Sales of Tobacco.

ROCK HILL, S. C., Nov. 12, 1875.
To the Ed. News and Courier:
Please let the public know through your valuable paper whether it is right and legal to sell tobacco by the box (in other words an unbroken package), and cigars the same, by the box? Several parties are desirous of knowing the law on this subject. We all have $5 licenses, and the question arises whether we can sell by the box; also, can farmers sell to hands without license? Your prompt notice of this will give a great deal of satisfaction, in this part of the State any way.
Yours, truly,
R. T. Max.

ANSWER.

Any person or firm who has paid a special tax, or license, as a dealer in manufactured tobacco, is authorized to sell tobacco, snuff or cigars in any quantity, no difference being made between wholesale and retail. The package must be marked, branded and stamped as required by law, and when the goods are retailed they must be kept in the stamped package until a sale is made. The law defines a dealer in tobacco to be: "Every person whose business it is to sell, or offer for sale, manufactured tobacco, snuff and cigars; and, in case of farmers, the department has decided that when they make it a business to keep tobacco for sale to their workmen, or to issue as rations, receiving pay therefor, either in labor, in produce, or in any other manner, they become liable as dealers. The law also makes it the imperative duty of every such dealer to destroy the package and stamp as soon as it is emptied. This information is given us by Collector Ransier.

THE THIRD TERM MOVEMENT.

The fact that Forney's Sunday Chronicle, the Sunday National Intelligencer, and Col. Fitzgerald's Philadelphia Sunday City Items all came out on Sunday last in favor of the third term is looked upon by some of the quidnuncs as indicating the formal breaking of ground in that movement. Quite likely, however, the three papers opened voices to gather on the same not by accident. The Washington special of the Cincinnati Commercial, however, professes to have a "solid foundation for the statement" that the demonstration means business. He says in this connection that "there are ten open and avowed advocates of the project to be met with now, where there was one prior to the elections. Many Republicans apparently accept the result as indisputably establishing the fact that the party cannot be successful next year if Grant is not their candidate for President, among those who are most positive in this belief is General Grant himself."
Washington Star.

A PROPOSITION.

A writer in the Christian Intelligencer agrees to pay all the bills to support the home and foreign missionaries, with a magnificent remainder, out of the waste in tobacco used by professing Christians, and proposes that the whole of this waste be "a magnificent offering to the Lord."

THE NEW ORLEANS PLEA.

The New Orleans Plea says: "The truth is, that the people will always add to or subtract from a measure, the moral weight of the men who propose it. In other words, they must have confidence in the law-makers before they will yield respect and obedience to the laws made."
A woman who weighs seven hundred and fifty pounds, is wintering in Chicago.

No Difference to Him.—Going up a Detroit street, a man saw a boy about eleven years of age seated on the sidewalk, bareheaded, in the full blaze of the scorching sun.
"Bub, you ought not to sit there," said the man.
"Why?"
"Because you'll get all tanned up."
"Makes no difference to me whether I sit in the sun or in the shade," sadly answered the boy, "mother tans me up three or four times a day anyhow."

The sum awarded by the English courts for personal injuries on rail roads during the year ending June last, amounted to $1,600,000, and for loss and damage to goods in transit, $1,310,000, a total of more than two and a half millions of dollars, nearly one-half the average dividend. The largest sums paid on both considerations were by the London and Northwestern, $760,340. The Great Eastern paid nearly $200,000 as a butcher's bill, but only about $40,000 for goods. One line alone, the Maryport and Carlisle, which is probably a mineral railway, had nothing to pay for killing and maiming, and the metropolitan district shows a similar blank, for a similar reason, as to goods, although the return does not include those losses which pass through the cloak room. The two underground lines paid between $45,000 and $50,000 as compensation for personal injuries, although their liabilities are restricted by a remarkable provision in their acts to $500 in the case of third class passengers.

In Le Lawful—"Justice," writing to the Marion S. C. Merchant and Farmer, cites an instance of the marriage, at Mars' Bluff, of an elderly gentleman to his own niece, the daughter of his sister, and asks whether it be lawful &c. The Merchant & Farmer replies to its correspondent by quoting the State statute on this point which includes this very relationship in its prohibition of marriages, and depicts the lack of morality, evinced in the transaction, both on the part of the contracting persons and the minister who officiated at the ceremony.
