

THROUGH THE GRAND CANYON.

A Stupendous Undertaking.

The actual passage of the first passenger train through the Grand Canon and Royal Gorge, on the Denver and the Rio Grande Railroad, has taken place on the 7th ult. It was the crown of the most stupendous achievement in railway engineering.

The long passenger train that accompanied us through this mountain gorge was preceded by a number of open platform cars, securely guarded by a balustrade of railing, and provided with comfortable seats, and being, in fact, a sort of sentry, and being, in fact, a sort of sentry, and being, in fact, a sort of sentry.

Another account says: On reaching the canon the engine was placed in the rear, so as to give a better view to the passengers of the approach to the canon as it was made.

CHARLEY'S STORY. Accompanying our party was Charles McCoy, who told us of an adventure he once had here. He and his brother Robert in the spring of 1870 offered to pass 60,000 railroad ties down the Arkansas from the mountain source.

OBSTRUCTING THE FISH.

An Interesting Paper from the Carolina Constitutionalist.

Augusta Chronicle and Constitutionalist.

HAMBERG, S. C., May 30, 1879.

I am pleased to learn, through the columns of your valuable and widely circulated paper, that the South Carolina and Georgia are becoming enlightened to the importance of enriching the waters of the two States with food fish, and are not willing to remain idle and do nothing.

SONS OF LINCOLN AND DOUGLAS.—Several journals have noted the fact that the son of Abraham Lincoln and the son of Stephen A. Douglas are now both in Chicago practicing law, and it has been suggested that they may at an early day witness another great struggle in which the names of Lincoln and Douglas will be most conspicuous.

SHE COULDN'T DO IT.—A lady entered into an agreement with her husband to hold her tongue ten minutes in each quarter hour for one thousand one hundred and thirteen consecutive quarters.

AN APPROPRIATE ODOR.—In Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes, each particular odor is given an appropriate name. For the clergyman and orator, his refreshing and fragrant Flower of the Desert.

LYING IN BED.

A Lazy Man's View on the Advantages of Not Getting Up in the Morning.

From London Society.

Let us analyze this lying in bed a little further.

On Thursday, June 5th, a nice looking young woman passed through Vermontville making inquiries for a Mr. Woodward, stating that her name was Woodward, and that she had two sisters living in Vermont.

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.

A FEARFUL CRIME.

A Young Lady Erratically Outraged and Murdered in Spartanburg County.

As They Strike a Baltimore Minister.

Rev. Dr. William T. Brantly preached last night in the Seventh Baptist Church, Spartanburg and Fava streets, on the subject of "An Infidel over Col. Pickens."

On Thursday, June 5th, a nice looking young woman passed through Vermontville making inquiries for a Mr. Woodward, stating that her name was Woodward, and that she had two sisters living in Vermont.

GEN. SHIELDS' SWORD.—At the funeral of Gen. James Shields, in Carrollton, on the 15th inst., the two swords presented to him by the State of Georgia and South Carolina were crossed over the casket containing his body, and with the floral decorations helped to make up a grand and pleasing picture.

NICOTINE POISONING.—A rather unusual case of nicotine poisoning occurred lately in a Parisian suburb. The victim, a man in the prime of life, had been cleared his mind of all his cares and anxieties by the use of his pipe.

THE HUMAN SKELETON.—The human skeleton consists of more than 200 distinct bones. Some 5,000 less, it is calculated, than a chad contains.

INGERSOLL'S IDEAS.

As They Strike a Baltimore Minister.

Rev. Dr. William T. Brantly preached last night in the Seventh Baptist Church, Spartanburg and Fava streets, on the subject of "An Infidel over Col. Pickens."

On Thursday, June 5th, a nice looking young woman passed through Vermontville making inquiries for a Mr. Woodward, stating that her name was Woodward, and that she had two sisters living in Vermont.

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.

The Maine Liqueur Law.

Abolition Press and Banner.

Rev. J. L. Martin.—DEAR SIR: Various inquiries have been addressed to me from the State with relation to "Temperance and the Maine Liqueur Law."

The use of narcotics and anesthetics is everywhere increasing among the nervous, the diseased, the rheumatic, the beyond question only makes a bad matter worse. It results largely in imperfect education. The minds of children and youth are corrupted with so many things that very little is learned of good purpose.

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.

The Ku Klux Trials.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.

THE KU KLUX TRIALS.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.

THE KU KLUX TRIALS.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, in the Senate last Friday, touched upon the Ku Klux trials, and said that he had heard that "a large number of the people of South Carolina were gathered together to defend those accused Ku Klux people."

THE TORCH AS A POLITICAL WEAPON. A recent number of the Charlotte Observer has the following: A letter has recently been received by a negro man at Matthews' Station, in this county, which has created a ripple of excitement in the community.

GOVERNOR COKE AND HIS TWO VISITORS.—Governor Coke of Texas tells the following story about two callers he had one day: "I never saw such a clear headed man as the first of them, nor any privy here. Now, when I saw him here to attend the special session of the Senate, I purposely went to a quiet place on D Street, and chose two rooms over a building that I had never before had any body called to have them fitted up for my room, and further that the outside door should always be kept closed, which would compel callers to ring. You see, in carrying this plan, when cards were sent me, I would know just who called and could send word whether I would like to see them or not.

UNWHOLESOME FOOD.—By the unnatural combination by ignorant persons, for baking powders, they render the food very indigestible, as the chemical action of the baking powder prevents their being digested.