You can make a lyre out of most any daily paper.—Boston Chron. Bulletin. Carpet Sweepers, the best ever made. A good send to the ladies—at J. C. Rash & Son's. Jersey Jackets, cheap and fine, knitted and plain for ladies, Misses and children, at Rash's. That lot of children's Hosiery at Rash's, left over from last year, worth from 50c to 75c, reduced to 25c, is interesting. "An Eye Opener" says the ticket on a Black Silk at Rash's for 75c worth $1.25. The eyes involuntarily fly open at the sight of it. Sometimes the husband of an actress is her master, and she is worth among actresses that a husband ever becomes his wife's manager.—E. The new and most desirable things in Straw Hats, are to be found at J. C. Rash & Son's. You can fit out your entire family from grand-pa down to little baby. No other store in this county keeps an assortment of dress goods for sale as large as J. C. Rash & Son's. You can rely on their style, their quality and their price. The grasshopper has proportionately increased in number and is doing the kicking power of more than its pay seldom imposes on a grasshopper. The soulless corporation knows whom to oppress.—Puck. We have some specialists in Boots and shoes, which we commend with great confidence to our customers. When in need of anything in this line, we would be pleased to have you call and examine our large stock. J. C. Rash & Son. Viewing our large stock of Dry Goods, and seeing to it that we have the front of our store or in the show windows, many people conclude that we do not carry groceries. We desire to have all people know that we do sell groceries, and sell them cheap. J. C. Rash & Son. Our line of all over Embroideries, Skirtings, insertions and wide and narrow edging—heavy, medium and fine, together with our fine line of dress fabrics in white and cream, with a choice selection of white silks, can hardly fail to be appreciated by all who look. An Irishman who was very nervous, about to stand a duel, decided that he should fight six paces nearer his antagonist than he did to him and that they should both fire at the same time. This being the case, the Irishman fired first and the other man fired at him outside of the chalk mark it was to go for nothing.—E. A charming young girl, accompanied by her octogenarian great-grandmother, who is all that the name implies, entered a Paris dress store. "How much is this ribbon?" she asks of the polite young clerk, who has bounded eagerly over several stools to reach the telling counter. "This ribbon," replied the young man, "is worth ten cents." "Give me ten yards," she said; "I'll give you ten cents." "I'll give you ten cents," she said; "I'll give you ten cents." "I'll give you ten cents," she said; "I'll give you ten cents." A man who has been running his business on the credit system was finally compelled to put his books in the hands of an expert. "How do you look over them," these accounts remind me very much of the far western plains. "How?" asked the merchant in surprise. "Very sparsely settled." "Then he took off his coat and brought in a bill of $100 for expert account system.—Merchant Traveler. Cash always commands the lowest prices. J. C. Rash & Son's store is the only place in Salina where you always get all the advantages of cash deals. All other stores sell goods on credit. Their wares are marked accordingly. They have to sell at prices somewhat uniform to save a row with their good credit customers. So when the cash customer goes into a credit store, he pays the long profit charged to the credit customer. J. C. Rash & Son have no credit customers. Our prices are not cash prices. All their customers have the benefit of all the bargains which an exclusively cash business alone can command. We solicit the patronage of the people on the basis of our making it to their interest to trade with us. Everything that we know of that can be made to enable us to please and benefit our customers has been done. Our stock includes almost everything needed in any family, except clothing, furniture and books. We have Dry Goods, Notions, Books, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Groceries, Crochets, Flour, Meal, Provisions, etc., etc. Our prices are selected with a careful, painstaking, conscientious vigilance, very unobtrusive among merchants. This vigilance applies both to the style and value of goods bought and to the prices paid for them. We are buying for spot cash, thereby securing all the special bargains and enjoying all the very lowest prices known to the trade. We sell no goods on credit to anybody, thereby saving book-keeping time and heavy losses. Our expenses are reduced to the minimum. All these savings we give to our customers, reserving only a small profit for ourselves. J. C. Rash & Son.

