THE LINK IS BROKEN

ONE OF OCALA'S BIGGEST MEN HAS PASSED AWAY

In the death of Mr. George A. Carmichael, Ocala has lost one of her truly big men, and the community a valuable citizen.

There was nothing little about the man, and he did not deal in little ideas or little business matters.

He was one of the first advocates in Ocala of municipal ownership, and of the great good that he has accomplished for the city, in almost a quarter of a century of unbroken service on her board of alderman, this was one of the best of his works.

To him is also credited, while serving with Col. Livingston, the paving of the first street with lime rock in the city, and from those governmental affairs, less than two decades ago, he worked and pulled and boosted for bigger and broader and more liberal things for Ocala.

One had but to spend a few hours at the Carmichael home in the fourth ward last evening to see with what respect and esteem Mr. Carmichael was held by his countrymen.

During his several years of failing health, Mr. Carmichael suffered intensely at times. He was very patient through all of his sufferings. Every care that love and money could bring had been heaped upon him and the members of the big family vied with each other to minister to his wants—wife, son, granddaughters and son, great grandchildren, neighbors and friends, were always in attendance upon him in his spells of illness.

Up to yesterday afternoon when he passed so quietly away, there were five living generations of the Carmichaels, but now the link is broken.

Few people have ever seen a father and son as close to each other as Mr. Carmichael and his son, Ed. They have been chums and comrades all of the son's life.

and nothing was too good for either to the other, and the grief of the son over the separation that he is only beginning to realize, is scarcely less than that of his mother, who has lost her constant companion who has for a half century been all in all to her.

The funeral will take place from the residence at 10 o'clock tomorrow. Messrs. Melver & MacKay will have charge of the burial. The funeral sermon will be conducted by Rev. Bunyan Stephens, assisted by Rev. N. B. Plummer of Anthony, a relative.

All that is mortal of G. A. Carmichael rests in a beautiful silver gray couch-casket at his late home. Lovely flowers sent and brought from far and near already fill the room. The face is peaceful and looks just as if restful sleep had stolen upon the tired body.

TURKS BETTER THAN TEUTONS

SAILORS OF SUBMARINE SAVED PASSENGERS OF A BRITISH STEAMER

(Associated Press)

New York, Nov. 30.—A Turkish submarine stopped the British passenger ship Barules, in the Mediterranean, and after twenty-five had been drowned, helped to rescue many of the two hundred and fifty passengers who had gone overboard.

Mrs. Egan, who is a writer, was returning from a six months trip through southern Europe. She said panic on the Barules followed the appearance of the submarine.

The Barules, she said, carried only four boats, and had rescued the crew of the British steamer Sailor Prince with two boats a short time before. Passengers led by the crew rushed to the boats and many jumped overboard.

TOM WATSON'S TRIAL

AT AUGUSTA DRAGS ITS SLOW LENGTH ALONG

(Associated Press)

Augusta, Nov. 30.—Thomas E. Watson made his final plea for acquittal of the charge of sending obscene literature through the mails this morning and the prosecution prepared to close the arguments early this afternoon.

Watson charged that the government attorneys had attacked only what he wrote concerning the Catholic church. The government attorneys denied that the church had anything to do with it.

The judge stated the jurors were not to consider any so-called motive in bringing in their charge.
