Denver Dots.

Those who had the pleasure of going on Smith's excursion to Asheville from this section last week were Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Atkin, W. D. Garrison, Jr., and Miss Ranelle Brown. Miss Brown will remain in the Land of the Sky for several weeks, enjoying the mountain scenery and visiting relatives. All who go on one of these excursions, Brock's personality conducted excursions come back well pleased. They do all in their power for the comfort and pleasure of those who go. Ladies without escorts are especially looked after and every attention necessary given them. Good order as possible is kept and no drinking or cursing allowed in the cars occupied by ladies. Miss Graham, of Greenwood, and Miss Kandy, of Cokesbury, returned home Friday after a week's visit to the family of Mr. J. W. Rothrock. Miss Mary Russell, one of Williamson's loveliest girls, is the guest of Marshall Blackman's family. Miss Sadie Hill and Samuel Brown and family, of Cross Hill, visited their relatives here. They were on their way to Tomasco to visit other relatives. Miss Irene Miller, of Westminster, was the guest of Miss Blanche Brown for a few days last week. Miss Corrie Phinney, of Wallhalla, visited friends and other relatives in this vicinity recently. Miss Lillie Garrison returned Monday from a visit of two weeks to relatives in Greenville County. Mr. John Garrison left Monday for a trip of a few days to Wallhalla. W. T. Brown, of Tomasco, has been the guest of Mrs. A. E. Brown's family for the past few days. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jolly returned last week from a pleasant visit to relatives near Harmony Grove, Ga. A. R. and David Vandiver worshipped with the congregation at Sandy Springs Sunday. After services were over they were the guests of J. D. McElroy for a short season. Sam Burns, of the Roberts section, visited his parents last week. The many friends of Robert Burns, who has been ill with typhoid fever, will rejoice to learn that he is now convalescent. Miss Ina Watkins and little sister, Mary Stark, of Anderson, are visiting Mrs. Maggie Garrison and family. Mrs. W. S. Elrod is quite indisposed. W. W. Asbury, visited her last Friday. Mrs. Asbury, who has been very ill for two months with a complication of diseases, died on the 18th at his home near Sandy Springs. He was an upright man and a member of the Methodist Church. He was about 45 years old and leaves many friends besides a wife and eight children, who are sorely bereaved in his death. The protracted services at Sandy Springs closed last Sabbath with an accession of five members to the church. Rev. J. E. Bird's sermon on Sunday was very impressive and listened to attentively by a large audience. "Give an account of thy stewardship" was his theme. Rev. R. E. Stackhouse and wife are visiting in this section. He was for twenty years the preacher in charge of the Pendleton Circuit and much esteemed by his flock and all who were so fortunate as to know him. He and his good wife were given an informal reception Monday p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. Durwin Reed, whose guests they were. It was a delightful occasion and one that will long be remembered by those present. Mrs. Mary Belle Pressley, wife of Clayton Pressley, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brooks, died at the home of her father near Sandy Springs on the 17th after a lingering illness of several months, aged 34 years. Just in life's early bloom she has been called away by death from those who loved her, a devoted husband and child, kind parents and many friends. But she was ready when the summons came, having been a devout Christian and a member of the Methodist church for some years. Her body was interred on the 19th at Sandy Springs by the side of her little one who had preceded her a few months to the better land. Incognita.

Mrs. Evelyn Newton's Birthday Picnic.

Dark and gloomy dawned the all important day of August the 15th, the seventy second anniversary of Mrs. Evelyn Newton, wife of the late John S. Newton, which was to be celebrated in an appropriate way. But as the king of day approached the eastern horizon his slanting rays lit up the sky and dispersed the clouds, thus giving us a bright day. The children and guests of Mrs. Newton had arranged for a birthday picnic at the home of Mr. C. J. Boggs, where she now resides. So at about nine o'clock in the morning the friends and relatives began to congregate and by noon quite a crowd had assembled. On account of previous rains the ground was too damp for dinner to be served on the lawn, so a long table was constructed on the wide veranda and completely spread with many choice viands. After grace had been said by Mr. A. Boggs, of Liberty, we did ample justice to the food prepared with so much care. The refresh with which the dinner was served fully satisfied the most exacting of Asheville present. After dinner the young people were scattered over the lawn enjoying a social interchange of conversation when they were summoned to the house to hear the reading of an important paper held by Mr. Sedgewick Johnson. Mrs. Olivia N. Evans read this paper which was a dream of Mrs. Evelyn Newton, the grand father of Mrs. John Newton. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Boggs, a few years before his death and was so deeply impressed with it that he wrote it down and it has come down from generation to generation until now. All those who heard it read were impressed with its remarkable import. Soon after this some one asked for music and all who were present sang many of the familiar pieces and some new ones were sung which were enjoyed by those listening. After this came watermelons which were a most enjoyable feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Aaron Boggs, Mrs. Emmeline Craven, Miss Catherine Martin, Miss Kanelle Knight, Mrs. Mary M. Hinton, Mrs. Ruth M. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron J. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Richey, Mr. C. Morris, all aged and honored friends and relatives of Mrs. Newton, graced the occasion with their presence; also relatives and friends from Seneca, Liberty, and Greenville County were present and secured with spirit into the pleasures of the day. As the shades of evening were approaching good-byes were being said and all parted from their friends, having peacefully enjoyed the day and wishing her many more happy birthdays. One who enjoyed the day. Perfection, S. C., August 21, 1903.

Letter to J. M. Hubbard & Co.

Anderson, S. C.

Dear Sirs: Messrs. Leachman & Edelin, Griffin, W. Va., had been selling a certain kind of paint, and thought well of it and had sold: They had sold a customer 18 gallons of it to paint his house. A few years later, they sold the same man Devco lead-and-sine the same number of gallons to paint the same house. He had 7 gallons left. The point of the tale is: 11 gallons Devco paints an 18-gallon house. Of course, that isn't all. Why does 11 gallons Devco go as far as 18 gallons of other paint? Because it is all paint, all true, no sham, and full measure. But that isn't all. Devco lasts longer. No, nor you haven't got to wait ten years to find that out. Ten thousand people know it. We've got their names. Our agents know them; they think a heap of Devco. There's no difficulty in showing your townspeople what to expect of Devco. $10 will paint a $15 house; and the paint'll last twice as long. Yours truly, DEVOE & CO. P. S.—W. L. Brixey sells our paint.

Har's Bridge Happenings.

It gives us great pleasure, Mr. Editor, to note the pleasure we had on last Thursday attending the Moorehead reunion at the old Moorehead home place. About 500 were there, talking in pleasant conversation, when about 1 o'clock the ladies opened the table with a plentiful and delicious food was spread before us in the pretty grove, which everybody ate heartily. After dinner all returned to the grove and listened to some noted speakers of which are too numerous to mention. It was a day to long be remembered by all present and may it not be long ere we meet on such occasion. Messrs. John and Claude Harris visited in Broadway and attended the old soldiers reunion at Neal's Creek. They report jolly fun. We don't think they will wait until another reunion comes, for it seems they took the day with the ladies. Hurrah for cousin John. Miss Ida Botts, a popular young lady of Abbeville, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Oscar Harris. Mr. Arthur Hunter, of Belton, visited in our burg last week.