Robinson's circus on the 15th. "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" to-night. The wheat speculators are still "at sea." Rain?—well we should say so. Great plenty. The circus pictures are as gorgeous as the most gorgeous. Robinson's circus is to be in Salina on Saturday, May 16. The rivers have been high, but not nearly so high as was expected. The fruit bloom promises much. Will the prophecy be fulfilled? B. C. Polley is building a front addition to his Fifth street residence. A benefit was given at the Bank last evening for the Juvenile Band. The county commissioners closed their quarterly session last Wednesday. Mr. Geo. Seitz, of Ellisworth, was a guest of his Salina brother last Friday. Miss Amy Berks has returned from N. M., to remain in Salina for the future. Major Merrill started for New York last evening—to be absent on a two months' visit. The Salina & Southwestern now runs two passenger coaches. It is becoming a luxurious train. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Purcell arrived last Friday, and were warmly congratulated by J. J.'s army of friends. Mr. Joe Housman has given up his position in Mr. Bristol's barber shop and is engaged in the painting business. Hand grounds are put up quite extensively in the Opera House, as well as in a number of the business houses. Mr. Seitz's drug store—since the late improvements—is an elegant, profitable place, in which our citizens all take pride. Mr. A. C. Millard, agent of the Springfield Insurance Co., has opened an office in a front room of the Journal Block. Mr. Wm. Clark has the material on the ground and will erect at once a fine barn—24x32—upon his south Santa Fe lots. Miss Kittie Mazy, formerly of this city, and Mr. Nathaniel Steel, of Beloit, were married at Council Grove, April 15.—Independent. Decoration Day will be observed in the usual form in Salina. A committee appointed by the Salina Post has the matter in charge. The stallion Almswell, belonging to Mr. Cooper and valued at $2,500, died Sunday night. Considerable sickness among the horses is reported. Mr. Mark Putnam has let the contract for the erection of a $2,500 residence on his south Eighth street property, to Krueger & Hagau. Walter Vroman, the youthful phenologist who so astonished Salina people recently, has been lecturing to large audiences in Topeka. Mr. W. F. Adams, of Spencer county, Ind.—a cousin of Mr. J. M. Anderson—has arrived in Salina and will probably become a resident. Mr. Willis Keezer has just returned from a three weeks' visit to his old home in Indiana. He starts for Colorado to-day to engage in mining. McCoull & Wildman have sold 10 acres of land belonging to David Beebe, in the neighborhood of the Sharpe farm, to Mr. Robt. Markland. Price, $1,200. Salina seems to have outgrown the cottonwood tree. Its halcyon days are no more. The maple and the elm are rapidly supplanting the stately cottonwood. Mr. W. C. Addison has purchased 2 lots, 150x75 feet, in Beebe's Addition, lying south of Mr. D. Whitehead's property on Santa Fe. Consideration $1,200. Messrs. R. P. Craves and J. A. Brant start for New Orleans next Monday, with the intention of seeing all there is to be seen upon the Exposition grounds. Mrs. Hodge, of Abilene, quite captivated her Salina audience in the opera of the "Larks." She possesses a cultured voice, which it is the greatest pleasure to hear. A hunting dog recently belonging to Lord Othorphe, of Denver, is in the possession of Mr. Wagstaff, which the latter gentleman says is valued at not less than $20. Miss Sadie Ely, an estimable young lady, died of pneumonia last Saturday, at the age of about 15 years. The funeral services took place on Sunday at the M. E. Church. The Kansas City Journal's Topeka correspondent reports that Tom Cavannah made $25,000 last year in railroading, and that he is already a political leader out there. Mr. Ed. Wittmann started on his European trip last Sunday. In company with Mr. Samuel Rothchild he will sail from New York for Bremen next Saturday morning. We are pleased to hear that the number of water rentals has been greatly increased this spring. If we remember correctly, there are some 150 additional water takers. The Cadet Band will proceed at once to erect a band stand on the south wall of the New York store, and will then give an open-air concert two evenings in each week. Mr. W. R. Gels celebrated his 42d birthday at his pleasant home last Tuesday evening. A large company of his friends was present and a most delightful evening was spent. Delicous tickets at low rates will be given to the annual meeting of the German Baptists, to take place at Mexico, Pa., on May 23d. The round fare from Kansas City will be $25. We understand that the "Larks" entertainment is to be repeated in Salina about two weeks hence, and that on the evening following the entertainment they will appear in Junction City. Miss Emma R. Bristol, sister, will arrive in Salina this afternoon. She will be found at Dr. Houser's drug store tomorrow morning, with her usual choice selections of plants, flowers, etc. The postoffice officials of Salina are being complimented for closing the front door of the postoffice until the mail has been all distributed last Sunday. It is reported to work well, and will be a great improvement.

