Some Items of Fact, Some of Comment and All Helping to Give an Idea of What Our Neighbors Are Saying and Doing.

Chester Reporter, Oct. 27: Mr. W. A. Darby, of Lowrysville, had his Ford stolen Friday while in Rock Hill attending the York County Fair. Mr. Thomas F. Wilkes, until recently of the local postoffice force, is now in the railroad mail service and Mr. R. G. Stricker has a regular position at the postoffice. Mr. E. B. Hunter, of the Baldwin Mill, and Mr. W. B. Griffin, of Charlotte, N. C., were severely hurt yesterday afternoon, when their Ford turned turtle opposite the residence of Mr. H. C. Grafton. Mr. Hunter had his back badly hurt, and was painfully bruised. Mr. Griffin had both shoulders mashed. The other occupants of the car—Will Smith and Jack Wilson—were only slightly hurt. A total of 58 were received at Bethel M. E. church yesterday morning—51 by profession of faith (13 by vows and 18 by vows of baptism) and 27 by certificate. Several were also received at the other churches, making a total altogether as large or very nearly as large as received the first Sunday after Rev. "Gypsy" Smith's departure, and showing how far-reaching and profound have been the effects of that great revival. Mr. Guy W. Wilkes, of Charleston, and Miss Aggie Delle Sherer, of Chester, were quietly married at the Nurses' Home of the Chester Sanatorium Saturday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. C. C. Herbert, pastor of Bethel M. E. church, in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

Gaffney Ledger, Oct. 28: News was received here yesterday of the death of J. W. Booth, which occurred Sunday morning at Luback Sanitarium, Tex. Mr. Booth lived in Gaffney for several months until recently, having been connected with S. B. Webster's business. Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Clara Tate and Russell Holt which occurred at the Cherokee Avenue Baptist parsonage Friday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Hamrick with only a few witnesses being present. Mrs. Sellemmer Pritchard Buice, wife of J. Henry Buice of this city, died Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Duluth, Ga., where she and Mr. Buice were visiting. They had been on a trip through Georgia, having visited Atlanta, and were on the way back home when they stopped at Duluth where Mr. Buice has some farming interests. Mrs. Buice became so sick that she could not be brought home, and the illness continued for ten days until her death on Saturday. Friends of Deputy Sheriff Joe Watkins will regret to learn that he is ill at the home of T. H. Littlejohn, on Grand street, with whom he lives. Just after arriving yesterday morning Mr. Watkins suffered a fainting spell, but his condition was reported to be improving later in the day. One thousand six hundred and fifty-four children are enrolled in the public schools of Gaffney, not including the textile and illiterate classes which are supported by local mills, according to figures submitted by J. Harvey Witherspoon, superintendent to the trustees of school district No. 10 at their regular meeting Friday night.

Lancaster News, Oct. 23: J. Lester Nelson, son of J. C. Nelson of the Jacksonham section of the county, died in Asheville Sunday night, where he had been under treatment for the past two years, for lung trouble. A marriage of much interest to the many friends of the contracting parties was solemnized at Taxahaw last Sunday morning when Miss Ruth Neal Holden, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holden of Kershaw, became the bride of Hoyt C. Byrd of Taxahaw. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blakeney, of the Antioch section, left Saturday for Waldo, Fla., where they will spend the winter. Mr. Blakeney has a large pecan grove near Waldo, and has gone to look after the gathering of them.

