

Were it not for the fact that candidates upon the local Republican ticket had the backing of an enormous campaign fund—were they running wholly upon their merits and the justice of their cause, as the Democratic candidates, being men of moderate means, are compelled to run—there would be no doubt of the result of the local election in Summit county next Tuesday.

A week ago the DEMOCRAT told the people that the candidates upon the Republican county ticket had at their personal service a campaign fund crowding closely upon $10,000. Every cent of this fund represented money unworthily taken from the people of Summit county through the defeat of the Russell Salary bill—a bill which the Republican convention two years ago had pledged its nominees to support and for whose passage two thousand prominent Republicans of Summit county had petitioned.

A vote for the Republican county ticket next Tuesday will be a vote to continue the payment of exorbitant salaries to county officials and an endorsement of the underhand methods by which the Russell Salary bill was defeated. Success this fall will strengthen the Machine politicians in their ability to defeat the wishes and the interests of the people.

Nothing but the overwhelming defeat of the Machine candidates will teach the politicians in control that there is a limit to the wrongs and indignities to which the citizens of Summit county will submit.

Rebuke the Machine by supporting the Democratic county ticket.

THE LAST EXPEDIENT.

Probate Judge Anderson has abandoned all hope of getting Republican votes and is bending his whole efforts to getting Democratic votes.

The sole issue upon which the Judge and his organ are begging for votes in the closing days of the campaign, to the exclusion of all other issues and the interests of all other candidates, is that he will appoint a certain Democrat to the office of Commissioner.

Meanwhile the Republican candidates for Commissioner, who have been promised, only to be turned down; the Democratic candidates who will be willing to stand by the interests of the people through thick and thin if appointed Commissioner; and the thousands of independent citizens of both parties who are disgusted with Judge Anderson's desperate attempts to build up a personal political Machine at the expense of the city's best interests, are going to vote solidly against Judge Anderson next Tuesday.

Judge Anderson has played his last trump. It will fail.

"Jones and Labor—His Sucker Rod Company is a Non Union Shop—Jones Opposed the Unionizing of It—How Does It Tally With Mr. Jones' Professions of Friendship for Workingmen?" Under the above scare heading the Beacon printed a long article last night to convince Republican Union workingmen that they are making a mistake when they vote for Mayor Jones. This is demagogic, pure and simple. Ask the men of the Street Railway Union and kindred labor organizations of Akron how much love the Beacon has for organized labor when it is not engaged in a political campaign? A paper that does not carry the union label itself because of its persistent antagonism to the principle of organized labor, should not pick flaws in the labor record of others—not even Jones, whom the Beacon used to account a pretty good Republican.

In CONVERSATION with an old soldier friend this week, Chairman Stuart, of the Republican Executive Committee, remarked that he had never tried to turn the Board of City Commissioners into a political machine while holding the office of Probate Judge." Any of Judge Stuart's many warm friends in Summit county will cheerfully testify that this is a fact. But what out of them has said as much for Judge Anderson? Mr. Dobson's paper is the only authority that has given Judge Anderson a certificate of non-interference in the affairs of Akron. Against the testimony of such prominent Republicans as ex-City Commissioner Jos. Huggill, Senator J. Park Alexander, chairman of the Citizens' Committee of Fifty, and many other public spirited members of the Citizens' Committee—all of whom have insisted upon one occasion or another that Judge Anderson has been a dictator—the testimony of the Dobson paper does not count.

JUDGE ANDERSON seems to imagine that he is the only candidate upon the Republican county ticket this fall. The interests of all other candidates are being sacrificed or subordinated by the Judge and the Dobson paper to give the Judge a second term. The Republican organization is being demoralized by Judge Anderson's selfish truckling to the friends of a Democrat whom the Judge is trying to retain in office at all hazards. An official who makes it a practice to give his own party only indifferent support, but who is constantly trimming in his official conduct as a means of bidding for the support of members of the opposite party, sooner or later comes to grief. Indications are that Judge Anderson is scheduled to be shelved by his party next Tuesday.

