Pick Ruhlman to Win.

Is Said to be Wonderfully Clever Man.

Result of His Training With Corbett.

Palmer Was Up Against a Bad Combination.

Robbed of Well Earned Decision—Local Sporting News.

Gus Ruhlman and Tom Sharkey will meet tonight under the auspices of the Seaside Athletic club in a fight that is scheduled to go 25 rounds.

It is generally conceded that Ruhlman has improved wonderfully since his first meeting with the sailor. The question that bothers the sports is whether he has picked up enough science to keep away from Sharkey's terrible rushes.

All arrangements have been completed for the fight between Tom Sharkey, the former sailor, and Gus Ruhlman, at the Seaside club tonight.

Corbett, the former champion, and a man who is the most scientific boxer alive, is one of Ruhlman's strongest admirers.

Sharkey is one of the strongest fighters who ever stepped in the ring, as he showed in his last fight with the champion, when he stood the terrific punches of Jeffries for 25 rounds.

The better has made Sharkey the favorite at odds of 10 to 7. Up to the present time very little betting has been done.

The winner of the battle will be match-ed to meet Jeffries for the championship of the world.

Discussing the match today Ruhlman said "I have every confidence in my ability to beat Sharkey. His defeat of me in our last fight was a fluke.

Sharkey today had this to say: "I expect to beat Ruhlman. I don't know how long the fight will last, but my friends can depend upon my trying to win in the very first round if possible.

Martin Dowling, who, liked Sharkey's chances up to Thursday, has switched over to the Ruhlman side, and is ready to back the Akron giant.

Al Smith, who is a fond admirer of Ruhlman, has placed about $3,000 on his chances, and is ready to back him to the extent of $1,500 more.

Referee Malachy Hogan writes about the Sharkey-Ruhlman fight tonight as follows:

Old timers who have seen both men in the ring figure that if Sharkey fights in his usual manner Ruhlman, with his cleverness and hitting ability, will have an excellent opportunity of landing some hard ones, and it is generally conceded that he has a punch which can knock out any man it connects with.

Arc Your Kidneys Sick.

Here Is An Easy Way To Find Out

Be sure you need medicine before you take it, but having once found out that you need it—lose no time in getting the best.

By special and particular arrangement with the manufacturers, our readers can try this grand medicine absolutely free.

The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Little hard work has put an edge to his condition which it would be hard to beat.

Ruhlman is training at Owen Ziegler's gymnasium at Bath Beach and has been attending strictly to business.

Sharkey's weight will be about 177 pounds in the ring. The sailor says that he expects to beat Ruhlman, but cannot say how many rounds it will take to do the trick.

Sharkey's play in the ring is as familiar as the hands of a clock. Ruhlman at present is a somewhat unknown quantity. That he has greatly improved, both in skill and speed, is evident to anyone who has seen him, but is that improvement sufficient to stand off the bruising that is waiting for him when he meets the husky sailor?

Macoon sizes it up as follows: "I think that Sharkey is going to have a little more trouble this time with Ruhlman than he had before, and that those who go to the island to see them contend are going to get their money's worth of scrapping, full to the brim and running over.

"If Sharkey was six feet tall he would be an easy man to whip, for then you could reach his jaws with great ease. As it is," said Jim, "when you let go for his jaw all he has to do is to duck his head a little bit, and instead of landing where you intended your fist strikes the top of his head, and when it does you might as well strike an anvil."

"Ruhlman has an advantage with Sharkey that Corbett and McCoy did not possess. He hasn't the quickness or brain ability possessed by Corbett and McCoy, but he has a burliness and amount of strength, coupled with left, that they lack.

PICKS RUHLIN.

"Gus Ruhlman will win to certainty."

But Masterson, the noted Western sporting man, said yesterday afternoon in discussing the coming fight between the man who is generally known as the Swiss and Tom Sharkey.

"Why? This big fellow is not the same Ruhlman Sharkey whipped a short time back. If Tom is figuring on having a clinch with Madden's man he would better get over the idea, for there is an awful surprise waiting for him when he gets into the ring with the man he knocked out in a punch in their first fight.

Terry McGovern and Joe Bernstein, the East Side featherweight, who recently beat Solly Smith in 14 rounds, are to fight again. They were matched Monday afternoon to try conclusions in a 25 round bout at the Broadway A. C. after McGovern's battle with Ernie Bernstein is the only fighter who stayed 25 rounds with Terry.

Jack Palmer was up against the real thing in Chicago. He was robbed of a well earned decision. He put it all over Morris Rausch but the referee was playing another combination to win and he refused to see any of the points scored by the Akron bantam.

ODDS ARE CHANGING. While Tom Sharkey, the sturdy sailor, still rules the favorite over Gus Ruhlman, the "Ohio Giant," there promises to be a rush among the betting sportsmen who follow pugilism to "hedge," says a New York specialist.

There are little rumors floating about the sporting resorts to the effect that Ruhlman today is the one man to defeat the seemingly unbeatable man-o-war's-man. He has many inches advantage in height, weighs more, and, with his great reach, outclasses Sharkey in cleverness. Sharkey, ring-follower.