Cleveland Star, (Shelby), Oct. 28: Mrs. Lodie Adams who is one of the county's best and oldest ladies celebrated Sunday at her home near Grover her 80th birthday. Dr. J. S. Dorton, veterinarian, says four or five cows have died recently in Cleveland county as a result of poison from eating second growth green cane. Mr. James D. Barnett, Sr. died yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock at his home following an illness of more or less seriousness that has lasted all summer. Early Biggers colored and Jim Camp, white, broke jail Saturday and made their escape. It is thought they secured a key to the jail door and left. Officers have been on the search but as yet they have not been apprehended. Judge W. F. Harding who opened the fall term of the Superior court here yesterday morning devoted most of his able charge to the grand jury on the conditions of the county home, the jail and chaingang, asked for a committee to investigate these county institutions and report today for the information of the court, so that if the jail and chaingang camp are not found in a suitable and sanitary condition that he will not sentence any prisoners to either of them at this term of court. A beautiful home wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Miss Mamie Falls became the bride of Dr. A. C. Edwards. Alonzo Lovelace, son of Mr. Jimmie Lovelace of near King's Mountain and Miss Geneva Putman, daughter of Mr. John Putman of near Sharon, were happily married Sunday, Oct. 19th at the home of Squire Gilead Green in No. 7 township, Squire Green officiating. The many friends in Cleveland county of Miss Mary Jones will be interested to learn of her marriage on the 9th of October to Mr. Alvin Anderson a merchant of Erwin, South Dakota.

HOMAGE OF BELGIUM

King Albert Speaks in Senate and House. King Albert of the Belgians, paid homage in the house of representatives last Monday to the American army which he described as the "decisive factor in determining the victory." In an address to the senate a few minutes earlier he had asserted that "nothing could better characterize the region of universal democracy" than the friendship between his country and the United States. The addresses of His Majesty were the longest and most important he has made in America, they were intended as messages to the entire nation and his sincerity in expressing the thanks of Belgium to Americans for their aid was plainly evident. "I salute," he said to the senate, "not only the eminent men who received me here during the day but I salute the memory of your great predecessors who, during 130 years have sat in this place and given to the whole world the example of highest civic virtues. This welcome of the senate seals that reception, so warm and so spontaneous, I have received everywhere in my journey across the country. I am deeply moved by the expressions of sympathy that the name of Belgium evokes from this noble American people. "Nothing could better characterize the region of universal democracy than that friendship that unites the great republic with its one hundred and ten million citizens and the realm of which I am and a half million inhabitants. If there is no equality of powers and riches between them, there is equality in the love of liberty and in aspiration towards social progress. On both sides of the Atlantic the same ideal inspires us. The exchange of ideals, the commercial relations, the visits to Belgium of eminent American citizens, of whom many sit in this assembly, are so many means of tightening the bonds between the two nations. "I hope with all my heart that these relations which go back as far as memory, which have been fortified during the war as well as by the admirable assistance which you rendered Belgium by feeding her people and by fraternity in arms, will never cease to develop for the great good of the two peoples."

BEAT 'EM SINGLE HANDED

Lone American Officer Put Down Revolution on Rhine.

Single-handed, an American intelligence officer recently put down a "revolutionary" movement in the area on the Rhine occupied by United States troops. The first the Americans knew of the "revolt" was when news reached army headquarters that in Luetz, a village of 200 population, a red flag had been hoisted and was waving in the breeze at the tip of a seventy foot pole. When the American officer arrived in Luetz the "revolution," conceived by a society calling itself "Frohsinn" (Hilarity) and composed of young men most of whom were discharged German soldiers, was well under way and none of the inhabitants could enter or leave the village without proper passport provided by the society members. Luetz, like many German villages in the hills, has no troops in the town, the army depending upon an occasional patrol to keep in touch with events. The American summoned the Gemeindevorsteher or the chief official of the town, who informed the officer that this was the third attempt of the "Frohsinnists" to rule the village and that the action was directed against the Catholic priest for whom the young men had a pronounced dislike. The American officer summoned the executive council of the society, provided them with pick and shovel and had them dig up the flag pole, amid the applause of the conservative element of the village. He instructed the burgomaster to withhold until further notice any authorization for meetings of the "Hilarity," gave the executive council a dressing down and instructed the one German policeman to patrol Luetz at all hours on Sundays when most political meetings are held. Each member of the "executive council" promised to be good hereafter and none of the society members were arrested. They agreed that the American had convinced them that "revolution" did not pay. The revolution had lasted six hours.

DEMOLISHED DICTIONARY

Army Terms Now Having a Different Meaning For Men. The first copy of "The Home Sector" has recently been received in Yorkville. It is edited and published by the same men who got out "The Stars and Stripes," the clever and original newspaper of the American Expeditionary Force in France. In the first number is this dictionary for demobilized soldiers who were in the service overseas.
