GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

A monument has been erected to the Emperor Maximilian at Trieste, Austria.

The Colorado Pioneer says: the "soiled doves" of Pueblo embrace their lovers on the streets.

It is said that a duel is eminent between Steilon Hutchins, of the St. Louis Dispatch and James Hyde of the Republican.

The Colorado Pioneer estimates that from three to five thousand people will be in the San Juan country this year. From fifty to one hundred men are preparing to go from Trinidad and vicinity.

All parties have been forbidden to leave Bismark, Dakota for the Black Hills. Soldiers patrol the river for miles to prevent parties crossing. Ross who made the discovery of gold will return with a military escort and make a thorough examination of the country and report to the government.

The Senatorial excursion party to Mexico was broken up at New Orleans. Ex Governor Brown, Col. Thomas A. Scott, Col. L. P. Grant, C. A. Netting and Ben. Perley Poor sailed for Vera Cruz. The Senatorial portion of the party will take a little trip to Cedar Keys, Florida, and from there go directly home.

After April 1st, tickets from Chicago to Denver and return can be purchased, via the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Hannibal and St. Joseph, and Kansas Pacific railroads for $50. From Quincy to Denver and return $65. This class of tickets will be on sale from the first of April to the first of October, and will be good for three months from the date of their purchase.

The election in Connecticut resulted in the choice of Ingersoll the Democratic candidate for governor, by a majority of 7,000 to 10,000. In the first congressional district, Sanders, Democrat, was elected to Congress; in the second, Phelps, Democrat, was elected; in the third, Stark-weather, Republican, elected and in the fourth the choice is doubtful though Bar num, Democrat, is probably elected.

The following telegram was sent by the Governor of Texas to the President: Austin, Texas, March 30.

His Excellency, U. S. Grant, President of the United States:

Since the depredations of organized bands of robbers from the Republic of Mexico have of late increased in frequency and atrocity to an extent which threatens the depopulation of the lower Rio Grande country. The alarm in the country between Nueces and Rio Grande in consequence of the raids, in which our people are murdered and their property forcibly taken by these foreign desperadoes, is widespread, and unless relieved by assurances of protection must result in the general break up of the settlements. On the 26th of this month a large party of robbers penetrated the interior to within eighteen miles of Corpus Christi, robbing stores and ranches and murdering and capturing citizens, and capturing the United States mail. I appeal to your Excellency for protection for the people of that country against these invasions of outlaws from Mexico. Since they have been of almost weekly occurrence for several months, and are increasing in force and boldness, citizens of that country have been compelled for the most part to move to towns for protection and no security exists outside these corporations for life of property, and the people in the towns even hold themselves in constant readiness for defense. I trust your Excellency will deem it proper to give security to the people on the Rio Grande border, in view of the assurance I now give you that an extreme necessity exists for it.

Very respectfully,
RICHARD COKE,
Governor of Texas.

The Secretary of war sent the following reply: Washington, March 31.

To the Governor of Texas:
The President being absent your telegram has been sent to me. Orders will be given to the military authorities to take immediate steps toward the protection of the people of Texas on the Mexican frontier.
WM. W. BELKNAP,
Secretary of War

A BLACK HILLS PARTY.

California Joe and party have been heard from. It seems that they were forty miles beyond Cheyenne, Monday, pulling out for the Black Hills. Their outfit consisted of one horse and a wagon, a lot of provisions, blankets, a few mining tools, and guns, revolvers, and ammunition. Clorb in their rear was a company of cavalry from Fort Russell, under command of Major Whitney. The Major had instructions to follow a long after the Denver outfit, and if they crossed the line of the reservation, at Fort Laramie, to arrest them. "California Joe," said they were going to the Black Hills, and a host as big as the old army of the Potomac wouldn't stop them.—Denver Tribune

THE JEWS OF NEW YORK.

It has been computed that there are 80,000 Jews in New York. I think this number too large an estimate; but there are probably 60,000. As a people they are strongly attached to their ancient service. A few have wandered into infidelity, the chief of these being August Belmont, the noted banker. The Jews are, to a large degree, of foreign birth, being almost entirely German; hence they prefer this element in their religion. The chief synagogue in New York is that of the Temple Emmanuel, corner of Forty third street and Fifth street. It is a new structure of great beauty, and cost $500,000. Its doctrine is of the Reformed or Rationalistic order, and its Rabbi is Samuel Adler by birth a German and now in his sixty fifth year. Rabbi Adler preaches in German; but his assistant, Gustave Gottheil, is a good English scholar, and officiates in that tongue. Each of these men receives $5,000 a year, and this double salary speaks well for the liberality as well as for the wealth of the society. Another rabbi of foreign birth, is David Vinthurn of Bavaria, who came to this city in 1834, and has charge of a synagogue in Seventh avenue. Samuel Isaacs, rabbi of the Grand Street Synagogue, in Forty fifth street, is a native of Holland, and has labored in this city since 1858. The ark in this institution cost $70,000. Services are held in Hebrew and German. Rabbi Huesch, a native of Hungary, who came hither in 1844, has charge of the Lexington Avenue Synagogue. The edifice and its appointments of worship cost $300,000.—Rochester Democrat.

Cattle which have been wintered in Wyoming north of Cheyenne, have come through the winter a little thin of flesh.

THE TREASURY GIRL.

A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean writes: "The Treasury girl is not beautiful except with that old fashioned style of beauty in vogue when the daughters of the house esteemed it a duty to be self supporting institutions. She has not leisure for a midday siesta in shaded parlor and the prolonged devotion at the toilet bath which produce the languid demeanor and pearly complexion of that fancy article of woman which our rich men marry to put on exhibition with their stately horses and brilliant equipages. Mark them as they assemble in the morning; each with a scarlet sash of uncheon and perhaps a novel from the library of the treasury, in whose here, if she be more sentimental than conscientious, she may allow her thoughts to dwell when they ought to be occupied in her country's service. Her overdress is perhaps a trifle worn and faded, her headgear is more hurried than studied, and an expression of anxiety and a hurried gait indicate a fear lest she may be late. About nine o'clock in the morning they come one by one and straggling in by detachments; at three o'clock in the afternoon they depart altogether, and the number of them is overwhelming to contemplate. They go home with a slow step, weariness on the brow and ink on the fingers. Living this manner of life the Treasury girl has neither the time nor the energy to devote to making herself brilliant, vivacious and fascinating, which is one of the most laborious exertions of a woman's experience. Yet there are those who are piquant exceptions, and who can come and copy by day and talk persiflage and tread the Boston by night all the gay and giddy season through and then say, 'Oh, dear!' when lent comes along and frowns their dissipation down. Sometimes one of these handmaids of the Government takes a notion to get married, as all girls will but more than ordinary inducements such as love for instance, must be offered them in return for themselves. Most of our women marry for the sake of a home and the certainty of a livelihood, but these, the girls of the departments having those conditions assured them by their ability to work, are enabled to indulge in the luxury of marrying for love or not at all."