REPUBLICAN politicians are continuing the cry that they want Mr. McKinley endorsed when it is already certain that he cannot be endorsed. Even if Judge Nash should be elected by a small plurality they could not claim it as an endorsement of the administration. The presidential policies are only on trial in presidential or congressional years. The claim of Mr. Hanna's crew of office-seekers that the president is on trial in every election this year, whether it be for state or county officers or road supervisors, is the last cry in behalf of an expiring and hopeless cause. If ever despairing politicians tried to force absurd and foreign issues upon the people, it has been done by Mr. Hanna's managers in this campaign.

IT WILL be remembered that in the campaign last spring, when they felt themselves losing ground, the friends of Mr. Arthur J. Rowley circulated a petition asking the Republicans of Akron to vote for Mr. Rowley on the strength that it would be "holding up the hands of President McKinley."

Some of Judge Anderson's friends are appealing for votes for the Judge upon the same issue in this campaign. For fear that they might have overlooked the fact the DEMOCRAT reminds them that Mr. Rowley came within 850 votes of carrying Akron.

AT ITS Dayton convention last spring, the League of Ohio Republican clubs adopted the following resolution:

"We declare our uncompromising hostility to trusts and combines and call upon the good people of the state, regardless of party, to hold up the hands of Attorney General Munnell in his vigorous efforts to secure the enforcement of the law."

Attorney General Munnell got just one vote in Mr. Hanna's convention. That was the way the "good people" upheld his hands. What will the League of Republicans do about it?

When Mr. McKinley held up the Florida purchase as a shining example of imperialism, he knew that his treaty contained no such reservation of rights for the people of his to-be-conquered territory; on the contrary, he knew that such a provision would be quite inconsistent with the plans of the exploiters who make up his foreign policy.

Similar reference was made by the President, in the tour of his hippodrome, to the territory acquired by us as a result of the Mexican war, in 1848. He perhaps forgot,—at all events, he failed to mention, one or two things to be found in the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

"ARTICLE VIII. * * * Those who shall prefer to remain in the said territories may either retain the title and rights of Mexican citizens, or acquire those of citizens of the United States. * * *

"ARTICLE IX. "The Mexicans who, in the territories aforesaid, shall not preserve the character of citizens of the Mexican Republic, conformably with what is stipulated in the preceding article, shall be incorporated into the Union of the United States, and be admitted at the proper time (to be judged of by the Congress of the United States) to the enjoyment of all the rights of citizens of the United States, according to the principles of the Constitution; and in meantime, shall be maintained and protected in the free enjoyment of their liberty and property, and secured in the free exercise of their religion without restriction."

Mr. McKinley was dumb as to this treaty obligation which secured full American rights to all the Mexican in California and New Mexico in 1848, just as his treaty is silent as to the guaranteed and certain rights of the Filipino people, whom he calls "insurgents," but never citizens—present or prospective.

The Gadsden purchase of territory from Mexico, in 1853, was likewise dwelt upon by the president, as an example which ought to reconcile his hearers with his policy of shooting Americanism into the inhabitants of Luzon. He appears, however, not to have known, or to have forgotten,—for he said nothing of it,—that the Gadsden treaty contained this stipulation.

"ARTICLE V. "All the provisions of the eighth and ninth, sixteenth and seventeenth articles of the treaty of Guadalupe, Hidalgo, shall apply to the territory ceded by the Mexican Republic in the first article of the present treaty, and to all the rights of persons and property, both civil and ecclesiastical, within the same, as fully and as effectually as if the said articles were herein again recited and set forth."

