On Wednesday night preceding Christmas the Masons indulged in an oyster supper at White's Hotel. We were an invited guest, and while we knew nothing about their signs and grays, we are confident we demonstrated the fact that we knew something about oysters. The oysters were served in three ways, and were excellently prepared. It was a most pleasant occasion.

The firm of Cunningham, Fowler & Cooley has been dissolved, the two latter named gentlemen having withdrawn. Mr. Cunningham has formed a partnership with his brother, Mr. R. C. Cunningham, under the firm name of Cunningham & Co., which will continue business at the old stand. Both these gentlemen are well known, and deserve a liberal patronage.

Mrs. Lucinda Hammond, mother of Mr. D. H. Hammond, of Piercetown, died at her home in Brushy Creek Township on Friday, 24th December, after a long and painful illness. Mrs. Hammond was an excellent lady, and her death is deeply regretted by many friends. She was a consistent member of Fifth Baptist Church. Her remains were interred at Shiloh Church on the day after her death.

The officers of Williamston Lodge, No. 24, A. F. M., were publicly installed in the Chapel of the Williamston Female College on Monday, 27th December, by J. E. Brazelton, Past Master of Hiram Lodge. C. W. Moore delivered a most interesting and instructive Masonic address on the occasion. After the ceremonies were over, the members of the craft partook of a bountiful repast prepared by the Williamston Lodge.

Rev. J. Walter Dickson, the able Preaching Elder who has been assigned to the Greenville District, requests us to announce the following quarterly appointments for the year: Williamston Female College on Monday, January 8, and Anderson Circuit, at New Hope, January 27. Piedmont, at Shiloh, January 29 and 30. Piedmont, at Willis Chapel, February 19 and 20. Anderson Circuit, at Rahams, March 11, 12 and 13.

Christmas, 1886, is numbered among the occasions of the past, and a quieter or more pleasant Christmas was never known in Anderson. The weather, after the rain on Christmas Eve, promised to be on its good behavior, and the promise was well kept for a week. The air was cool and bracing, just the sort to aid in digesting turkey dinners. Business in the city was suspended until Thursday morning following Christmas Day, and everybody, we believe, enjoyed the rest.

Miss Elizabeth Murray died at the residence of her brother, Rev. J. S. Murray, in this city, on Monday, the 27th of December, from apoplexy, with which she was stricken on the preceding day. Miss Murray was a native of Virginia, and was in her sixty-second year at the time of her death. Her remains were interred in the Baptist cemetery on Tuesday, after the funeral services of the Episcopal Church, which were conducted by the Rev. T. F. Gadsden, the Rector of Grace Church.

Governor Richardson has made the following appointments for Anderson County: Treasurer, W. H. Frieson; Auditor, T. J. Webb; Jury Commissioner, B. F. Wilson; Trial Justices, W. F. M. Fant, W. H. D. Gallard, S. P. Tate, J. D. Sifton, R. B. A. Robinson, J. L. Bryant, A. E. Soudley, B. F. Shirley, D. H. Hammond, A. N. Todd, J. C. Whitfield. Other appointments for other counties will be made as the terms of the present incumbents expire.

Mr. J. S. Fowler, in addition to his literary and sales business, has opened a general grocery business in the IRELLY, GAZNER store room, on Whitner street, where he can supply family groceries at the cheapest rates, and also stock food of every kind. He delivers goods to purchasers in any part of the city. He also sells buggies, carriages, wagons and harness. He is one of the most progressive and successful of Anderson's business men, and we have no doubt that he will succeed admirably in his new business.

About twenty of Anderson's young men, instead of making their way to the majority of them, we presume, putting in their time courting. All of them express themselves as having had a most pleasant time. Since their return home they have spent the evenings trying to drive away the "blues" by giving in their experiences. One says the "old man" put him to milking the cows, another says he fed the horses and made fire, and so on. It is certainly a novel way of spending the holidays, and we are glad to hear that the majority of them are well pleased with their time.

Married, by Rev. J. B. Earle, at the residence of the bride's father, on 14th December, Mr. John Sadler and Miss Sarah Glenn, both of Savannah Township. By the same, at the residence of the bride's parents, on the 22nd December, Mr. J. R. Walker, of Hones Path, and Miss Ann Tribble, of Oconee County. Also, by the same, on the 28th December, Mr. Elias Hembree and Miss Millie Dyer.

A dispatch to the Greenville News from Hones Path, dated December 30, says "Alexander Austin, a seventeen-year old son of John H. Austin, accidentally shot and killed himself (yesterday) while out hunting. He and some other boys had found a squirrel up a tree. Young Austin fired at the squirrel and missed it. He was going backward to get another shot at it and fell over a log. His gun recoiled and he was killed. The contents taking effect in his neck just under the chin, killing him instantly."

