

THE YORKVILLE ENQUIRER.

The Yorkville Enquirer.
YORKVILLE, S. C.
THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 2, 1862.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY.
By Messrs. J. A. Adams, Post-Masters at Charleston, S. C., and authorized agents, and fully empowered to receive money for the office, and give receipts for the same.
In cases where subscribers do not take the Enquirer from the post-office, Post-Masters are requested to notify immediately.
Subscribers desiring their papers changed must mention the Post-Office, as well as the one to which they desire the change to be made.

TO OLD SUBSCRIBERS.
This week's paper is sent to all subscribers, with the hope that many may continue; if, however, they wish their paper discontinued, for the time paid for, they will have the kindness to notify the Post-Master, and request him to return it. We know well, the hardness of the times, and will not force the paper where it is not wanted. To those who continue, we will use our best endeavors to give satisfaction.

TO OUR PATRONS.
Persons who are desirous of continuing their patronage to the ENQUIRER, are respectfully informed, that under the present circumstances, we shall be unable to offer any premiums, for the coming year. We return our sincere thanks for their many favors, and hope for a continuance. Friends disposed to support the paper, can form Clubs on the same terms as heretofore offered.

TO CLUB SUBSCRIBERS, &c.
We are desirous to continue all of our old subscribers, and as many new ones as we may think proper to come to our aid—taking the paper as it now is. The high price for paper, ink &c, compels us to continue the present size, and those who may continue, need expect nothing more till the "hard times" change for the better.

Subscribers who are not willing to patronize the ENQUIRER on its present terms, will be pleased to inform us, as we are determined not to force it on any one.

PUBLISHER.
Special attention is called to the advertisement of Lieut. Col. John L. Black, formerly of York District. See it in another column.

AN ARREST.
The Vigilance Committee of this place, a few days since arrested E. E. McCaffrey, (a Northern man) who was heretofore in the employ of Mr. E. M. Kirkpatrick, Jeweler and Silversmith.

It appears, from what we could understand, McCaffrey has been in the habit of using language which was not compatible with Southern interests. He was accordingly lodged in Jail for safe keeping.

VOLUNTEERS FROM YORK.
Two Companies left our District this week for the Camp of Instruction. York is determined to have a showing in the picture.

Capt. Campbell, with his Company left on Tuesday morning, and Captain Glenn, on Wednesday morning. We regret very much we were unable to procure a roll of their companies. There are other companies which have previously gone, and we have not as yet received rolls of their companies. We will with pleasure, publish them if furnished.

The following well-timed article, which we copy from the Wilmington Register, is applicable to every paper in this State. "We," which were compelled to pay double price for paper to print on. We need not, "but it is not using taking."

YORKVILLE ENQUIRER
To Unreasonable Subscribers,
A very few subscribers have stopped their paper in consequence, as they allege, of its having been reduced to a half sheet. The pressure of the times, and the inevitable necessity of using economy are sufficient arguments to sustain that reduction. These causes have suspended scores of papers, and reduced the size of all.

However we go in for fair play, and demand these same unreasonable subscribers just what they require of us. Bring in your paper and let us have it at 6 cents net, and any other necessities you have to sell, at the prices which ruled before the present stringency in the money market, and we will take your whole plantation of trade.

But for consistency's sake don't require us to give you for one pound of pork this year, what would have bought two pounds last year, and then grumble and turn your back upon us because we give you nearly as much reading in the Enquirer now as we did last year, only give a half sheet instead of a whole one.

So come dance up to the music now, and give us as much meat on a half a hog as you used to do on a whole hog.

Fair play is the twin sister of Consistency.

For the Yorkville Enquirer.
Messrs. Editors—Amongst the liberal donations for the benefit of our suffering soldiers, I would most gratefully acknowledge six pair of socks from Mrs. J. C. Miller, 1 blanket and 2 pair of socks from Mrs. Margaret Watson, 2 blankets from Mrs. Margaret Heery, a package of red pepper, 1 pair of pillow cases, 1 towel, 1 pair of drawers, a shirt and a comfort, from Miss Margaret Enloe; and a beautiful china cup from little Sallie Adams, which I presented to the McPhersonville Hospital in the best terms I could command. I would also acknowledge a coop of 30 chickens from the good people of Allison Creek, through the kindness of Lieut. Saml. Campbell.