And while Mr. President was thus reasoning from these treaties to his treaty, but suppressing the fact, running through all of them, of solemn covenants of equality of civil rights with us, and which makes his basis of analogy absolutely worthless, and in view of the policy pursued by his General Otis, of refusing even to receive or recognize any deputation from the Filipinos seeking an amicable solution of their disagreement with us, it would not have been entirely out of place for Mr. McKinley to tell his listeners the purport of another provision of this same treaty to which, among others, he so confidently appeals in justification of his policy of conquest:

"ARTICLE VII. "Should there at any future period (which God forbid) occur any disagreement between the two nations which might lead to a rupture of their relations and reciprocal peace, it shall be the duty of each to procure by every possible method the adjustment of every difference; and should they still in this manner not succeed, never will they proceed to a declaration of war with-licians who are disaffected will kindly call at the Probate Judge's office, they will be given a "promise." Mr. F. W. Rockwell, and a score or more of other prominent local Republicans, know that Judge Anderson can do his duty well in this particular line.

Two hundred and eighty-six of Akron's leading citizens and business men petitioned Judge Anderson to reappoint Mr. F. G. Stipe, an old soldier, to the Board of City Commissioners, but Judge Anderson turned him down at the end of his first term. The Machine has sought to get Mr. Stipe back into line by giving him the nomination for real estate appraiser from a ward in which he has no earthly show of election. This is the way of Machine politics.

The DEMOCRAT has it from good Republican authority that when Mr. C. S. Seese, the Republican candidate for Representative, was a candidate for delegate to the State Convention, he remarked, when asked whom he would support for Governor: "Any man who is good enough for Mr. Hanna is good enough for me." No wonder the Republican friends of Senator Foraker have organized in Summit county to invite Mr. Seese to stay out of the Legislature.

SOME of the Court House officials may have observed that Senator Alexander postponed his trip to the Sandwich Islands long enough to be in Akron to vote.

CAUTION TO OUR READERS In buying the remedy "To Cure a Cold in One Day," BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. READ THE NAME OF THE MANUFACTURER AND BE SURE OF THE SIGNATURE OF THE INVENTOR.

Between holding in line the colored men who are not going to vote for Nash; the Welsh voters who are going to vote for their countryman, Jones; and the Republican voters who are going to vote for Phelps, the Beacon is having an uphill time of it.

IF ANY of Summit county's Repub-

WHO IS THE DEMAGOGUE? Dr. G. W. Tucker

Eye, Ear, Nose, Voice and Throat

Cataracts Successfully Treated and Cured.

Glasses Fitted Scientifically. No Guess Work

A Few Dialectics Don't.

Don't annoy your friends while in church or society with that DREADFULLY OFFENSIVE BREATH—IT IS CATARRH.

Don't embarrass those seated near you by continually snuffing and trying to clear the nose or throat—IT IS CATARRH.

Don't allow those noises in the ear (head) to continue unheeded; they are nature's warning of approaching deafness.

I make the bold assertion that CATARRH CAN AND IS CURABLE and am able and willing to back what I say. CALL AND SEE.

Office, 126 South Main street. . . . Over J. W. Little.

ALLEN'S SURE CURE

For Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

This remedy is a most efficient blood purifier and will leave the system in splendid condition. Most cases will be cured by one bottle, but stubborn chronic cases may require from three to six bottles.

Price 50c per bottle

Manufactured by

The Allen-Clark Drug Co.

195 S. Howard st., corner Mill and Howard sts.

WINTER CARNIVAL.

Combination of the Annual Charity Ball and Linen Sale.

The Mary Day Nursery organization is now making active preparations for a great carnival to be held December 8 and 9 in Millant hall.

There will be on sale articles of every description, and all who are interested in this charity are requested to see the booths at this carnival before making their Christmas purchases. Entertainment and music will be provided for each afternoon and evening, and something new in the way of carnivals may be expected.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c

At the Grand.

The "Mikado" was repeated Friday evening at the Grand Opera house to a most discouragingly small audience. The cast was the same as before and the performance very good, with the exception of the personal jokes of Mr. Geo. Knowles, which were very numerous, and sometimes unkind. There will be a matinee Saturday afternoon.

The marvelous reproduction of the Passion Play will be given at the Grand Opera house Sunday evening. This will consist of two miles of moving pictures, showing the life of our Saviour, accompanied by sacred music. The prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents.

