Our Financial Crisis-The Immediate Remedy. We have said that, as soon as possible, we should indicate our judgment upon the duty of the people of South Carolina in this financial emergency. We are fully satisfied that there has been an extensive, fraudulent over-issue of State bonds. The minimum is about $10,000,-000. The maximum may be $80,000,000, more or less. What is the immediate remedy? The pattent is ill. The Charleston Courier advises repudiation of the bonds issued in fraud. The Charleston News says, "stop the supplies." The Winnsboro News says, "call a convention." In our judgment, all of these expedients may come in hereafter. At present, the expedients proposed fail to meet the case. They are premature. What, then, is the course proper to be pursued? We deem it plain. The Legislature assembles soon. Thomas Jefferson Mackey, we learn, is writing the Governor's message. The plan of the ring-leaders will be to cover up what has besindone and to make new issues of bonds. The vultures are now gathering about the State House, and the plan is laid for Bowen to join Whittemore in the Legislature. What shall be done in view of forther bond legislation? & is to Hopely promptly before some Bouth Caro lied Judge—say Judge Melton for an injunction, restriction the Legislands from further open issues, until we have indemnity and explanation for the past, and security for the fature. Go to the courts. Let us see if we have in South Carolina a Judge bold enough and true enough—like Judge Barnard, of New York—to throw his mantle between a plundered people and a horde of hungry thieves and awindlers. Let us, first, try the courts can have been done in New York with success to the people and damnation to the Tammany thieves. Strong this immediate, practical and effective remedy, which will bring forward persons and papers, we may talk of other matters still left to an outraged people. Our idea is this: The mad bull of Snancial radicalism is in the China

Letter upon South Carolina Affairs, from South Carolinian to President Grant. Columnia, S. C., Savember 15, 1871. Excellency U. S. Grant, President of the United States.

Bin: At this orisis in the public affairs of this State, I venture to address myself to your Excellency. As a South Carolinian, and also an American citizen, it is my right and my privilege, if I so choose, to place the case of my State before the President of the Republic. I shall do so, with a due regard for the high office which you hold, and with a full appreciation of my comparative obscurity. At the same time, I shall discharge my solf-im-posed duty with that candor and spirit befitting the occasion and the great interests in-posed duty with that candor and spirit befitting the occasion and the great interests involved.

Let me, in the first place, remark that there is another reason why it is not unbecoming in me to approach your Excellency. Your Attorisey-General was recently on duty at Yorkville, in this State, and, whilst there, I am informed that it is not unlikely that one Adickes, a white mah, and one ffammond, a negro man, did reports a distinguished Oscolinia, and the writer, as the head-centres of the Ru Klux organization of Bonth Carolina. Allow me, before proceeding farther, to brand this statement as unqualifiedly false. I challenge and defy the meanest and most unscrupulous henchman that you may have in South Carolina to connect my name, or my private or my public conduct, with any act at variance with the law. Apart from its philosophy and true interpretation, I know as little of this alleged Ku Kluxiem in portions of South Carolina as does your Excellency. But of that philosophy and true interpretation, I have very distinct views; which I shall take occasion to submit to your Excellency in the course of this letter.

With these preliminary observations, I shall now undertake to lay before your Excellency and the country the case of injured and misrepresented South Carolina. You have put the case in court. You are the high proaccutor. I make myself the advocate of the State—obscure in name, but strong in the integrity of my ganse—thrice-armed, because my quarrel is jdst. Allow me, now, to carry your Excellency back to Appendator. Yeu will not object. If a sad day, to us of the South, it was a proud day for you. On that day South Oarolina, in common with the Southern Confederacy, yielded to Heaven's decree and your strong battalions; gave up the cause for which she had gallantly fought, and surrendered all the hopes and all the dreams of Southern nationality. The State formally repeated the ordinance of secession, abolished the institution of African alsery within her borders, and resumeding eneral her obligations to t phy and its correct interpretation. However diverted by bad and irresponsible men from its original purpose; however used in some cases to gratify personal malice and carry private ends; whatever there is, or has been, of Ku Kiuxikm in portions of South Carolina, grew out, of the weakness and corruption of our State regime, and had for its object the protection of person and property, even to the summary infliction of death upon evil doers. This was a bold resolve. This was a desperate remedy. But is us not forget that the disease was also desperate, and the provocation great. I cannot defend the acts of summary vengeance committed, either by vocation great. I cannot defend the acts of summary vengeance committed, either by white menor negro men. I leave the actors in these transactions to the judgment of Heaven and the judgment of the country. Before these tribunals each man, who has a-aumed the responsibility of executioner, must answer for himself. The onus of the act rests upon the actor. But these considerations shall not prevent me from raising my voice against the efforts to mis-represent our people and to make polifical capital out of those acts of violence which have been the direct result of a corrupt and feeble administration of the laws. Is it to be wondered that direct result of a corrupt and feeble adminis-fration of, the laws. Is it to be wondered that where there is no law, that the people should make a law unto themselves? Is it to be wondered that the Loyal Union Leagues should have led to the formation of opposing defensive and protective scaleties.