Corn meal, galls, flour and good corn wheats are very much needed in all the hospitals.

Any contributions of these articles may be sent to Messrs. Carrol, Clark & Co., who will forward to us next week.

Tribute of Respect.
At a meeting of the Catawba Light Infantry Company, in Camp near Centerville, Virginia, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas we have learned with much sorrow of the death of our fellow soldier and comrade in arms, W. J. Adkins, who died in the Hospital at Charlottesville, on the 25th of November last, of Typhus fever. And while we lament his untimely death, and while we are struck with the mystery of Providence in removing him. Nevertheless knowing that God wills and does all things wisely, we submit willingly with all reverence to His holy will.

Resolved, That in the death of W. J. Adkins, the Catawba's have lost an esteemed member, the Confederacy a zealous and patriotic soldier, and the Church militant, an exemplary and devoted Christian.

Resolved, That we tender to the widow and family of brother W. J. Adkins, our warmest sympathies, possessing the greatest assurance, however, that their loss and our loss, will be his everlasting gain.

Resolved, That two copies of these resolutions be forwarded, one to the Mother of the deceased and the other to the YORKVILLE ENQUIRER for publication.

Camp Notes.
Since my last note the Tennesseans, of Brigadier General Donelson's command, have been arriving at Coosawatchie and falling into line of defence columns in the vicinity of Pocotaligo.

The military districts in the coast defense, between Savannah and Charleston, are now four, under brigadiers in the following order: Drayton, Pemberton, Evans and Ripley.

The most important points of the district of Brigadier General Drayton are Bluffton and Dawfish. At the former, it is reported the enemy have been shelling a day or two now; but definite information has not yet reached this place, though we heard a great deal of heavy firing in that direction on the 20th and 21st.

The localities in Brigadier General Pemberton's district rendered interesting by the operations of the enemy, are Hilton Head, Beaufort, Huguenin's Neck, Mackays Point, Pargo's Point, Port Royal Ferry, Combahee Ferry, Tar Bluff, the Chebaw, and the Ashepoo River generally. His headquarters is Pocotaligo.

The centres of interest in Brig. Gen. Evans' district, are Edisto, Wadmalaw, and John's Islands.

Brigadier General Ripley looks to the more immediate defences of Charleston.—Since the enemy have already sunk fifteen oil vessels in the entrance of that harbor, it seems unlikely that they intend to attack the city, in the war direction at least.

Since my last, the only change in the locality of forces then mentioned is that of the 13th Regiment (Col. Edwards) from Pocotaligo to the immediate vicinity of Ashepoo Ferry, on the Colleton side. The address of this regiment now is Green Pond, S. C.

their huge work of crushing the life out of South Carolina is drawing closely to its disastrous and ignominious close. God grant them an armada triumph, a Moscow retreat, and a Grecian return to their homes. D. Combahee Ferry, December 23, 1861.

From the Coast.
The Charleston Courier of the 27th ult. says: Our community were somewhat startled Thursday afternoon by the successive discharge and unusually loud reports of several very heavy guns. The firing seemed to be in the direction of Stono Inlet, which led to an impression of an engagement between our batteries and the enemy at that place, or at some point on Wadmalaw or John's Island.

A gentleman who left James' Island at half-past four, and arrived in the city at seven o'clock, last evening, reports that the heavy firing was caused by the enemy, who made a demonstration and exchanged a few shots with our battery on Cole's Island, with a view, as it was supposed, of testing the range of our guns.

The attack was commenced by the enemy with one gunboat and two barges, about a quarter to three o'clock, and had ceased when our informant left. No damage was done to our side, the shots all falling short. Whether the enemy sustained any injury is not known.

Dispatches were also received in the city yesterday afternoon, stating that a fleet of twelve gunboats had passed up North Edisto Inlet as far as White Point, and had made a demonstration on our forces under the command of Gen. Evans. The latter had telegraphed for reinforcements, which were immediately ordered to him both from Gen. Lee and Gen. Ripley.

A light on that point is imminent, as it is thought the enemy's intention was to get possession of the railroad about eight miles distant.

Passengers by the Savannah Road Thursday afternoon report the enemy was having attempted a landing Wednesday night at Hudson's Landing, Red Bluff and Mar's Bluff, under cover of their gunboats. Our pickets at Hudson's Landing were reported to have been driven in and the enemy landed a force of about 250 men.

