Death of Hon. John M. Glenn.

The angel of death is no respecter of persons, nor does he stop to consider the virtues, or the beneficent influences of the lives of his victims upon their fellow-men. How often do we see those who are possessed of all the attributes of character necessary to fit them for a useful life down just at a time when those rare gifts are shining brightest. How inexplicable it is that such an one should be taken while those whose lives bear only forbidden fruit and perpetuate ignorance and sin are left to cast their hateful influences upon the lives of men. But God knoweth best. He holds the key and some day, though it may be not until we reach the shining shore, we will understand the meaning of God's ways. John Marion Glenn is dead. At 7 o'clock p. m. on the 9th instant the angel of death laid his hand upon him and his spirit winged its flight to Him who created it. He was born in Garvin Township, a few miles from where he died, in 1845. This man possessed all those qualities of head and heart which made him an ornament to his home, his community and to his State. He was a Christian gentleman and whose person seemed always an atmosphere of purity. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a faithful worker both in the Church and Sunday School. At the beginning of the late war he volunteered in the 1st Rhode Co. D. Hampton Legion, and served gallantly to the close at Appomattox. Two years ago he was elected to the General Assembly, where his strong character and conservative conduct won the confidence of his colleagues irrespective of faction, and there is no doubt that a bright future lay before him as a representative of his people. During the fifty-three years of his life he was true to every trust reposed in him, and exemplified those attributes of character which make up a noble man, a brilliant soldier and a pure politician. Shortly after the war Mr. Glenn was married to Miss Anna McLean of this County, and to them were born five sons and two daughters, who survive him. The wife preceded her husband to the life of eternity just nine months ago.

How rapidly, indeed, are the good men, and women of our County passing away. Within the last few years death has greatly thinned the ranks of those whose energy and influence had so much to do with the material development of our County and the morals of her citizens. The forms and voices which only a short time ago were so familiar have passed from our sight and hearing, and it cannot be but a few years until our journey along the road of mortality will come to a sudden end. Death is the common lot of all, but after all, it is but the passing through a dark door to a life of eternity.

The Columbia State of the 11th inst. contained the following account of the memorial services held in the House of Representatives in memory of Mr. Glenn: Mr. Robinson at 8 o'clock announced with sorrow to the House the death of his friend and colleague, the Hon. John M. Glenn, which occurred the preceding night. He paid a touching tribute to his life-long friend and comrade on the battlefield. Mr. Glenn did not reach man's allotted number of years—he only reached the age of 53 years; was a kind husband, an indulgent father, and a great friend to the poor in this County. He was a broad-minded man, and his loss would be felt. He paid a fine tribute to Mr. Glenn's record as a private soldier of the Confederacy. He offered the following resolutions: Whereas it has pleased the all-wise Ruler to remove from our midst the Hon. John M. Glenn, a member of this House from Anderson, and recognizing the sterling worth of the deceased, his eminent character, his faithfulness to every duty, be it Resolved, First, That in the death of the Hon. John M. Glenn, who departed this life at his home in Anderson County last night, this House has sustained a serious loss of a worthy and valuable member, and the State is deprived of a most estimable citizen, a conscientious, faithful and able legislator. Second, That a page of the journal of the House be dedicated to his memory. Third, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions be suitably engrossed and transmitted to the family of the deceased. Mr. Sullivan seconded the resolutions in appropriate words. His friend's death was felt in Anderson County to-day. He was here at the opening of the session. In the first week his physician sent him home a recovery was made. Such men did not fear the Dark Valley. His life was transparent; his heart was warm with that love that inspired noble deeds. Such men were the salt of the earth. They could well reflect upon the life and character of such a man and gather hope therefrom. Such types of character and citizenship were the hope of their State. Mr. Stevenson said there were characters which in passing were like the fragrance of the rose wafted upon the evening air—coming no one knew whence. Such a character was this, and the impression was lasting. He had left here a record and a memory that was fragrant with its purity and uprightness. Mr. Jno. P. Thomas quoted a beautiful passage from the classics. So when the angel of death paid a visit it was well to pause in their deliberations and pay a tribute to the deceased member and reflect on the brevity of human life. He knew Mr. Glenn but little more than a year, and had found him a man of sterling worth. Mr. Coughman, in behalf of the Saluda delegation, seconded the resolutions. Mr. Livingston said death was said to contemplate at all times. But when it struck down a man in the meridian of life it was doubly sad. He paid Mr. Glenn high tributes. Mr. McGinnis, in behalf of the Greenville delegation, spoke eloquently of the character of the deceased, in sounding the resolutions. Mr. Ashley said he wished he could utter words to suit this occasion. He had always known Mr. Glenn. He had always seen a man of ever faithful.

