ment having always exercised the most painstaking care to guard even the minor details in all that could tend to make travel over the lines safe, swift and luxurious, the facilities provided representing all the latest developments of science and industry and the teachings of experience. To the tidy and clean sixteen-wheel sleepers, the dining cars with the tables groaning under loads of every profitable delicacy, the parlor cars and tastefully furnished sleepers, have been added an elegant system of smoking cars for the exclusive use of first-class passengers, and the state-room car, the most brilliant gem of them all, giving absolute privacy and special accommodations for individual parties traveling together; all of which combine into their construction every point of detail and minutia calculated to increase the comfort of the passenger and surround him with the luxuries of home life.
The construction of the new Denver exten-most remarkable feats of railway building, a distance of 243 miles having been covered in 219 working days, from August 1, May, including, of course, the winter months.

The traveling public, prompt to recognize merit, are awaiting with impatience the day

How an Assistant Postmaster Pocketed the Ducats of Uncle Sam.
(Indianapolis Sentinel June 8.) United States District Attorney Holstein yesterday had a rather strange case to deal with. During the year 1879 James E.
Vaughan, Postmaster at this place, this State, had an assistant, one Sterling A.
Martin. The Postmaster put all the confidence in the world in his assistant, and therefore looked but little after the affairs of the office. During the latter part of 1879 there was a shortage in the accounts of the Postmaster in the sum of $200, but where the money had gone was never found out. The Postmaster, however, had suspicions of his assistant, and in the language of the day, he "dred" him. Dred means to dig out, and other startling revelations have been unearthed in the Lawrenceburg Postoffice which show that this great and glorious Government has been in debt out of several dollars of our ducats, the little steel being carried on in the following manner by Sterling Martin. The postage on newspapers is paid by weight, and it is not unusual to have a receipt for the same; a stub or duplicate receipt is left in a book in the Postoffice, on which stamps to correspond with the amount of money paid are put on, generally one on top of another to save room. Martin had a slick way of putting on the bottom only half the stamp, taking the other half and pasting over it, so that when the money appeared as if only one of the stamp was expended, the other being covered by the stamp on top. In this way he would make one stamp serve for two, and pocket the money himself. It is not known just how much he has stolen by this means, but it is thought to be hundreds of dollars. He was arrested at the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, and brought to this city yesterday, when he confessed to having taken the $200 that was short in 1879. He will have a hearing at the next term of Court.

RIOT AT THE ROYAL.
The Royal Circus, which spread its tents in our city Wednesday is not only a humber, but carries with it a dangerous set of rogues.
Wednesday night when the performance was nearly over, a row occurred between the canvasses and some men and boys who were trying to get a peep under the canvass. In the melee several persons were seriously injured, and one young man named Heath died from the effects of a blow on the head. The showman was all full of his own wisdom, and so far from being the assailant of Heath has been found.

Odd Fellows Reunion.
The Odd Fellows annual celebration takes place on the 22nd. The members of the order in this city seem to be making extraordinary efforts to make this what they advertise it—the Grandest Reunion ever held in the State. They are receiving encouraging letters from various cities in different states, and the indications are that an immense crowd will be in attendance. Messrs.
Troy Porter, of Paris Ill., Charles Washington, of Terre Haute, and Benjamin Thomson, G. M. of the State of Indiana will be the orators of the day. The procession will form at the Hall on East Wash. street, will march West to Meridian South on Meridian to Union Depot, North on Ills. to Ohio, East on Union to Merid. North on Merid. to Wash.
East on Ohio to Delaware, North on Delaware to Exposition Hall.

Notice.
There will be a meeting held at the Immaculate Hall, 1154 E. Wash. street, next Friday eve., for the purpose of forming a problem body of the Temple of Industry. The public is invited to attend and get an idea of the object of this institution.

Deservingly Popular.
It is only a few days since the news flashed over the wires announcing the laying of the last rail on the Denver extension of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway and the receipt on it has met at the hands of people seems a fair criterion of the immense popularity justly enjoyed by this great corporation. This wonderful popularity of the Great Burlington Route has been fairly earned and acquired and in the recent history of the world no improvement during the past fifteen years it stands at the head. Among the most valuable of modern

THE WEDDING OF SHON MACLEAN

BY ROBERT BUCHANAN.

At the wedding of Shon Maclean
"Twas wet and windy weather" Yet 'twas the wind and the rain That came twenty Pipers to cheer:
Each and Douglas, Dhu, Sandy of Isla, too,
Each with his bonnet of blue,
Tartan and blackcock feather:
And every Piper was foun,
Twenty Pipers together!

The knot was tied, the blessing said, Shon was married the feast was spread,
At the head of the table sat, huge and hoar, Sandy of Isla, a fine four score, Whiskered, gray as a Hecker's seal,
And clad in crimson from head to heel, Genually round him in their places Gathered the men of ministration, The keepers, gillies, lads and ladies, Mingling voices and jingling glasses,
At soup and laughter, at roast and boiled, Awhile the happy gathering sojourn'd, While Shon and Jean at the table ends Shook hands with a hundred of the friends—Each came a hush, then the open door A wee bright-room flashed on the floor—
The construction of the bride and groom, With ailm soft knees, like the knees of a maid,
And he took a glass, and he cried out plain:
"I wish to the health of Shon Maclean!"
To Shon the Piper and Jean his wife, Each with a glass in his hand, Then out the slips and each man sprang To his feet, and with "Booch" the chambers sang!