"A Country Merchant" McKee Rankin's clever play of life in a New England village, with the eminent Yankee comedian, Mr. Charles Cowles, in the star part, will be the attraction at the Grand on Tuesday night. Mr. Cowles promises a performance of particular merit, including many musical and specialty novelties, special scenery and a fine cast of supporting players.

Small wonder that Hoyt's latest farce, "A Day and a Night" amused metropolitan audiences. It is made up of chic and sparkling songs, Scotch and negro melodies and humorous situations, strung on a thread of a plot. There are three acts, the first showing the stage of a theatre during a rehearsal, the action in the other acts taking place in the music room of the manager of the theatre. At the Grand, Monday Nov. 7.

The Broadway Theatre Opera Co. noted for the excellence of its productions, will shortly present De Koven and Smith's comic opera success, "The Highwayman" in this city. Prominent in the cast is Mr. Arthur Deagon as Dick Fitzgerald. The following, quoted from the Toronto Globe, May 19th, 1898, in speaking of this company, says: "The honors of the evening were undoubtedly taken by Mr. Deagon, who, although previously unknown here, won a decided triumph as Dick Fitzgerald. He has a grand voice, and acts the part capitally. Historically he may be considered a better exponent of the part than his predecessor. All his principal numbers were sung with dash and spirit, and with a varying display of expression that followed closely the sentiment of the words. They were enthusiastically applauded and redemanded."

Railroad Changes. The following changes have re-

Ladies' Hair Dressing Parlor

MISS MEYER, EDMUND GLANTZ, Mgrs.

SPECIAL SALE OF SWITCHES AND POMPADOOR ROLLS.

Ladies' Hair Dressing Parlor

No. 111 Mill Street

Between Howard and Main sts. Tel. 889.

MILITARY DANCING ACADEMY

Beginners' Class Monday evenings, 8 o'clock; Advance Class Wednesday evenings, 8 o'clock. Private instructions by appointment. Music furnished for parties, etc. Hall can be rented for dances, concerts, etc. Call at Academy between 9 and 11 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. W. A. Barron, residence, No. 701 East Mill street.

cently been made in the officials of the C. A. & C. H. W. Byers, to be superintendent, vice J. J. Henry, transferred; S. E. Burke, to be engineer maintenance of way, vice F. H. Alred, resigned; J. J. Henry, to be trainmaster and road foreman of engines.

All three of the new officials will have their offices in the Bates residence, on Market street.

Winter in the South.

The season approaches when ones thoughts turn toward a place where the inconveniences of a Northern winter may be escaped. No section of this country offers such ideal spots as the Gulf Coast on the line of the Louisville & Nashville railroad between Mobile and New Orleans.

It possesses a mild climate, pure air, even temperature and facilities for hunting and fishing enjoyed by no other section. Accommodations for visitors are first-class, and can be secured at moderate prices. The L. & N. R. R. is the only line by which it can be reached in through cars from Northern cities. Through car schedules to all points in Florida by this line are also printed. Write for folders, etc., to Jackson Smith, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

READ DEMOCRAT ADS.

Ladies' Waists & Jackets

We have devoted much earnest attention to these two departments and wish to call your special attention to them.

Flannel Shirt Waists . . . $1 to $2.50

Jackets, in tan, blue and brown . $5 to $12

Watch our window to keep in touch with with the LATEST STYLES.

M. D. Brouse, Agent, THE TEMPLE 1, 0, 0, F. TEMPLE Main st.

During the hot season, Mr. McLean also sent a thousand pounds of ice every day to Camp Alger.

Yet this beneficent aid to the boys in blue has not been continuously flaunted before the eyes of the public.

Major Weybrecht detailed Lieut. W. O. Rutherford of Company B, a well known Akron young man, to call on Mr. McLean for the coveted articles.

Mr. McLean took Lieut. Rutherford to a tobacco store and said: "Now pick out what you want, and don't limit the quantity."

The soldier boys' benefactor assisted in selecting the good, and when the consignment was ready to go to camp, there were in it plug tobacco, finecut, smoking tobacco, pipes and cigars for all the boys in the Third battalion.