Mr. James B. Carpenter died at his residence near this city of heart disease, on December 27, 1886. He had been afflicted with this disease for several months, but was not confined to his room until three or four weeks prior to his death. He passed away while sitting in his chair. Mr. Carpenter was about 47 years of age, and in every respect an excellent citizen, who was highly esteemed by many friends. His remains were interred in the Creek Church with Masonic honors, Rev. W. H. King conducting the funeral services. Mr. Carpenter leaves a wife and four children to mourn his death.

Messrs. S. D. Brownlee and E. W. Brown, Jr., have formed a partnership, under the firm name of Brownlee & Brown, and have opened business in the store room formerly occupied by Brown Bros., just below the Masonic building. They will handle staple and fancy groceries, confectioneries, tobacco and cigars, which they propose selling at bottom prices. Their stock will be kept complete and everything guaranteed pure and fresh. These young gentlemen are full of energy, and we predict for them a successful career. Mr. Frank Bigby is with Messrs. Brownlee & Brown, and will be pleased to have his friends call upon him. Look out for their advertisement next week.

Mr. Frank A. Bleckley, eldest brother of our townsmen, Mr. S. Bleckley, who lives near Clayton, Ga., has sent us a fine sample of his tobacco crop. Mr. Bleckley is the reporter for Rabun County for the Agricultural Department of Georgia, and plans, experiments and reports to the Department his success from year to year. Last year he tried the culture of tobacco, the seed having been furnished him by the Department, and on seven-eighths of an acre he made about 1,000 pounds of very fine tobacco, which he is now selling at from 25 to 75 cents per pound according to quality. He has built a house for curing tobacco under the modern plan, and finds it to work well. The crop off of the seven-eighths of an acre will likely net him $500.

The extreme cold weather did not prevent a fair audience from assembling at the Masonic Hall last Monday evening to enjoy the musical entertainment given by our home talent. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, rendered in an admirable manner, and selections by the Young America Band. The participants were Messrs. Lella White, Jessie Frowbridge, Nellie Towbridge, Dr. E. C. Frieron, Messrs. J. G. Cunningham and R. C. Cunningham. Miss Maggie Williams presided at the piano, and fairly captivated the audience by the excellent manner in which she performed her part. The inimitable Miller cousins, George, Julius and Joe, in their characteristic songs and dances, with Miss Nettie Miller at the piano, took the audience by storm, and the encores were loud and prolonged. Throughout the entertainment was a most enjoyable one.

Mr. A. M. Holland, one of the leading citizens of the lower portion of this County, died suddenly on last Tuesday afternoon at about 3 o'clock from apoplexy, at the age of 63 years. Mr. Holland with Mr. H. B. Major were superintending the cutting of some trees in Mr. Holland's yard, near his new house in Savannah Township, and were holding a rope to control the direction in which one of the trees should fall, when he fell dead in an instant. Mr. Holland was for a number of years engaged in merchandise in Anderson before the war, and for many years past has been engaged in farming and merchandising at Holland's Store, near Savannah River, in this County. He was upright, courteous and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a fine merchant and succeeded admirably in business. His remains will be interred in Genesee cemetery this morning. In his death the County loses a valuable citizen.

It was our pleasure to witness the performance given by the Belton Dramatic Club at Belton in Stringer's Hall on Monday evening, December 27th. The programme consisted of a very interesting drama, in two acts, entitled "Above the Clouds," followed by a comedy, in one act, entitled "Poor Philicity." We will not attempt to criticize the characters, for fear of doing them an injustice. Suffice it to say there was not a poor character in the cast. Each one sustained his or her character in a manner that would have done credit to many professionals. The Hall, which is a good-sized one, was filled to its utmost capacity by a very appreciative audience, which was composed of representatives from Anderson, Williamston, Hones Path, Due West, in addition to those present from Belton and surrounding country. It was a most pleasant entertainment, and every one who attended no doubt felt amply repaid.

A man calling himself Wilson passed through this neighborhood a few weeks ago peddling on sewing machines. He sold one, or part of one, and promised to send the missing parts by mail, giving the lady a due bill and signing his name J. A. Wilson. Well, to make a long story short, Wilson has not been heard of since, except that his name is not Wilson but Thorp, and that he lives at Fort Madison, S. C. He certainly is a scoundrel of the first water, and we think that if Ananias was alive to-day that he would turn the cake over to Thorp. He imposed on every one he came in contact with, and the person who had the least to do with him came out best. Our advice to every one is the first thing to do for such an impostor is to show him the road, and if he fails to take it, hurry him up by a little hot bath, and send him to the State Prison. The Christmas holidays passed off quietly. There was less drinking than any previous year of our recollection. Considerable hunting was indulged in by the Nimrods of our community, bringing in more or less game every day. Wild geese have been quite numerous on the Savannah this winter, and furnished fine sport, but few of them have been bagged, and Mr. W. A. Holland is moving, and is opening out his new goods. Way man makes no commendation at our hands. To know him is to give him a share of your patronage. He keeps first-class goods, and will duplicate any bill purchased in this County.

