and on motion both were received as information.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:
Resolved, That ample opportunity has been afforded to all who may desire stock of the Association, (now standing at a maximum of 300 shares, of which 208 have been taken) and it is the opinion of the stockholders that the Board should take steps to have a meeting of the stockholders to fix the stock at 225 shares.

The election of Directors being next in order, Col. P. S. Felder moved that the same Board be continued for the ensuing year. Mr. J. G. Wannamaker having declined re-election, Mr. H. Riggs was nominated to fill the vacancy, and Col. Felder's motion was then unanimously carried. The following gentlemen compose the Board, viz: Messrs W. F. Barton, F. H. W. Briggmann, M. J. Keller, S. Dibble, L. R. Beckwith, O. B. Riley, and H. Riggs.

The following resolution was adopted:
Resolved, That we deem it the duty of every stockholder to exhibit something at our Fairs, and should actively use their influence with neighbors and friends to contribute both by exhibiting articles, and their personal attendance at the Fair.

The following resolutions were also adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary have the proceedings of this meeting published in the County papers that will do it free of charge.

No other business, on motion the meeting adjourned, and by invitation partook of a lunch provided by Dr. W. F. Barton.

J. W. PATRICK,
Secretary.
The Board of Directors met after the adjournment of the Association, and re-elected Dr. W. F. Barton President.
KIRK ROBINSON,
Secretary and Treasurer.

Law-Making in Hawaii.

In Hawaii the Legislature, composed of a House of Nobles and a House of Representatives, makes the laws, but if their Acts are not approved by the King, they have no effect. The nobles are made by the King, and the representatives are elected by the people. In order to be a voter, one must have a certain income and be of good standing in the community; and where women possess these requirements, they have the privilege of voting. Out of the eleven representatives, five are women. Any man who drinks or swears cannot sit on a jury. There are no beggars, every man and woman who is able being compelled to work, and the Government gives employment to those who have none. The two predominant religions are the Catholic and Congregational. It is customary for young women to "pop the question" to young men. Crimes involving social virtue and purity are punished by heavy fines, and Sabbath breaking and swearing by small fines. If a woman's husband absents himself from her four years she can marry again, and the code of laws has this provision: "If two married persons do not live happily together, but quarrel, and become famous for the same, they shall be confined in irons each night separately in the same cell until they cease quarreling."

A Burst of Eloquence.

Western eloquence continues still to improve. A Wisconsin reporter sends us the following sketch. A lawyer in Milwaukee was defending a handsome young woman accused of stealing from a large unoccupied building in the night time, and thus he spoke in conclusion: "Gentlemen of the jury, I am done. When I gaze with enraptured eyes on the matchless beauty of this peerless virgin, on whose resplendent charms suspicion never dared to breathe; when I behold her radiant in the glorious bloom of lustrous loveliness which angelic sweetness might envy but could not eclipse; before which the star on the brow of the night grows pale, and the diamonds of Brazil are dim; and then reflect upon the utter madness and folly of supposing that so much beauty would expose itself to the terrors of an empty building in the cold, damp death of the night, when innocence like hers is hiding itself among the snowy pillows of repose; gentlemen of the jury, my feelings are too overpowering for expression, and I throw her into your arms for protection against this foul charge, which the outrageous malice of a disappointed scoundrel has invented to blast the fair name of this lovely maiden, whose smiles shall be the reward of the verdict which I know you will give." She was acquitted instantaneously.

Sheepskin Mats.

To make sheepskin mats wash, while fresh in strong soapsuds, first picking from the wool all the dirt that will come out. A little kerosene, a tablespoonful to the gallon of water, will aid in removing the impurities. Continue to wash the skin in fresh suds till it is white and clean. Then dissolve a half a pound each of salt and alum in three pints of boiling water, put it into water cover the skin, which should be soaked into the solution twelve hours, and then be hung on a line to drain. When nearly dry, nail it wool side in on a board, or the side of a barn to dry. Rub into the skin an ounce each of pulverized alum and saltpetre; and if the skin is large double the quantity. Rub for an hour or two. Fold the skin sides together, and hang the mat away for three days, rub till perfectly dry, knife clear the skin it with pumice of into shape, and that will last a

Scenes

Just at the office Carpenter's business. He had no Robinsou had. He called on for liquor, called drunk enough, he called for lice came he explained, winking. "John Robin this is a very Court; 'a word aches to one that the grim on every door stones in the ber the trees wailing in every son; there's gr yet you claim a little fun." "That's all, y day." "It was While all the off and mal solves, you an alley dead or sixty days before a Chic make it sentenc "T as can tell you why he was drunk. "Well?" "Casey wasn't sober," exclaimed the old janitor. His Honor regarded him for a long time without speaking, but finally said: "The prisoner can go, and, Bijah, if you ever sit down on this Court with another pun like that, and are accidentally shot next day, your friends must ask me for any money to help buy a monument."

Catching Turtles.

A South American traveller tells how the Conibos capture turtles, which are an important article of diet with them. In the night the turtles come out of the rivers in large numbers to lay their eggs. The Conibos, squatting, or kneeling under their leafy sheds, and keeping profound silence, await the moment for action. The turtles, who separate themselves into detachments on leaving the water, dig rapidly with their fore feet a trench often two hundred yards long, and always four feet broad by two deep. They apply themselves to their work with such zeal that sand flies about them envelop them as in a fog. As soon as they are satisfied that their trench is large enough they deposit in it their soft-shelled eggs to the number of from forty to seventy, and with their hind feet quickly fill up the trench. In this contest of padding feet more than one turtle, tumbled over by his companions, rolls into the trench and is buried alive. Half an hour is enough for the accomplishment of this task. The turtles then make a disorderly rush for the river. Now the moment has arrived for which the Conibos have anxiously waited. At a given signal the whole band silently rise from their lurking places and dash off in pursuit of the amphibian, not to cut of their retreat—for they would themselves be trampled under foot by the residual squadrons—but to rush upon their flanks, seize them by their tails, and throw them on their backs. Before the turtles have disappeared, a thousand prisoners often remain in the hands of the assailants. The only case in which a girl got the mitten from her lover is reported in Terre Haute. But she married him in spite of it. It is the case of Eve M. Slaughter, who married Joseph W. Mitten. Of course she pulled him on.