"Clear the tables!" shrieked out one—
"A scran—and it was done!"
And the Piper all in a row Tuned their pipes and began to blow, Sandy of Isla and Enoch Moore, Dougal Dhu from Kiltanna shore, Foyal on the company on the floor
At the wedding of Shon Maclean.

At the wedding of Shon Maclean
Twenty Pipers together
Stood up while all their train Cried to clatter and blither:
"We'll be a'wa' with ye, ye bairns, First in their pipes they blew, Mighty of bone and they,
Kedcock'd, with lunge of feather:
And every Piper was foun,
Twenty Pipers together!

Who led the dances? In pomp and pride The Duke himself led the train, Great was the joy of each beholder,
For the wee Duke only reached her shoulder;
And they danced and turned when the reel began.

Like a thistle and a fairie man But like an earthquake was the din When Shon himself led the Dukes in And the Duke himself led the train Like a white mouse dancing with a bear!
So trim and tiny, so slim and sweet, His blue eyes winking and his feet With a smile that could not be resisted, He led the dances, and he led the reel, Sandy of Isla led of the reel,
The Duke began it with ice and heel, Then all joined in amain.

Twenty Pipers raise 'em in a row, From equine shames to lame Kiltree, Their cheeks like crimson, began to blow,
At the wedding of Shon Maclean.

At the wedding of Shon Maclean
They blew with lunge of feather, And Dithames was the strain Those Pipers played together!
Maid with the mountain, and the Mighty of bone and they,
Each with the bonnet of blue,
Tartan and blackcock feather:
And every Piper was foun,
Twenty Pipers together!

HO FOR GREENCASTLE.

Union excursion and Picnic.

The Corinthian and Olive Baptist churches are making extensive arrangements for a joint excursion to Greencastle next Thursday, June 15. They will be met at that point by a party of excursionists from Terre Haute, and all will picnic together. Hon.
J. S. Hinton, Rev. W. H. Anderson, of Terre Haute, and others will deliver addresses.
The Ladies' quartette will accompany the excursionists, and will render some of their best selections on the grounds. Round trip tickets will be sold to adults for $1.00; children under twelve years 60c.; the train will leave the Union Depot at 7 o'clock A.
M. and return at 5 o'clock P. M. Both churches will give festivals in the evening.
Every thing necessary for the comfort and pleasure of the excursionists will be on the ground. The following generous contributors to the committee of arrangements: Rev. A. Simmons, C. A. Webb, Rev.
Vertrees, R. D. Linder, R. W. Wells and J.
B. Howard.

Dayton, Ohio.
Stag dinners are becoming very popular in Dayton.
Mrs. Newton Lucas is convalescing from her recent illness.
Miss Josephine Thomas of Maplewood is visiting Miss Nannie Lee.
Rev. Cyrus Turner of Janssdown preached at the Baptist Church Sabbath morning.

Mr. George Hartwell looks sad and forlorn since that stone has rolled beyond his reach.
An African prince named Remmie Oulter has just returned the 10th District school to be educated.

Toussaint does not yet belong to the army of Bismarck, his heart, however, is in a proper condition to be pierced by Cupid's dart.
Cards are out for the wedding of Mr. Charles Smith, of the Phillips House, and Miss Lillie T.
Stewart, of Paris Ky., on the 15th of June.

Rev. Henderson, of the Delaware A. M. E.
Church, assisted Rev. T. W. Maxwell in conducting his communion services last Sabbath.

Frank Tisdal a pupil of the Tenth District school is seriously prostrated with very strong symptoms of paralysis and mental derangement.

Chas. Carter has returned from an extended tour through Pennsylvania and Virginia.
Charlie says there is nothing like traveling if you've got the cash.

Mr. Franklin Hargo, a graduate from the law department of the State University at Ann Arbor, Mich., is spending a few weeks in Dayton, on the Green St. Day. He expects to leave soon for Arkansas to enter upon the practice of his profession.

The entertainment given for the benefit of Mr. Harry Woods, who recently lost his sight, was a success, and netted him a handsome sum.
The entertainment, we are informed, was provided by Messrs. James A. Albert, Malory, John Buckner and George Williams. Such disinterested benevolence will ultimately reap its reward.

Last Wednesday night a party was given at the residence of Miss Susie Duncan, by the Young People's Society. In honor of Miss Agnes Stone, who was to leave on the midnight train for Detroit. The party surpassed in eclat and brilliancy any which the society has heretofore given since its organization.
The entire party accompanied her on the train to Third street, then followed the farewell kisses, and the world-come tears usual on such occasions. The question now arises, what will be the amount of "Patience."

We copy the following paragraph from the West African Reporter, a newspaper published at Sierra Leone, April 15th:
"Rev. D. C. Phillips, corresponding secretary of the Board sustaining the Sienny mission, who arrived here last January, and has been looking after the mission, has been dismissed in the barque 'Monrovia' on Wednesday last. Rev. Mr. Phillips, Albert Malory, for New York. They took with them a son of the late King of Shengay."

The above-named missionaries went from Dayton to Africa about eleven years ago under the auspices of the United Brethren Church, and have been engaged in a noble work ever since. Mainly through the labors of Mr. Gomer, the father of the late king was converted to Christianity, and afterward issued an edict permitting the establishment of missions and schools throughout his dominions. In the meantime a young African, D. F. Wilberforce, was sent out from the mission to America to be educated; he entered the Dayton public schools, passing with ease through the Grammar and Intermediate grades into High School from which he graduated about three years ago with special honors for his deportment and scholarship. He afterwards returned to his native land, where he is now successfully engaged in preaching to his people; besides, he holds the position of Superintendent of the
