Lindborg has pulled through the depressed times in better condition than in Kansas, and with the revival of business generally will prosper as never before. New business enterprises will come, and in fact we'll get right on the high road to prosperity. Such are the present indications and with the proper inducements by our citizens even more can be accomplished than here outlined. No town in Kansas is in a more substantial base, and none has as rich surroundings. And right here let us add, that men with capital can nowhere find an opportunity for safe and profitable investments as can be secured in this city and vicinity at the present time.

D. WHITEHEAD. IS R. J. B. WHITEHEAD. It is best to be on the safe side. "For want of nail, the shoe was lost. For want of shoe, the horse was lost. And all for the want of a horse-shoe nail." If there is any business where the importance of little things is almost every day forced on the attention, that business is farming. Many a farmer knows from sad experience what it is to lose some, if not all of his crop, not from bad weather, but from a machine that looked well in a warehouse, but failed to work in a field. The best precaution against disaster in harvest time is a Deering Binder or Mower.