defensive and protective societies?

I have thus, Mr. President, brought the history of events in South Carolina to a comparatively reaent peried. Whetever there was of Ku Kluxiam or Lynoh law organizations in South Carolina, produced a profound impression upon the thieving officials, state and County, in this State, upon the malicious negroes, and upon evil doers in general. A sword of Damocles was suspended above the heads of these people, and the State grew quiet. Good men felt no fear. Bad men trembled. They knew not how soon the svenger would come. But this state of things was, of course, not agreeable to the carpetbagger, the renegade and the malicious negro. This sword of Damocles must be removed. Governor Scott could not remove it. He saw and trembled. Then was formed the great conspiracy, in which you, Mr. President, have been drawn as an instrument to carry out the programme of unscrupalous and alarmed men. The plot opens with a gross exaggeration of the acts of outrages in this State. It is followed up with mis-representations of the spirit and purposes alleged to be therewith connected. The plot thickens. The great sons swindle is about to be exposed. Governor Scott enters the conspiracy. You are waited upon, and you are urged to suspend the writ of habeus corpus in South Carolina. You are falsely told that the civil power, State and Federal, is not equal to the emergency. The conspirators, well represented in the persons of Mosers. Worthington, A. S. Wallace and Elliott, (negro,) provail, and your war upon South Carolina begins. Yes, atthough it is nearly seven years since Appomattox, you recame war upon South Carolina. You are falsely told that the civil power, State and Federal, is not equal to the emergency. The conspirators, well represented in the persons of Mosers. Worthington, A. S. COLUMBIA, B. C., November 17, 1871. In consequence of the blow inflicted upon In consequence of the blow inflicted upon the educational and industrial interests of this State by President Grant's military proceedings in the up-country, the undersigned have abandoned their proposed association in the conduct of the King's Mountain Military School, at Yorkville—deeming it unwise, under present circumstances, to enter upon a special expansion of the school. The present Principal and Proprietor will carry on the school as heretofore. ASBURY COWARD, JOHN P. THOMAS.

The undersigned, in relinquishing his connection with the above enterprise, desires most cordislly to commend the K. M. M. 8, to the support and confidence of his friends. As a tried and gallant soldier, a Christian gentleman, a thorough disciplinarian and an excellent teacher, Col. Coward is well known to the State. Singly he is fully equal to all the demands that may be made upon his school; and the undersigned hopes that all those who proposed to entrust their boys to his charge will not hesitate to send them forward to enjoy the benefit of Col. Coward's control of their conduct and studies.

The undersigned will remain in Columbia. Having formed an association in the practice of law with James H. Rion, Esq. he will embark in that profession, in combination with the active and earnest journalism in which he is now engaged.

In range of work this Machine cannot be equalled. Will work equally well on thick or thin goods, from gauge to heaviest beaver coatings, or even leather, without change of needle, tension or thread. We will warrant them to do this. Our fine work is equal to any, and our heavy work excels that of any other machine in the world. Ladles wishing to introduce the sewing into their families will find it a great saving of time, labor and expense to at once purchase the best. Persons who have tried all machines are unanimous in declaring this to be the easiest learned of any in the market. If you are prejudiced in favor of any particular machine, at least examine THE HOWE before you purchase.
