ARREST

Will be Made Soon.

Assailant of John Thurston Is Known.

An arrest will be made in the McGadore case in a few days.

Detective Burlison has information which he believes will lead to the detection of the assailant of John Thurston.

It was learned that the night of the assault Thurston had words with a young man over the loss of a $10 bill. Later Thurston was found, nearer dead than alive, in the Myers & Hall pottery. His head had been badly cut.

It is alleged that the young man, who is suspected, went to his home and told his mother that he "guessed he had fixed Thurston." She immediately started out and was the first to find the wounded man.

The surgeon who was called said that Thurston would have died had it been half an hour longer before he was discovered. As it is, he is still in a serious condition although there is now little doubt of his recovery.

SOMEBODY

high up in politics as he will ever get, Mr. Dick remarked:

"There will always be talk of this kind. When a man is succeeding in public life, you will always find some people who are always trying to retard his rise. Governor Roosevelt is a young man, and I believe that he will ever hold a warm place in the hearts of the people, and continue to rise in usefulness."

When spoken to about the burning down of Buchtel college, Mr. Dick said: "It is a great calamity to the city. I was infinitely sorry to hear of the fire, but trust that the college will be rebuilt."

Gen. Dick spoke of his enjoying life in Washington, but said there was nothing new in matter relating to Congress. Of the anti-imperialist resolution introduced by Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, he said: "I cannot tell what will become of it."

All day Mr. Dick has been receiving visits from friends and candidates. A. B. Critchfield, of Shreve, candidate for lieutenant colonel of the Eighth regiment, was among the visitors.

W. B. Gamble, of Akron, who wants to be steward of the Ohio penitentiary, was also a visitor. He took great encouragement from his talk with Mr. Dick, and said to a Democrat reporter, "I tell you that I'll get the appointment."

Concerning Mr. Gamble's appointment, Mr. Dick said: "I think he has a very fair chance."

BONDS.

People Will Vote on Question Again.

Commissioner A. T. Paige said today that the matter of issuing $10,000 bonds for securing better fire fighting facilities would be re-submitted to a vote of the people at next spring's primary election.

"I believe the destruction of Buchtel college Wednesday night will be an object lesson to the people and that their votes will be greatly influenced by it."

"Our calculation is to build a new engine house near the intersection of North Union st. and Buchtel ave.; also a new hose house in each the Third and Fifth wards. We would also put an aerial truck in No. 1 engine house, and would then be well prepared to fight fires in high buildings."

A society event, interesting to a large circle of Akron people, was the marriage Thursday afternoon at 2:30 of Miss Myrtle Louise Upham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Upham of 101 Oakdale ave., to Mr. Ford Hayes Laning. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home, in the presence of nearly 100 guests, by Rev. Dr. William Harper Rider of Cleveland, who used the beautiful Episcopal service.

Promptly at 2:30 the wedding party marched to the triumphant strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Minnie Heneberger, into the front parlor of the residence and took places near a pyramid-canopy of palms. The bride was gowned in crepe de chaine, trimmed in point lace and carried white roses. The bride's maid, Miss Johanna Laning, a sister of the groom wore white India silk and carried pink roses. Mr. Edward A. Upham, brother of the bride, was best man.

Ruins Smoldered.