A detachment of the North Carolina Artillery, and Col. DeSaussure's Regiment, had been ordered to reinforce our troops in that direction.

We also learn from passengers by the Savannah road of the crippling of another of the enemy's gunboats Wednesday afternoon. A detachment of Capt. Moore's North Carolina Artillery, under command of Lieut. Baker, fired on one of these roving craft at Buckingham Point with good effect, and inflicting serious damage to the vessel. The wheel house was knocked away and the splinters were seen to fly in every direction. The vessel afterwards drifted with the tide towards the Hilton Head shore, and is now lying up high and dry, completely disabled. After running on shore, those on board set up rockets as a signal of distress. The saucy craft returned our fire for a time, but without doing any damage.

LATER—Since writing the above we learn that the first steamer that drew off returned at a late hour in the evening, in company with four others, and anchored immediately opposite Cole's Island. It is supposed that an attack is intended this morning.

The Mercury says that passengers by the Savannah train, yesterday, report that the enemy have made an advance towards Red Bluff, driving in our pickets. Perhaps this is the grand simultaneous movement of the Yankees, for which we have been so often warned to get ready.

The Savannah News has the following in relation to the enemy's movements at Tybee: On Monday afternoon, while our little Mosquito fleet was lying near Skidway Battery, three of the enemy's gunboats were in their appearance in Warsaw Sound. Our vessels attacked them, and a brisk firing was kept up for some time on both sides, but without injury to either, so far as is known.

About nine o'clock in the morning, previous to the appearance of the enemy's vessels, the commodore's barge, with Midshipmen Edward C. Anderson, Jr., and Lee Moses, Pilot John H. Craig, and Mr. Joe Low and eight seamen, left the steamer Savannah, to reconnoiter in the neighborhood of Warsaw. As they had not been heard of yesterday afternoon, it is feared that they have been captured by the enemy, whose vessels appeared in the sound after they had left the Savannah.

On Monday afternoon, the Petersburg Express publishes the report of passengers from Norfolk announcing the arrival of another steamer from Europe. A flag of truce reached Norfolk to-day.

The steamer Persia had arrived at Cape Raze, bringing Liverpool dates to the 16th ult.

Prince Albert died suddenly on the 15th ult., of Gastric fever.

The British Merchant Marine have been warned by Government that a war with the United States is imminent.

Warlike preparations continue in England. English ship owners have instructed their agents in this country to order home immediately all British bottoms. There is said to be no sympathy whatever in France for the United States. If a war with England occurs, France, it is said, will certainly side with England.

The Persia and Australasian passed Cape Raze loaded with troops for Canada. General Scott has returned to New York in the steamer Arago.

FROM THE COAST.—The demonstration of the enemy at White Point seems to have been a very slight affair, as they quickly moved off again, and in an hour afterwards no enemy was to be seen. Our troops, under Gen. Evans, had prepared to give them a warm reception and check their further advance had they ventured beyond range of their gun-boats.

Early Friday morning, the enemy's boats hauled off from Cole's Island and put out to sea. They were soon out of sight, and had not returned up to last evening.

Nothing further had been heard from Hardeeville or Red Bluff, and it was supposed by passengers by the Savannah train that the reported landing of the enemy at the latter point was premature. We have no doubt the Yankees are feeling their way, and will endeavor to make a strike somewhere in close proximity to Charleston or Savannah.—Charleston Courier, 28th.

The news from England may nerve the Yankee arm for one desperate stroke to quit on, and in that event we may look out for hot work the coming week. Otherwise, gentleman of New Orleans, (says the Bulletin), who was lately a prisoner on board the steamer South Carolina, lying in the Gulf, to state that Capt. Alden, the United States naval officer in command of that vessel, declared unequivocally to him, our informant, that if the war now carried on against the South were a war upon slavery, he, Capt. Alden, would immediately resign his commission, and that every officer on board his ship would follow his example.

Capt. Alden had previously told the passengers that they were entirely mistaken as to the object of the war; that it is only for the preservation of the Union, for the preservation of the Constitution and the laws, that it is no war upon slavery, etc., etc., and then he added the remarkable declaration we have given.—Charleston Courier.

