PREPARING TO MAKE A SEPARATE PEACE

IS REPORTED FROM PETROGRAD TO BE INTENTION OF AUSTRIA

FRANCIS JOSEPH'S EMPIRE HAS BEEN BADLY MAULED AND PROBABLY WANTS TO QUIT THE FIGHT

Petrograd, April 2.—While reports that Austria has made advances to Russia through neutral channels for peace are unconfirmed officially, the newspapers of Petrograd devote much space to the story. The report states that Russia has replied that terms must be made known to the British and French governments before the czar's government would consider them.

A battle is reported progressing at Baligrad, northeast of Lupkow.

The Austrians advancing toward Chotin have been routed and are fleeing across the frontier into Bukovina. Austrian troops in Bukovina are being withdrawn and sent to the Carpathian front.

FOREIGN MINISTER OF BRITAIN IN FRANCE

London, April 2.—The departure of foreign minister Sir Edward Grey caused intense surprise today. His absence is designated as a "vacation," it is reported he is going to Paris to confer with the French Foreign Minister Delcasse and the Russian ambassador over important and unexpected developments just arisen. Among these is mentioned the Petrograd report that Austria is on the point of suing for peace. Another report is circulating that near eastern affairs and the future status of Constantinople will be discussed.

AUSTRIA WILL STAND BY HER ALLY

Washington, April 2.—"Austria and Germany will fight together until they make peace together," declared the Austrian embassy today, answering the reports that Austria is preparing to negotiate a peace with Russia.

BABY PRICE

Sunday afternoon, March 28th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Price, taking away their darling baby girl, Violet Juanita, aged one year and four months. Everything was done that anxious parents could do, but to no avail. God saw fit to pluck the flower and transplant it to heaven.

The funeral services were conducted by Capt. H. W. Henry, whose discourse was fraught with sympathy and condolence for the grief-stricken family.

Her death has left a vacancy in the hearts and home of the parents that can never be filled.

Oh, blessed sleep; soothed to rest on the bosom of him who said "Suffer the little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Dear parents, look up; your darling is not dead, but only gone a little while before and is now happy in heaven. May she beckon us and may we sweetly follow. She was a precious rosebud and her sweet life had so entwined its cords around the hearts of those who knew her that they were hard to be broken. Though only a little child she left many sad hearts to mourn her absence. She was too precious to live here so the Lord took her to his mansion in heaven. So, weep not, sorrowing ones, as those who have no hope for you can go to her.

She leaves a father, mother, two sisters and five brothers to mourn her death. May the God of all comfort and console them in their sore trial. One Who Loved Her. Oklawaha, March 29.

ON THE WAY HOME

RUNAWAY JUNE PICTURE COMPANY HAS SAILED FROM BERMUDA

Bermuda, W. I., April 2.—"Runaway June" has run away home and all the young subalterns of the British garrison here as well as the "winter boys" at the hotels are in mourning. During the five weeks of their stay on these beautiful islands they were the life of the place. They organized all sorts of athletic contests and unique entertainments and not the least interesting things they did were contained in the five episodes of the big George Randolph Chester photoplay serial which were produced here. These included all sorts of thrilling incidents.

When the steamer Bermudian pulled out of her pier it was aglow with the red dress coats of the officers and the merry Juners waved their farewells a great cheer went up from the military men and the guests of the hotels. The actors are thoroughly tanned from their constant exposure to our tropical sun. The last notable social event was the entertainment of the "Runaway Juners" by Capt. Grant-Suttie of "The Queen's Own" in his sumptuous residence. It was a brilliant affair—a dinner of forty-seven covers, supplemented by a dance.

The final or fifteenth episode in two reels will be produced immediately upon their arrival in New York on Monday. It will contain the solution of the many baffling mysteries in this interesting comedy-drama of the screen. There you will learn why June, the runaway bride was so relentlessly pursued by Gilbert Blye, "the man with the black Van Dyke," why she and the other members of Blye's party did so many amazing things and why poor Ned Warner, the deserted husband was kept in the dark as to the motives of all concerned. It will be a surprise indeed.

The pupils of this school did fine work this term, quite a number completing two grades during the session. Well they might as we have as fine and comfortable a house as is to be found in any country place.

At the closing exercises of the school two of the 10th grade pupils read papers written by them. Miss Gladys Hall's paper was the History of Orange Springs, which was very interesting, and Clarence Benson wrote the supposed future of Orange Springs, which we hope may some day be realized. Little Miss Eunice Motes won the prize for attendance, deportment and scholarship.

Mr. A. J. Apel came home Monday from St. Petersburg to spend a few days with his family.

The pupils of this school did fine work this term, quite a number completing two grades during the session. Well they might as we have as fine and comfortable a house as is to be found in any country place.

At the closing exercises of the school two of the 10th grade pupils read papers written by them. This medal contest is sure to be far-reaching in its influence, and always for good and for education along the lines where it is so sorely needed. Several friends of education attended from Ocala and Kendrick and all felt repaid by the masterful way in which the selections were delivered.

We wish to mention especially the untiring care and oversight of Prof. Jos. L. Wiley, without whose cooperation this could not have been carried out. He is always glad to welcome anything that will work for the betterment of his students. Miss Childress deserves special mention for her patient work in drilling the contestants in elocution. This will be repeated soon in Ocala and we hope that several of their white friends will go to hear how well the colored girls and young men can do.