Messrs. Rainford, Wyche, W. H. Thomas, Tom Dukes, Field, Winkler, E. D. Smith, Henderson and Gasque also seconded the resolutions. The resolutions were then unanimously adopted by a rising vote, and the House at 6:50 p. m. adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning out of respect to Mr. Glenn's memory.

Death of Mr. S. N. Carpenter.

The Ellerton (Pa.) Tribune of the 11th inst. contained the following account of the death of a former citizen of Anderson County: Mr. S. N. Carpenter died last Sunday about 12 o'clock and was buried in the Ellerton Cemetery the following day. Mr. Carpenter had been in a most pitiable condition for several years. Four or five years ago he had a stroke of paralysis, and shortly after succumbed to a second stroke. Ever since he has been weak in mind and body, and for more than a year has not been seen on the streets of Ellerton. He has been gradually growing worse and worse for years, and to him death came as a blessed relief. While in health Mr. Carpenter was an active member in the affairs of Ellerton County. A long time he edited the Tribune, one of the pioneer papers of this section, giving to the work only when disabled by disease. He was a man of firm convictions and had the courage to maintain them at the cost of friends and popularity. Mr. Carpenter was a native of Anderson County, S. C., a good Confederate soldier, a lawyer though never actively practicing in the Courts, and in the palmy days had a host of friends and admirers. In his declining health he has been tender and patiently nursed by a devoted wife, and to her and the children the consolation of the entire community is extended. Mr. Carpenter's life was insured in the Royal Arcanum for $3,000. A fine epitaph on an indulgent father, a good citizen has gone to his reward. Peace to his ashes.

Charming Entertainment.

The following notice complimenting two of Anderson's accomplished young ladies is clipped from the Greenville News: The entertainment given on Friday evening, February 11th, under the auspices of the Willing Workers of the First Baptist Church for the benefit of Furman University was a financial success. It was also one of the most delightful entertainments it has ever seen. Our privilege to attend. Misses Bettie May Mauldin of this city, Eliso Mauldin and Caro Miller, of Anderson, delighted a large and appreciative audience. The first performance was given by the exquisite performance of the singing choir, of which everyone present. Her execution was splendid. Miss Eliso Mauldin possesses wonderful talent as an elocutionist. Her readings elicited warm applause and captured the audience, being encored repeatedly after every piece. Her rendition of "Old Mother Goose" was especially fine, moving the audience at times to tears. Miss Miller made a fine appearance on the stage. Her songs also evinced evidence of compass and sweetness seldom heard. The gentle dignity of the young ladies and at the same time the utter absence of self-consciousness made the entertainment all the more charming.

Belton Items.

There were many expressions of sorrow this morning when news reached here of the sudden and unexpected death of Mr. M. McDavid. Mr. McDavid was well and favorably known throughout this entire section of country. He has done the greater part of the surveying of this section for many years, and was noted for his accurate work. Mr. McDavid was a brother of Mrs. G. W. McGee and Mrs. M. J. Williams, of this place, and the father of Mrs. G. W. Fant, who resides about two miles below here. They all have the sympathy of the community.

The camp here of the Woodmen of the World is now fully organized and in a flourishing state. Those who are interested in cheap insurance will find it to their interest to investigate the merit of this order before taking policies elsewhere. A joint debate between the literary society of the Princeton High School, Laurens County, and the literary society of the school of this place will be given here on the 25th inst. The query to be discussed is: "Resolved, that a protective tariff is beneficial to the American people." The affirmative will be represented by Mr. E. H. Rice, Jr., and Prof. A. G. Holmes, both of Belton; the negative by Prof. R. A. Cooper and Mr. Robert Sharp, of Princeton. All the above are known to be clear thinkers and good speakers, and we doubt not that the occasion will prove both interesting and profitable. Captain Gray and wife worshipped at the Methodist Church Sunday. Presiding Elder Powers preached a very forcible sermon to quite a large congregation Sunday. Miss Jessie Sanders spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends in Greenville city.