MOAB BRIDGE BURNERS HUNG.—The Knoxville Register, of the 18th inst., says: Henry and Jacob Harman, father and son, of Greene county, engaged in burning Lock Creek Bridge, on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, were executed here yesterday, by hanging, agreeably to sentence passed by the Court Martial convened by order of Gen. Carroll. At the scaffold they had been not only deluded, but forced to commit the crime for which they were about to suffer, by representation that unless they made this demonstration of allegiance to the Lincoln dynasty, their property would be in greater jeopardy than from the Confederates. The younger Harman stated, further, that his sympathies had been originally with the Confederate Government, and he had at one time contemplated volunteering in the Confederate Army, until he was persuaded and misled by the misrepresentations above stated.—Whether they revealed the names of those who have thus led them to their unhappy fate or not we have not learned.

The Battle near Norfolk.
RICHMOND, Dec. 30.—The Richmond Dispatch of this morning has a special dispatch from Norfolk, which says that the Confederate steamer Sea Bird captured a Federal schooner yesterday, which was being towed to Fortress Monroe by the Federal steamer Express. When the Sea Bird fired into the Express, the latter abandoned the schooner. The Sea Bird took the schooner in charge to Norfolk, followed by nine Federal gunboats, which kept up a continuous cannonade. The Express was set on fire and one of the gunboats disabled. Some of our shore batteries peppered the Federal gunboats.

The only death caused by the Federal cannon in the Sunday attack on the Sea Bird and batteries at Sewell's Point and Craney Island, lasting three hours, was the death of an old rooster at Sewell's Point.

Reported Release of the Commissioners.
NORFOLK, Dec. 29.—Lieut. Griffin, one of the Hatteras prisoners, who has been released, arrived here this afternoon. He says he read in the Baltimore papers that Messrs. Siddell and Mason have been released. No Northern papers came by the flag of truce. The people here, while crediting Griffin, disbelieve the Baltimore papers.

RICHMOND, Dec. 30.—The Norfolk Day Book of this morning says it learns from a gentleman from Baltimore that a report prevailed there, and was published in one of the papers of that city, that Mason and Siddell were given up. The report needs full confirmation.

THE DRAINSVILLE BATTLE.—A special dispatch from Manassas, dated 26th ult. to the Richmond Dispatch, says: The truth regarding the affair at Drainsville is beginning to come out. The Baltimore News Sheet gives a list of eighty casualties in two regiments.

A reconnoitering party of the enemy three thousand strong came up within a mile of our pickets last night, and immediately retired without making any demonstrations.

All quiet about Manassas.

DISSENSIONS OF THE ENEMY.—We have reports that considerable division prevails among the federal troops on the river, originating in the political differences of the officers and men. At Cairo and Paducah, it is said, a large portion of the army are loud in their condemnation of the negro emancipation policy recently enunciated at Washington, and the discord is so great as to amount to a demoralization of some of the regiments—officers as well as men repudiate the idea that they are fighting to abolish slavery.

From the same informant we learn that the Gen. Halleck and Sigel were at Cairo on the 17th.—Memphis Appeal.

There has been considerable disappointment felt that the landing of our troops on the coast of North and South Carolina has not produced that diversion of the Confederate forces before Washington which was anticipated. The expected rash honorward of the Carolina Confederates to defend their own States has not taken place; and, consequently, McClellan has as strong an enemy in his front now to fight as he had before we landed twenty thousand men at Hatteras and Port Royal.—New York Times.

THE MISSING BOAT.—On Wednesday evening, our citizens were relieved of their anxiety for the safety of the party who left the Confederate fleet, on Monday evening, in a small boat, to reconnoiter the movements of the Federal steamers off the entrance of Warsaw. They all, excepting two of the crew, (one a Western and the other a Northern man), who deserted to the enemy, have safely reached the city.—Savannah Republican, 27th.

"DEPENDERS OF RIGHT."—This is the very appropriate name of a company of 95 soldiers, from York District, just arrived at Camp Hampton. They have enlisted for the war, believe, and are commanded by the following officers: John A. Witherspoon, Captain; F. W. Moore, 1st Lieutenant; J. W. A. Hartness, 2d Lieutenant; John W. Mitchell, 3d Lieutenant.

Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says the joint committee of both Houses of Congress are employed in investigating the conduct of the war and are considerably bothered. McClellan refuses to communicate the plan of his future operations, but the committee are determined to institute rigid inquiry about former reverses and future movements, and much trouble is anticipated.
