from a very reliable source, we learn that Col. W. H. Duncan's crop is equal to any in the district. Much of his cotton is about fifteen inches in height, and many forms are visible. "The Chors.—So far as we learn the wheat crop is still promising a large yield. Corn is growing well, and cotton not as much damaged as we feared it would be in consequence of the continued cold weather.—Winnsboro Tri-Weekly News.

THE CROPS.—We have passed through portions of Decatur, Mitchell, Baker, and Miller Counties, within the last few days, and endeavored to pay We also conversed with planters from various other counties, in order to satisfy ourselves of the real status of our farming interests. Our opinion, derived from these sources, is, that the general prospects of the farmer in this entire section are good—perhaps never better, so far as the present condition of the crops is concerned. The freedmen, too, have greatly improved in their industrial habitation and the control of the crops is concerned.

too, have greatly improved in their industrial nan-its; but we are sorry to say that the fate of the crop on many plantations is becoming imperilled by the shortness of provisions.

The complaint that provisions will not be suffi-cient to feed the hands until the crop is made is alarmingly prevalent. A gentleman, planting in Calhonn County, informed us that his bacon would not last longer than the first of July, and yet he had threteen hundred acres of land in cotton, and a large number of hands employed. Nor has he a dollar to buy meat with. Another large planter in Mitchel made a similar statement to us. The cotton mania is next to enclora in its enects upon the country.

Corn, in this section, will average from knee to waist high; some of it is five feet. Cotton is young and small, but the stand is most excellent. Oats, which have been largely planted, are free from rust and smut, and as good as we remember ever to have seen them. The only patch of wheat we have noticed is a total failure. Nor do we regard Southwestern Georgia as a wheat country. Some localities will produce it, but they are in sections where the lands are very poor and require much manure.

A fine rain on Tuesday m rning last is said to have been opportune. It was followed, however, by a very cold snap for the season, which will doubtless retard the growth of cotton. The health of this section is generally good.—Bain-bridge Argus.

CHOP PROSPECTS IN UPPER GEORGIA.-As a gencalcing the wheat looks finely. In some localities the fly has injured it, and in others some rust upon the blades is now reported, but, taken as a whole, there is a prospect of a tolerably good crop. Corn is not doing so well. In many localities there is a had stand, and the cotton planted is likely to be an entire failure. Some planters are plawing up their cotton, and planting corn in its place.

The Asheville (N. C.) News gives the following ecount of a destructive storm: On Tuesday last Asheville was visited by one of the most severe storms of wind, rain and hail known to our citizens for many years. It lasted about two hours, but during that short time it deluxed the gardens, and in some instances almost entirely washed the growing plants away, leaving the ground perfectly bare. Bridges, fences and culverts yielded to its force and fury, and were demolished. Corn planted on the low grounds will have to be replanted. I have been over much of this quinty, and have everywhere noticed the crops, and, what is better, have conversed with the planters about them. All are more than satisfied with their wheat which, in favorable situations, they have begun to harvest. It was never better, and the breadth sown is larger than or er before. The "King" is pretty much dethroned (I suppose we will have another when the military get through), and the cold May has given him the "sore shin," and I should think the "scald head," too, but the stand is pretty good, and there is reason yet to expect a full crop. The planters are more cheerful than it is usual to find them; and the freedman are doing as well as could be expected, though there is room for improvement. P.

The crops in Burke are represented to be rather promising, and we were pleased to learn that very considerable grops of corn have been planted. In some localities the stand is said to be injured by the ravages of the bud-worm, but on the whole, it is very good. The young cotton has been injured by the cool nights of the past week, and on the sandy lands the stands are said to be very defective.

Washington, Tuesday, May 28, 1867.—The Sec-gretary of the Treasury deems it proper that a statement should be made as to the situation in or saying either that we are losers thereby, o them for certain ships and certain of cotton, which were not theirs, were in their possession as agents the rebel government, and which we claim, not ex clusively under any special law of our country, but under the law of nations and the common law or under the law of nations and the common law of England, whereby all moneys or property contributed by persons or corporations, either by gift or by taxation, to carry on the rebellion, became, at the termination of that rebellion, vested in the United States. This matter is in the Chancery Court of England, and is not affected, one way or the other, by the failure of Fraser, Trenholm & Co. The Government has every reason for beheving that at the close of the rebellion this firm was in possession of other property and was largely indebted to the so-called Confederate Government. We set up a general glaim to all this propment. We set up a general claim to all this property and this incebtedness, as well as to the ships and cotton specified. The money value of this claim has never been ascertained. The President pardoned Geo. A. Trenhoim, the rebel Secretary of the Treasury, without so much as requiring a statement of his business accounts with the rebel whether the case shall be tried by a military commission or be brought tefore a civil court.

Trial by the civil courts will be preferred in all cases where there is satisfactory reason to believe that justice will be done. But until the orders of the commanding general are made known in any case, the paramount jurisdiction assumed by the military commissioners will be exclusive.

All persons, civil officers and others, are required to obey and execute the lawful orders of the military commissioners to the same extent as they are required by law to obey and execute writs issued by civil magistrates. Any person who shall disobey or rease, the lawful orders or authority of a military commissioner, shall be trie. by a military commission, and upon conviction, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, according to the nature and degree of the offence. If the saits for the ships and cotton are decided in our favor, of course the other claim will be good, and this firm will be ad-