When the appreciated gift arrived, the boys all congratulated and gave three lusty cheers for John R. McLean.

John R. McLean Remembered Them While They Were In Camp Alger.

In June, 1898, while the Eighth Regiment, O.V.I., was stationed at Washington, D. C., John R. McLean visited the camp, and asked the boys what they wanted.

The boys intimated that some tobacco would fill a long-felt want, and so Mr. McLean said they should have all they wanted.

Major Weybrecht detailed Lieut. W. O. Rutherford of Company B, a well known Akron young man, to call on Mr. McLean for the coveted articles.

Mr. McLean took Lieut. Rutherford to a tobacco store and said: "Now pick out what you want, and don't limit the quantity."

The soldier boys' benefactor assisted in selecting the good, and when the consignment was ready to go to camp, there were in it plug tobacco, finecut, smoking tobacco, pipes and cigars for all the boys in the Third battalion.

When the appreciated gift arrived, the boys all congratulated and gave three lusty cheers for John R. McLean.

John R. McLean Remembered Them While They Were In Camp Alger.

In June, 1898, while the Eighth Regiment, O.V.I., was stationed at Washington, D. C., John R. McLean visited the camp, and asked the boys what they wanted.

The boys intimated that some tobacco would fill a long-felt want, and so Mr. McLean said they should have all they wanted.

Major Weybrecht detailed Lieut. W. O. Rutherford of Company B, a well known Akron young man, to call on Mr. McLean for the coveted articles.

Mr. McLean took Lieut. Rutherford to a tobacco store and said: "Now pick out what you want, and don't limit the quantity."

The soldier boys' benefactor assisted in selecting the good, and when the consignment was ready to go to camp, there were in it plug tobacco, finecut, smoking tobacco, pipes and cigars for all the boys in the Third battalion.

When the appreciated gift arrived, the boys all congratulated and gave three lusty cheers for John R. McLean.

John R. McLean Remembered Them While They Were In Camp Alger.

In June, 1898, while the Eighth Regiment, O.V.I., was stationed at Washington, D. C., John R. McLean visited the camp, and asked the boys what they wanted.

The boys intimated that some tobacco would fill a long-felt want, and so Mr. McLean said they should have all they wanted.

Major Weybrecht detailed Lieut. W. O. Rutherford of Company B, a well known Akron young man, to call on Mr. McLean for the coveted articles.

Mr. McLean took Lieut. Rutherford to a tobacco store and said: "Now pick out what you want, and don't limit the quantity."

The soldier boys' benefactor assisted in selecting the good, and when the consignment was ready to go to camp, there were in it plug tobacco, finecut, smoking tobacco, pipes and cigars for all the boys in the Third battalion.

When the appreciated gift arrived, the boys all congratulated and gave three lusty cheers for John R. McLean.

John R. McLean Remembered Them While They Were In Camp Alger.

In June, 1898, while the Eighth Regiment, O.V.I., was stationed at Washington, D. C., John R. McLean visited the camp, and asked the boys what they wanted.

The boys intimated that some tobacco would fill a long-felt want, and so Mr. McLean said they should have all they wanted.

Major Weybrecht detailed Lieut. W. O. Rutherford of Company B, a well known Akron young man, to call on Mr. McLean for the coveted articles.

Mr. McLean took Lieut. Rutherford to a tobacco store and said: "Now pick out what you want, and don't limit the quantity."

The soldier boys' benefactor assisted in selecting the good, and when the consignment was ready to go to camp, there were in it plug tobacco, finecut, smoking tobacco, pipes and cigars for all the boys in the Third battalion.

When the appreciated gift arrived, the boys all congratulated and gave three lusty cheers for John R. McLean.

John R. McLean Remembered Them While They Were In Camp Alger.

In June, 1898, while the Eighth Regiment, O.V.I., was stationed at Washington, D. C., John R. McLean visited the camp, and asked the boys what they wanted.

The boys intimated that some tobacco would fill a long-felt want, and so Mr. McLean said they should have all they wanted.