Mr. W. H. Geer, the popular deputy of the Woodmen of the World, is now in North Carolina organizing camps, where he is meeting with merited success. Capt. and Mrs. A. B. Byrd visited in Greenville last week. XXXX.

Stone Church Items.

Mr. Clint Summers was in this section last week. Mr. Fletcher Brock, from Seneca, visited friends and relatives last week. Mrs. Dora Malone, from Columbia, came up to attend her father's funeral. Mr. Andrew Stephens, and will spend several weeks with us. Misses Lillian and Ida Pennington, from Walhalla, visited relatives in this section last Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Leonard Hamilton, from Beaufort, Ga., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Harrison Billard. Mr. Aaron Boggs, from Central, S. C., has paid this section several visits recently. Our farmers don't seem to baul in fertilizers quite as rapidly as they did last year. Mr. Warren McLeskey and wife, from Piedmont, was in this section Sunday. Well, Mr. Editor, I guess "Old Joe" and "Mellic" have got married and run away to boot. Well, I guess the Sheriff has gone to hunt them. I suppose we will hear from them soon. Mr. Andrew C. Stephens died at his home near the Stone Church, February 11th, at 8 o'clock a. m., and his remains were interred in the Cemetery February 12th, at 3 o'clock p. m. He served four years in the war, was an upright, Christian citizen, a volunteer of Hampton's regiment. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his death. He was born and raised in Pickens County, and married a Miss Luitia Pike when a young man and resided in Oconee County until death. Old Bon.

WANTED—The people to know that I will buy any Pendleton office on Saturdays only.

J. C. Walker, Surgeon Dentist. What do you think of a butcher that sells all of his choice meats to hotels and boarding houses at 7 cents a pound and charges you 10 cents a pound for necks and things? That is just what the majority of our men do, except myself. I sell choice meat to people who want a pound to-day and another to-morrow and are willing to pay 10 cents a pound for same. F. M. Butler. Don't give your hides—I mean cow hides—the way, but bring them to me and get the top of the market for them in cash. F. M. Butler.

Pendleton Items.

Mr. P. W. Moore, one of the graduates of Clemson College, made a visit to Pendleton Wednesday evening. Miss Norma Garrett, of Anderson, returned home from her visit to Clemson and Pendleton last Thursday. Miss Julia Maxwell, of Walhalla, is visiting Dr. T. J. Pickens and family. Two amiable young ladies, Miss McIntosh and Miss Gado, of Borden, S. C., are visiting the family of Rev. O. T. Forcher. Mr. Andrew Stevens, an old resident of the Stone Church section, died at his home on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. Mrs. S. Huppold paid a visit to the city Monday. The young people had a Valentine party at Dr. W. W. Watkins, Friday night. TELL TALE.

Holla's Store.

The congregation at Shiloh last Sunday was large and the sermon by Rev. J. E. Earle was fine. It is truly a treat to hear this man of God expound the truth as it is in the Bible. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Wright, was not present on account of the death of his wife, which occurred on Sunday morning. His friends of this community heard the news with sadness. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved ones in their sorrow. Mr. Samuel H. Earle died at his home, Evergreen, on Sunday night the 10th inst., in the 6th year of his age. He bore his sufferings, which were intense, with perfect resignation, arranging his affairs in his lucid moments for the journey through the valley of the shadow of death. Mr. Earle was esteemed by his neighbors as a true, upright, honorable gentleman, and his place will be hard to fill. He will be sadly missed around the family circle. He was buried at Shiloh Tuesday, the funeral being conducted by Rev. Hugh McLees. We tender our condolence to the sorrowing ones in their affliction.

Mr. Jas. E. McGee and Miss Jennie McGee were married at the home of the bride by Rev. H. C. Ligon on Wednesday, the 9th inst. This happy couple have our best wishes for future happiness in their auspicious start on the matrimonial sea. Among the visitors at Shiloh on last Sunday we noticed Mr. Harper Gentry and Miss Gentry, W. G. Hojages and Miss Rainey, of Starr, and Miss Emma Johnson, of Easley, S. C. Our farmers are moving lively. Every edge is being made to cut and various kinds of farm work is progressing well for the season. We are generally enjoying fair health. BURKE.

Mardi Gras Festival—New Orleans, La.

The committee on arrangements are using every means in their power to make the Festival of this year the greatest ever held. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the pleasure and entertainment of their guests. However the manner in which the trip to New Orleans is made, will play no small part in making the visit an enjoyable one.