Mr. J. T. C. Jones has bought a lot at Cross Roads Church and expects to erect a store at that point at an early day. Mr. Jones has been running a country store for some years, and has been quite successful. He intends entering more largely in business at his new stand.

Our readers will be interested to know that a project time to take a retrospective view of the past. Have we done our duty? Have we contributed to the joy of any one? Have we sojourned any one whose future is more dark and rugged than our own? Have we given our time in a manner that will reflect to our advantage? One thing is certain, our duties are not done in the past. Have we done our duty? Have we contributed to the joy of any one? Have we sojourned any one whose future is more dark and rugged than our own? Have we given our time in a manner that will reflect to our advantage? One thing is certain, our duties are not done in the past.

Stony Feast Items. Christmas, with its customary sports and general rejoicing has passed off quietly, and has brought to every one more or less pleasure and happiness. The old, as well as the young, have enjoyed themselves by meeting around the festive table of a bountiful repast, they partaking of subjects of general interest pertaining to the farm and other rural matters. The young men have acted in a highly creditable manner, also, by attending social parties, dinners, musical entertainments etc., leaving off dancing in almost every instance.

Your correspondent with other invited guests, had the pleasure of attending a family reunion at Mr. W. D. Gray's during the holidays. After feasting upon the many good things of the season, we were treated to some fine music, both vocal and instrumental, by the young people present. At a late hour we bid our generous host and family adieu, wishing them many returns of the happy occasion.

Mr. J. L. Tate and Mr. W. H. McPhail, have gone to Florida on a tour of inspection. They will travel over the different sections of the State, and will be absent two months or more. We wish them a safe and pleasant journey through the "Land of Flowers."

Miss Nannie Harkness, of the Storeville section, has recently returned from Texas, where she has been visiting relatives and friends. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John Harper, who removed to Texas several years ago. This is Mr. H. P.'s first visit since she returned from the Lone Star State, and it affords her relatives and friends much pleasure to welcome her back in their midst again. She will spend several months with her relatives and friends before returning to her home in the West.

An itinerant showman, who claims to be an Indian, has been plying his wares in this city, and the southern portion of the County, for some time past. He is accompanied by a monkey, "coo", and Magic Lantern outfit; lodging with whites and colored with equal temperance and complacency. This dual mode of living and acting, is an imposition upon the better class of the community, and should be stopped, and our social status maintained.

The year 1886 has gone, and it will be long remembered for its floods, earthquakes and other disasters. But like Jenny Lind, the noted songstress, it makes us sad to part with it, for it is like parting with some old friend, and now, with sorrow we bid it farewell, and with joy we welcome the new.

Williamston Correspondence. Our town is looking up in the way of new owners, and still we have room for more. Mr. Adams, of Grove Station, moved his family into Williamston for the benefit of our College. He is one of a dozen or more gentlemen living in our town and carrying on business successfully in Pelzer. If the Cumberland Gap, which is in the hands of the Government, were opened, we hope our town may yet spring into one of our extensive business places. Mr. Brooks, of Greenville, adds one more family to our new citizens, also Rev. Mr. Betts is now moving into the new Parsonage.

Mrs. Maberry, of Canada, will soon take possession of the corner house on Pelzer street, where she will continue her business as a Mantua Maker. Her fine taste and experience in that line, with the latest Paris styles always on hand, has won for her a large patronage from both of our towns. Her daughter, Miss Edna Maberry, is spending some time pleasantly with friends in Greenville.

Dr. Lander, Prof. J. Lander, Mrs. Rogers and others returned from Conference on Tuesday, after spending a happy Christmas in the annual reunion of their church.

All are pleased to know that Mr. Johnson will continue to run the Hotel next year. His pleasant manner and splendid accommodations give general satisfaction.

Christmas morning dawned beautiful and bright, bringing sunshine to many a weary eye. The turkey dinners, Christmas trees, charades, grab bags and "Santa Claus" in general, takes the day.

The skating rink is having a perfect jubilee in the Hall of the new brick store, while the colored band is discoursing sweet music up and down the streets, followed by little chaps of every size, color and style.

We notice on our streets Master Earnest DuPre, just from Due West. He is an intelligent, sprightly little fellow, and says Due West can boast of twenty odd little boys in the preparatory department of their Female College. Wish our little boys could meet with such good luck.

A Card. Many thanks to the ladies of the Presbyterian Church for their kind thoughtfulness in sending a Christmas present, very valuable, to the PASTOR.

County Farmers Meeting. The meeting of the Farmers appointed for the 10th inst. in the Court House at 11 o'clock a. m. will take into consideration the Act of the Legislature at its recent session, with such other matters as will be brought up. I earnestly desire a large meeting, as questions which will be discussed are of great interest.
