The Cotton Tax—The West and the South.

A recent article in the New York World, speculating on the politico-economic situation, in the event of the Southern States being restored to their rights in the Union, with a representation in Congress, thus speaks of two important questions, and the bearing they would have upon the two largest, richest and most populous sections of the country. It says: If the South were re-admitted, we suppose the first question it would agitate in Congress would be the repeal of the enormous tax on cotton. As the South would have to rely mainly on arguments, and comparatively little on votes, no harm could result from the discussion; for, unless it was made apparent that the appeal or reduction of the cotton tax would be for the general interest, the votes of the Northern members would not be secured. To admit the South to the discussion, would be merely to do it the fairness accorded to suitors in a court of justice in allowing them a standing in court, and counsel to present their case. We have no doubt that the North, if the question were well argued, would consent to the repeal or reduction of the cotton tax. If cotton culture were revived on its former scale, the price would sink to twelve cents; an excise of three cents would, therefore, be, taking one year with another, a tax of twenty-five per cent. on the value of the product—a tax as burdensome as twenty-five cents a bushel on wheat when wheat sells for a dollar. If the crops of the West were taxed in proportion, the whole West would justly cry out against the burden as enormous and oppressive. To impose such a tax on Southern agriculture, when no tax is laid on Western agriculture, is an inequitable exertion of legislative authority. If, after discussion, the tax still appeared to be for the interest of the North, the North (having the power) would be very likely to pursue its interest. But it is not for the interest of the West to narrow and destroy its own best market. Three cents a pound tax on Southern cotton operates as a bounty of three cents a pound on the production of that staple in Egypt, India, and all other countries suited to the cotton plant. But in proportion as cotton culture is discouraged in the Southern States, and the planters devote their land to other crops, they will glut the overstocked grain and pork market, and reduce the price of Western products more than they would be reduced by a heavy excise. The West, therefore, has nearly as great an interest as the South itself in the removal of the cotton tax, and whenever the Southern view is fairly presented in Congress, the West and South will probably act as a unit for the repeal of the tax.

Another question which the South would be likely to agitate in Congress, is the repeal of the present enormous tariff on imported goods. The countless ships which go abroad laden with cotton may as well return with freights as to return empty. There is no reason why they should not bring back such goods as can be purchased thirty to forty per cent. cheaper abroad than they can be manufactured in this country. There is no reason why planters, or why anybody, should be compelled to pay a bounty of thirty or forty per cent. to the New England manufacturers. On this point, again, the interest of the South and that of the West are identical, and soon after restoration those two great sections would be found acting together in opposition to high protective duties. If the West, by co-operating with New England, could succeed in curtailing the Southern representation, it would rue its action within ten years, as having weakened a valuable ally in the great battle for free trade.

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE.—Dr. Maggiel is the founder of a new medicinal system! The quantities, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all-healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite and render the spirits light and buoyant. There is no griping and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhoeal Pills cure where all others fail. While for burns, scalds, chilblains, cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. Maggiel, 11 Pine street, New York, and all druggists, at 25 cents per box. July 29 1y.

TO THE DEBILITATED AND THE DECEASED.—For general debility and exhaustion of the powers of nature, whether occasioned by sickness, fast living, constitutional decay, old age, or any other physical or mental cause, the one thing needful and indispensable is HOSSETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. When the fire of life seems to be absolutely dying out in the system, and the mind, sympathizing with the body, is reduced almost to a state of imbecility, this mighty restorative seems, as it were, to lift the sufferer out of the slough of despond, and recruit and reinvigorate both the frame and the intellect. An old farmer in the Valley of the Monongahela writes thus to Dr. Hostetter: "I can compare the operation of your Bitters upon me to nothing but the effect of a rain after a long dry spell in the fall of the year. The rain falling on the meadows starts the second crop of grass, and your wholesome medicine seems to have started a second crop of life and spirits in me." And this is truly the effect of this grateful and powerful preparation. Ladies of weak constitution, or whose strength has been impaired by sickness or age, find it a most efficacious and delightful tonic, and it is administered with great success in marasmus or wasting of the flesh, to young children. In fact, it is a much safer and surer cordial for the nursery than anything advertised specially for that purpose. Oct 5 46.

HORACE L. EMERY & SON'S ALBANY AGRICULTURAL WORKS.

HORACE L. EMERY. H. HERBERT EMERY.

ALBANY AGRICULTURAL WORKS, HORACE L. EMERY & SON, PROPRIETORS AND MANAGERS.

Hamilton Street, Corner of Union and Liberty Streets, Albany, N. Y.

NAME AND TRADE MARK. NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Other parties are advertising themselves as having purchased the property and business of the Emery Agricultural Works, increased their facilities, and are continuing the business, the effect of which, if not the intention, is to divert the patronage and business from the well known and long established EMERY'S ALBANY AGRICULTURAL WORKS of this city, the proprietors of these Works, in self-defense, and to inform their patrons that they still live, beg a careful perusal of the following card: The above celebrated Works were originated and created during the years 1847, '48 and '49, by the present senior proprietor, who has (with short interruptions) been constantly connected with them as the principal manager, and since 1863, in connection with his junior brothers, under the style of Emery Brothers. During the summer of 1862, he attended the World's Fair at London, with some of his leading inventions, and remained abroad nearly two years, engaged in successfully establishing their manufacture. In the meantime, owing to embarrassments and losses, the firm of Emery Brothers, consisting of Wm. B. and G. W. Emery, made an assignment, and these entire works and business were sold, and purchased by other parties, and the said firm ceased to exist from November 1, 1862, leaving the brothers, Wm. B. and G. W., hopelessly bankrupt.

On his return from England, in the early part of 1864, the present senior proprietor negotiated for and re-purchased the entire interest, real and personal, in and to these works and business, including its entire accumulation of patterns, working machinery and its business, and continued the same, with the aid of Wm. B. and G. W., to November 1, 1864, when he assumed its entire management on his own account. Wm. B. and G. W., for a very valuable cash consideration, preferring to relinquish all claims against the works, and retire therefrom, and with the intention with these funds of continuing the style and name at the head of this notice, and continues the business, in all its branches, at the old stand—than which no more complete establishment of its kind exists in the country. They have largely increased their facilities, made many new and valuable additions and improvements to their already large assortment of machines, which their experience and observation, at home and abroad, have suggested as desirable. The senior member of the firm is the pioneer of this business here, and he has been the designer, protector and patentee of all the leading and successful machines which have given wide celebrity to these works among which are the EMERY HORSE POWERS, COTTON GINS and CONDENSERS, Threshing Machines, Sawing Mills, Corn Shellers, Churning Machines, Cotton Openers, &c., all of which they now offer to the public on the most liberal terms, and a continuance of their patronage is solicited. In the articles of Cotton Gins and Condensers, they are the only parties manufacturing them with the improvements which have given these Gins the precedence and their world-wide reputation, notwithstanding other parties are now representing that they have purchased the Emery Agricultural Works and are making these celebrated machines—as a glance at the facilities and their machines will satisfy the most common observer.
