The Piedmont correspondent of the Greenville News of Tuesday says: "Willis Burrell, a farmer of Brusby Creek, while seining in the Saluda River on Saturday, a mile and a half above Piedmont, in company with James Merritt, stepped off the bank into deep water and was drowned. Owing to the flood-gates being open at the mill, a very rapid current was created; and before help could reach him he sank to rise no more. His body was recovered by a man by the name of Allen, from Pelzer, on Sunday at 11 o'clock. Mr. Burrell was an industrious and intelligent young farmer, well spoken of by all. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn the loss of husband and father."

Two white children, one about 13 years of age and the other about 3 years, were drowned in Seneca River, near Earle's Bridge, last Sunday. They were children of "Sis" Taylor, who lives on the Sharpe plantation in the Fork. On Sunday morning the children went to the river in company with a negro woman, who says that while playing on a big rock on the bank of the river both fell into the water, which was very deep at that point. The woman says she grabbed the youngest child by the clothes, which were so rotten that they tore loose and the child sank. Coroner Miller went over there Monday and held an inquest, but there was no evidence of foul play. The body of one of the children was not recovered.

A colored excursion went from this city to Spartanburg last Friday. The Spartanburg Herald, in speaking of it, says: "The only feature in the trip in coming from Anderson to this city, was as the train was speeding along from Anderson to Greers, one of the negroes, Welford Drummond, who was a little gay from the effects of new wine and who was riding on the steps of one of the coaches, lost his balance and fell, his head striking against a cross tie. Fortunately the cross tie was not injured to any great extent, and the negro's head was bruised up in several places. He was carried inside the coach, and brought to this city in a dazed and stunned condition. Medical aid awaited him upon his arrival here and last night he was recovered sufficiently to be able to be walking about on the streets."

A Delightful Picnic in Williamston. Last Wednesday morning a long train of buggies, wagons and carts were seen coming into town the destination of which was not known until our famous Spring Park was reached, and the party began to stop their vehicles, unload and hitch. After watching the movements of this party for a few moments we could plainly see from the size of the baskets, boxes and trunks, which were being lugged from the various wagons, that this was going to be no small occasion, and indeed it was not. The company was composed of the Eureka Baptist Sunday School, four miles east of Anderson, and was in charge of Mr. L. E. Campbell, their beloved superintendent. Among the numerous families represented, were that of Mr. J. A. Shirley, Mr. J. W. Robins, Mr. P. B. Gentry, Mr. C. L. Tucker, Mr. J. R. Smith, Mr. Joshua Pruitt, Mr. W. L. Anderson, Mr. W. H. Smith, Mr. J. M. Harper, Mr. J. W. Shirley, and Mr. Moses Hall. Eureka Church has a membership of 55, and the Sunday school about 80. The Rev. J. D. Mahon, is their pastor. The church and Sunday school are both well attended, and the people take a lively interest in church work. The missionary spirit of Eureka Church is not excelled by any in the State. The day was delightfully spent by these good people in the park, and at noon a bountiful repast consisting of everything nice and good was served in abundance. We shall always be glad to welcome such good people to Williamston on any occasion, and judging from the expression of this company we may expect them back on a similar occasion soon.

There were but two main issues in the election on Tuesday—Sobriety vs. Drunkenness, or Prohibition vs. Liquor. If you voted to perpetuate this evil, then you should never complain if it falls to the lot of your son to fill a drunkard's grave, or if your daughter becomes the wife of a drunken brute! You may be a sober man, but by your ballot you endorsed this evil, and your sin in this instance may be visited upon your children. Did you ever think of that? XX.

A Bridge at Anderson. The Blue Ridge Railroad will not have to build an overhead bridge in the city of Anderson. Recently a petition from the Anderson city council and a petition from citizens was filed with the Court asking that the receiver be authorized and instructed to have a new bridge erected. The matter was heard before Judge Simonon, of the United States Court, by whom the receiver had been appointed, and the decision in the case was filed yesterday. The Court holds that there is no need just at this time to have a new bridge built, but has instructed the receiver to make such repairs and improvements as may be necessary.

In concluding his opinion Judge Simonon said: "It is with great regret that the well-founded wish of the city council and citizens cannot be gratified, but the Court cannot in the discharge of its duty indulge it. But if the present structure be maintained it is the duty of the receiver to put it in as good condition as possible. The bridge must be made as strong as possible, all of the timbers and the wood used in its construction, must be, and must be kept sound. The testimony, even that offered by the receiver shows that it is not now in the condition desired. Mr. Lee himself has suggestions to offer looking to this end, based upon the connection that additions and improvements are necessary. To effect the end desired, and to secure the city of Anderson in the making and maintaining of a sufficient bridge, the petition will be retained, with leave to the city council to obtain the aid of the Court whenever such aid became necessary or desirable.

"It is, therefore, ordered that the receiver, under the advice of a proper and competent engineer, put the present bridge in thorough and complete order, removing all parts thereof which present symptoms of decay and substituting in place thereof sound material of proper strength, and that he, from time to time, at all times, take all such steps and make all such expenditures as may be necessary to keep every part of the said bridge in sound and perfect condition. That leave is hereby given to the petitioners at any time to apply to this Court for any orders which may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this order."—News and Courier.
