AMNESTY PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, the President of the United States, on the eighth day of December, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-three, and on the twenty-sixth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, did, with the object to suppress the existing rebellion, to induce all persons to return to loyalty, and to restore the authority of the United States, issue proclamations offering amnesty and pardon to certain persons who had directly or by implication, participated in the said rebellion; and

Whereas, many persons, who had so engaged in said rebellion, have since the issuance of said proclamations failed or neglected to take the benefits offered thereby;

Whereas, many persons, who have been justly deprived of all claim to amnesty and pardon thereunder, by reason of their participation, directly or by implication, in said rebellion and continued hostility to the Government of the United States since the date of said proclamation, now desire to apply for and obtain amnesty and pardon;

To the end, therefore, that the authority of the Government of the United States may be restored, and that peace, order and freedom may be established, I, ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States, do proclaim and declare that I hereby grant to all persons who have directly or indirectly participated in the existing rebellion, except as hereinafter excepted, amnesty and pardon, with restoration of all rights of property, except as to slaves, and except in cases where legal proceedings, under the laws of the United States providing for the confiscation of property of persons engaged in rebellion, have been instituted, but on the condition nevertheless, that every such person shall take and subscribe the following oath, or affirmation, and thenceforward keep and maintain said oath inviolate, and which oath shall be registered for permanent preservation, and shall be of the tenor and effect following, to wit:

I, ———, do solemnly swear or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Union of the States thereunder, and that I will, in like manner, abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have been made during the existing rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves. So help me God.

The following classes of persons are excepted from the benefits of this proclamation:

FIRST—All who are, or shall have been; pretended civil or diplomatic officers, or otherwise domestic or foreign agents of the pretended Confederate government.

SECOND—All who left judicial stations under the United States to aid the rebellion.

THIRD—All who shall have been military or naval officers of the pretended Confederate government, above the rank of Colonel in the army or Lieutenant in the navy.

FOURTH—All who left seats in the Congress of the United States to aid the rebellion.

FIFTH—All who resigned or tendered resignations of their commissions in the army or navy of the United States to evade duty in resisting the rebellion.

SIXTH—All who have engaged, in any way, in treating otherwise than lawfully, as prisoners of war, persons found in the United States service, as officers, soldiers, seamen, or in other capacities.

SEVENTH—All persons who have been or are absentees from the United States for the purpose of aiding the rebellion.

EIGHTH—All military or naval officers in the rebel service who were educated by the government in the Military Academy at West Point, or the United States Naval Academy.

NINTH—All persons who held the pretended offices of Governors of States in insurrection against the United States.

TENTH—All persons who left their homes within the jurisdiction and protection of the United States, and passed beyond the federal military lines into the so-called Confederate States for the purpose of aiding the rebellion.

ELEVENTH—All persons who have been engaged in the destruction of the commerce of the United States upon the high seas, and all persons who have made raids into the United States from Canada, or been engaged in destroying the commerce of the United States upon the lakes and rivers that separate the British provinces from the United States.

TWELFTH—All persons who, at the time when they seek to obtain the benefits hereof by taking the oath herein prescribed, are in military, naval or civil confinement or custody, or under bonds of the civil, military or naval authorities or agents of the United States, as prisoners of war, or persons detained for offences of any kind, either before or after conviction.

THIRTEENTH—All persons who have voluntarily participated in said rebellion, and the estimated value of whose taxable property is over twenty thousand dollars.

FOURTEENTH—All persons who have taken the oath of amnesty as prescribed in the President's proclamation of December eighth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, or an oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States since the date of said proclamation, and who have not thenceforward kept and maintained the same inviolate.

Provided, that special application may be made to the President for pardon by any persons belonging to the excepted classes, and such clemency will be liberally extended as may be consistent with the facts of the case and the peace and dignity of the United States.

The Secretary of State will establish rules and regulations for administering and recording the said amnesty oath, so as to insure its benefit to the people, and guard the government against fraud.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this the twenty-ninth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-eighth.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Wm. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Extracts from United States Tax Act.

As soon as national military authority is established over any political subdivision of a State, the law is to go into effect. The Commissioners are directed to assess a due proportion of the tax upon each piece of real estate, whether in town or country, open an office and give notice that they are prepared to receive tax.—The assessment to be based on the last valuation of the State prior to January, 1861, or, in default of that, upon such other valuation as the Commissioners may be best able to ascertain. The tax is to be received sixty days from the giving of the notice, without interest; after that period, interest attaches at the rate of ten per centum per year from July, 1862.—Each tax payer is to appear at the office of the Commissioner in person, or, in case he cannot appear, then by his attorney, either in fact or legally appointed; and the attorney must show that the person whose tax he applies to pay, either has not engaged voluntarily in the rebellion or has taken the oath.

On the expiration of the sixty days, all property on which the tax is unpaid is considered forfeited to the United States, and the commissioners may sell the same, giving thirty days notice. But the tax may be paid at any time before the day appointed for sale, by paying the interest accruing as above stated, and also of half the tax.

The interest in Charleston became chargeable after the sixth of May; the penalty will not so become, probably, until November.

After the sale, sixty days are allowed for redemption, on payment of the purchase money, with interest at fifteen per centum per annum from day of sale.—Any person can redeem within that time; after that, persons proving loyalty may redeem any time within a period of one or two years, varying in length according to their class, whether as persons beyond seas, minors, &c., according to the discretion of the Tax Commissioners.

An appeal may be made from their decision to the United States Courts.

All the railroad bridges between Chattanooga and Nashville have been repaired, except the one over Barren river.