The "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" is to be presented to-night at the Opera House. The Salina orchestra has been engaged. Doubtless there will be a good attendance, as the prologue to the Salina Post. The Brookville Transcript says that two large houses are being built on Eden Farm; also that the farm has upon it 150 head of horses, 1,100 head of cattle and that 30,000 bushels of corn was raised last year—all to be fed upon the place. We are indebted to Mr. L. H. Hole for Manicott papers, check full of the Bell rebellion news. We infer from the receipt of these papers that Mr. Hole is either summering in that far-away cold country, or taken a command under Reil. The jury in the case of the state vs. Wm. Tolle—the defendant being charged with the slaying of a religious meeting—returned a verdict of guilty. Justice Wellington's fine was one dollar and costs. The defendant has given notice of an appeal. Thunder, lightning and hail last evening. A gale of Mr. J. T. Hayward's residence was struck by lightning and somewhat shattered. Mr. Hayward's family was not conscious of the stroke, and it was only this morning that the damage was discovered. The "Outdoors" of Salina engage with the baseball boys of "All West," at Brookville, to-day. $50 a side has been put up. The game is to take place in the western part of town if the weather is favorable, quite a number of Salina people will witness the game. Messrs. McConnell & Wildman have placed a post surmounted by a lamp in front of their office building, and on the lamp neatly painted are signs which tell where you can get your land sold and bring its full value, as well as many other things too numerous to mention. We have firmly believed from the beginning that the change of the politics of the Herald would result in increasing the number of Democrats in Salina county. We are yet entrenched in this belief, for Bro. Davis, of the Herald, reports a young Democrat arriving in his family Tuesday night. "Hailings on the hills" are congratulatory to the happy father. Mr. G. W. C. Rohrer, the new editor of the Abilene Gazette, was in town Thursday—a guest of his old friend Dr. Tobey. Mr. Rohrer was once a Salina resident, and believes in Salina yet. He commenced issuing a fine evening paper on Monday. He assumes the care and responsibility of editorial life without hesitation, and with a determination to win. Miss Amy J. Berks, who has been on a prolonged visit to her sister and brother, Mal. John W. Berks and Frank W. Berks, left clerk at the Santa Fe depot, departed for her eastern home on Thursday evening. Berks has made many warm friends in Abilene, quite a number of whom escorted her to the depot to bid a final adieu. Miss Berks and her sister Miss Fannie were exceptionally the best roller skaters in town.—Abilene Reporter (N. M.) Journal. The Bates Lockwood touring Kansas does not seem to have been much of a success. A society in Clay Center lost $50 on her lecture, and she has been getting fits from Dan to Beebe for the poor quality of the lecture which she delivers. She may do better for President, but she can't enlighten the denizens of the great river valleys of Central and Western Kansas. Mr. L. G. Denton, an old citizen of Salina county and at one time county commissioner, left for Ft. Smith, Ark., last Monday, with the intention of making his future residence in that city. Ft. Smith, he reports, has about 12,000 inhabitants, has electric light and street cars, and is blessed with an astonishing boom. The best wishes of many citizens will attend L. G., and all hope he will do well in his new location. The storm of last week seems to have done a great deal of damage in various portions of the county. Among the sufferers not reported in our account of the storm last week are Mr. Wm. Shaw, in Ohio township, who lost the roof to his house. Mr. A. C. Millard, of the same locality, whose sheds and house were badly injured, and Mr. Tom Bacon, whose carriage was entirely destroyed and had a calf killed. Mr. Millard's property was insured in the Springfield. MARRIED—At Salina, April 29th, 1885, Mr. Geo. Hereford and Miss Lillie E. Clarkson, Rev. Wm. Bishop officiating. This young couple, under very favorable auspices, start out upon the voyage of life. Mr. Hereford has a very fine reputation for capacity and business. Miss Clarkson is well known here as a young lady of culture and many accomplishments. May blessings, prosperity and long life go with them and gentle breezes may them safely to the "Shining Shore." Mr. Hiller has in his possession a good photograph of chain armor recently brought to light from one of the mounds near Lindsay, by one of the professors of Bethany Academy. The armor seems nearly complete but heavily coated with rust. There is some speculation as to the era to which it belongs. It may have been a contemporary of the famous "bullet-proof" armor of Coronado may have been buried there—armor and all. Some wearied Spanish cavalier, disgusted with Kansas wild, may have cast it away. If it, however, a valuable relic, and will probably reside in the museum of Bethany Academy. On Saturday last Fred Shalk driving home with his wife and child, attempted to cross the Mulberry at what is known as the Nash crossing, the bridge near there being washed away by the high water. Having proceeded a little way in the stream, the wagon bog was lifted up and floated away, nearly overturning. Mr. Shalk saved himself by catching to some willows, but not before he had been drawn under the water by his wife who was in a swooning condition. A willow clump saved himself and wife, but the child was washed away and drowned, being nearly discovered about 40 rods below, clinging to grass. One horse was also drowned, the other leaping from the stream with no harness except collar and bridle. The little child was aged 15 months. The funeral took place Sunday.

