Last Saturday evening Miss Emma Clark's bicycle was stolen, the thief carrying it about four miles down the Abbeville road, where he left it in a fence corner on the side of the road. Two gentlemen from the city, who took a trip down that road Sunday morning, and when they returned to the city not knowing that a wheel had been stolen, they happened to mention having seen a wheel on the side of the road in the presence of Officer King. He at once notified Mr. J. H. Clark, and they went down there and secured the wheel. The thief is not known.

A gentleman in a neighboring town writes us as follows: "My wife is an Andersonite, and holds largely to her old love. She wants to see the Intelligencer and she has no money to purchase it. Do you like to be a peace maker? If so, you can send me the paper." Of course we will accommodate our friend. His good wife is just like all the sensible Anderson girls who marry and go on where to make their home—they know a good thing and all of them are not satisfied unless they have the Intelligencer as a regular visitor to their homes.

The News and Courier of the 16th inst. has the following notice: "The case of the Smith-Valley Company against the Williamson Oil and Fertilizer Company came up for a hearing before the Superior Court of Anderson on Monday last. The case was brought on an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed to take charge of the defendants' property. A bill for injunction and the appointment of a receiver was filed in the Court some time ago. After hearing the arguments Judge Simonton took the matter under advisement. Mr. Joseph W. Jamwell and Mr. J. H. Hayes, of Greenville, represented the complainants. Mr. George E. Prince, of Anderson, appeared for the defendants."

Abbeville Press and Courier: "A foul murder was committed last Thursday night in the shooting of one Robert Glover, colored, near the section houses on the Savannah Valley Railroad in the neighborhood of Lattimer. He was shot in left back while walking along the railroad track in company with party in ambush. Dr. P. V. Black of Mt. Carmel, made the medical examination and found it a bullet-belt had entered his back just below the left shoulder, causing instant death. Trial Justice A. A. Edwards impanelled a jury and took down all evidence obtainable, after which the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the law. Since the above Asbury and John Hunter, colored, have been lodged in jail, charged with the murder of the said Robert Glover."

Jones Path Chronicle: "A terrible accident happened at this place last Thursday which came near causing Mr. Jesse Kay to lose his life. He was engaged in blasting rock from a branch for Mr. Harper and was packing a heavy blast when it exploded and hurled them several feet, and when assistance reached them it was found that they were badly hurt. They were brought to town and placed under the care of Drs. Hough and Shirley. It was found that Mr. Kay's injuries were severe. His right arm was crushed and broken, his left leg broken, and his face cut and bruised and his body badly bruised. His wounds were dressed and he was sent to his home. One Gary had his face cut and several of his teeth knocked out. It is a wonder that they were not blown into space as it was a heavy blast and large rocks were hurled high in the air, and an iron bar which Mr. Kay had in his hand was hurled into pieces. Mr. Kay is getting along nicely though suffering a great deal of pain."

The Williamson correspondent of the Greenville News, under date of the 16th inst., says: "A case that has excited the indignation as well as the sympathy of our town was brought to notice a few days ago when it was ascertained that Mrs. R. A. Bass and her four little helpless children, the youngest an infant of six months, had been deserted by her husband and father, who had eloped with his own niece and gone to parts unknown. Bass moved to Williamson about four months ago for the purpose of being a veterinary surgeon, but proved a failure in that line. He then purchased a graphophone, mortgaged his wife's household goods for the payment of it, boarded the train with a girl named Emma Lyerby, his own sister's daughter, of Statesville, N. C., and left his wife and children without a single penny or anything to enable them to subsist for a moment. The facts of the case were made known Mrs. Bass and the little children were actually found in the suffering for the necessities of life. Our town council has taken the case in hand and provided relief. In the meantime Bass should be punished to the extent of the law. It is said that he is now somewhere in this State and can be easily identified from the outfit above described. The girl with whom he eloped is about 19 years of age."

Last Sunday, in company with Mr. M. L. Willis, we had the pleasure of visiting and spending the day at the home of the Church, Ebenezer, in Martin Township, and to say that our visit was a most enjoyable one but feebly expressed. The morning services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. T. Duncan, who preached a most practical and impressive sermon. The subject of his discourse was based on a few verses of the 21st chapter of St. John, where the Lord commanded His disciples to feed His lambs and sheep. Mr. Duncan drew some practical lessons from these commands, and proved to his hearers that they were applicable to them. Mr. Duncan is one of the youngest members of the South Carolina Conference, and is doing a good work in the Master's vineyard. At the conclusion of the morning service, the large congregation was dismissed by a stroll through the adjoining cemetery, where rests the remains of some of the first settlers of the town. Here lies the remains of that famous school teacher, Robert Breckinridge, who taught continually for sixty-eight years, and whose grave, we regret to say, is not marked. Lorenzo D. W. and James Danally, two famous preachers of their time, have preached in Ebenezer Church. There is still used in the Church a table on which Mr. D. W. is said to have sat, talking, teaching and preaching. It is a relic, of course, is highly appreciated as a relic. We met many old friends and found new acquaintances during the day, and wish ever the opportunity offers itself we will again visit this sacred old place.

In Memoriam of Thomas Clemson Guest.

A tender plant from Heaven To mortal loaned for a day, A promise of sweet perfection In the tiny symbol.

It grew in the heart of loved ones, A wealth of gladness and joy, A witness that of vicissitudes, A dark-eyed laughing boy.

But God, in His infinite wisdom, In His many arms, and set him free, A Father with pitying kindness His precious jewel to claim.

The babe is safe in His bosom, Asleep in His enfolding arms, Free from life's burdens and sorrows From all earthly cares and alarms.

How sweet to think that they, Whose hearts are wracked by sorrow, May meet the loved one there, In the realm of God's to-morrow. A FRIEND AND A BROTHER.
