It's a very old saying that "comparisons are odious." They may be—they are to some people. With us they are most welcome. We like to have our Goods and Prices made the object of comparison. As a matter of common sense, is it reasonable to suppose that we are going to let any one undersell us? Is it reasonable that we would let our interest suffer to the extent of letting any one sell the same thing one cent cheaper than we would—here in the city or anywhere else—if we were aware of it? We have as good buying facilities as any one, as good selling facilities as any one, and, as a matter of common sense, sell as cheaply as any one. Compare qualities, widths and weights, and you will always find us correct.

Come, investigate and compare for yourself, or write for Samples. We give Mail Orders prompt attention. We have the—

The Russellville Courier-Democrat, of the 25th inst., says: "The community waited and hoped and prayed for the recovery of Prof. E. S. Hamilton, who for two years, taught in our public school, the last year as principal. He was born in Iva, S. C., and educated in that State, and died here May 20th, of spinal meningitis. He was a faithful member of the A. R. P. Church, and during his residence here he endeared himself to all. By diligent, unremitting study during his school years, he graduated quite young, and was steadily going to the front as a successful teacher. Appropriate services were held in the A. R. P. Church by Rev. J. C. Douglas, after which the remains were conveyed to the old home in his native State. He left his home with high hopes and returned with honors. This reminds us much of that noble young man in Jan Maclaren's Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush. George Howe, who in the National University, took both the classic honors in Latin and Greek and then returned home to die—his efforts having been too severe for his frail body. The influence of so good a life, though short, can be but in a thousand ways as a gracious encouragement and sacred memory."

The deceased was the eldest son of the late Wm. Hamilton, of Corner Township, where his mother and other relatives reside. He was a most exemplary young man, and an honor graduate of Erskine College. His remains were brought to his old home and interred at Genesee Church, Rev. W. M. Grier, D. D., conducting the funeral services.