The city council met Monday night. The Mayor appointed Wm. Hogben Chief of the Fire Department, which appointment was confirmed. A motion to amend the ordinance increasing the width of sidewalks, as well as a motion to repeal the ordinance, was lost. The request of the Cadet Band that they be allowed to build a band stand on the south side of the New York store was granted. The finance committee was authorized as a special committee to contract with the Water Company for three hydrants, as follows: One at the corner of Adams Fe and Prescott avenues, and the other two on South street—with the proviso that the water company give one year's rental of the hydrants free from the time the same are put in use. The street committee was authorized to purchase the necessary tools for the street commissioner. The marshal was instructed to enforce the ordinance relating to the obstruction of sidewalks. Building permits were granted by C. E. Conrad and Chas. Holzgasser. On the 19th inst., a young man giving his name as Geo. Miller—aged about 25 years—purchased a draft for $5 at the Salina Bank—payable to Frank Miller, Wichita. Leaving Salina, he went to Russell. He bought at the Russell Bank a $2 draft, and in about half an hour presented the Salina Bank draft, which had been raised to $3,000—by payment. The appearance of the draft very naturally excited the suspicion of the President of the Russell Bank, and of course he did not cash it, but immediately telegraphed the circumstances to Mr. Miller, the cashier of the Salina Bank, who wired back to have the party arrested. Meanwhile the fugitive had gone on to Hays City, and while there presented the Russell Bank draft raised to $2,000. The fellow was arrested by the sheriff of Ellis county in the act of presenting the draft at Hays. He is now held for trial at the May term of the District court. If convicted of the two charges, his sentence will be 2 1/2 years in the Penitentiary. He was certainly a bold fellow but hardly smart enough to carry his point. From papers found in his pocket it was discovered that his real name is E. W. Negley. He had in his possession several receipts for lodge dues from Riverside Lodge No. 250 A. F. & A. M., signed by T. K. French. It does not appear from the receipts where the lodge is located. The Russell Record states that Negley called upon Spencer Bros., real estate agents of that city, and stated that he desired to purchase some land. He represented that he came from Wichita; that he had recently sold a farm in Sedgewick county for $5,000, and with the proceeds wanted to invest in cheap lands. He was driven to the country and shown a half section, with which he seemed to be highly pleased—and all—and was anxious that the sale and transfer be consummated at once. He drew from his pocket a draft, issued by a bank at Salina on Kansas City for the sum of $3,000. The Spencer Bros., after looking at the draft, thought it had been altered, and told him to go to the Bank and have it cashed. "Superb!" they all pronounced it. And still was. We refer to the entertainment of the "Larks." A "Lark" is a bird which is supposed to be highly intelligent in its appearance of the day of the morning sun. The word also means "a fool." "A jolly one." "What Larks!" exclaims Dickens. Well, we will take the latter meaning; for all who attended the performance of our own "Larks" really had a jolly, jolly time, and those who were on the stage certainly indulged in a frolic of the merriest kind. Salina citizens justly take pride in this by far the best of the home entertainments ever given in this city. The halves of the guild of the Epworth society, presiding over the hilarious lack of presenting to the citizens of Salina this opera, and are in the first instance deserving of credit. The services of Prof. and Mrs. Evans were secured for the arduous and indeed, the most admirable those who participated in the opera, and the personal sacrifices they made to make it a success, are much to be commended. The leading roles were all exceptionally good, and the parts well supplied. General Hunter, the retired Mexican war veteran, in voice and gesture well represented by J. D. Wilcox, Esq., "Lillian," the daughter, and "Arabella," her cousin, were superbly represented in volume, costume and stage presence respectively, by Mrs. J. E. Sawyer, of Salina, and Mrs. Herbert J. Hodge, of Abilene. Not a little was the success of both evening entertainments due to the cultured voices of these accomplished ladies. "Lord Zephyr"—of the true Dundry type—found his counterpart and rival-to-life second-self in Mr. T. L. Bond. The sculptor in search of a model for "My Lord" would certainly have stopped and got out of his chair as he struck "T. L." on Thursday and Friday evenings. The soldier in camp in his rich regimentals and justly called to duty, was well represented in every respect by Mr. J. E. Sawyer. All the requirements of the "Village Doctor"—who is ever ready to prescribe, whether the malady be fever, nonquiescence, or "love," were found in Mr. R. A. Lovitt. "Jean," the French Valet of Lord Zephyr—always on the alert for "My Lord's" interests—appeared in the person of Mr. Jacob De Witt. Mr. Harry Nickles certainly made a most happy hit as the general Tom, colored servant of Gen. Hunter. He was one of the most popular of the singers. His song "Oh! to be a happy man" while he stands guard, showed that he possessed a superior voice. The duet—"Since first we met," the chorus of the Salina "Summer Song" and the "Yes, for this alone" are deserving of special mention. The chorus, which was excellent in every respect, was composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: Mrs. E. E. Nickles, Mrs. L. W. Hains, Misses Jennie Wright, Nettie Spivey, Millie Keiser, Marie Loring, Maud Spencer, Mary Campbell, Mamie Pierre, Belle Dalby, Edith Sampson; and Messrs. Perkin, J. W. Wellington, Crowthers, H. C. Davis, Fred Smith, A. Deibel, Nathaniel, Henry Putnam, R. Poole. On both evenings the weather was bad, and especially on Friday evening, when the rain came down in torrents. Notwithstanding the rain there were good houses each evening, and the singing was especially on the steamer's deck, to view the crumbling castle, the vine-clad hills and listen to the legends which are as numerous as the castles and ous delighted auditors to those who had accomplished signal victories in "flights of song." The ladies of the Guild who had worked so perseveringly for the production of the entertainment were rewarded partially by a very handsome profit of $100, which is to be expended in chief towards the purchase of a new carpet for their church.

Quite a little gathering of citizens took a ramble through Europe last Tuesday evening, with Rev. A. J. Kissell as director. It was the quickest trip on record, and about the pleasantest. The party left the pier at New York in July, and were taught all the terrors of sea-sickness without actually experiencing them, promenade up and down the breezy decks, witnessed the awful, billowy mountains advancing as if to engulf the ship and its precious burden, sailed pleasantly up the English channel, sped rapidly to London, took a hasty view of Westminster Abbey, the Parliament buildings, the Tower, the British Museum, the National Gallery, not forgetting Madame Tassaud's wax works; again on the channel and off in the twinkling of an eye to bright, sparkling, cheery Paris, with its Champs Elysee, its triumphal arches, its Louvre, Luxembourg, Pantheon, Notre Dame, Column Vendome, and tomb of Napoleon; off again through the pleasant valleys of France into the snows of the Alps, through Mount Cenis Tunnel to Turin; then to Genoa, the Superb; then tunneling through the Apennines to Pisa with its leaning tower and baptistry, then off to Civita Vecchia—the home of seas and squalor, thence skirting by the Yellow Tiber to Rome, mighty Rome. There we tarry a while to gaze over the splendid relics of the past: the temples, the Colosseum, the Pantheon, the Appian way—then off to the Vatican with its treasures of art, and the great basilica, St. Peter's, the home and last resting place of Michael Angelo—the noted seat of art, refinement and culture;—then we dash across a causeway right into the Adriatic, and enjoy the calm quiet beauty and untried life of the city in the sea—queen of the Adriatic. We are now in Milan, to admire for a moment "The Last Supper" of Da Vinci and the famous cathedral, and then enjoy a sail on the pleasant waters of Maggiore. Slowed away in the quaint old diligences we commence the trip through the Swiss Alps and slide down into the little village of Brig. From here we make excursions to the various lofty Alpine summits, from whence we view the grandest panoramas on earth. At Chamouny and Mont Blanc we mount the diligence for Geneva, leaving the land of eternal snows and avalanche. We visit pleasantly in the charming lake region, tarry a moment in quaint old delightful Bern and Lucerne, view the falls of the Rhine, and then rush off through a fine pastoral country to take the steamer at Mayence for a trip down the Rhine. On a pleasant, sunny day we are seated easily on the steamer's deck, to view the crumbling castles, the vine-clad hills and listen to the legends which are as numerous as the castles and
