

CANDIDATES

For Buchtel's Team

Will Begin Practice Work at Once.

Opening Game With Case Oct. 6.

Ferns and Kennedy Will Meet In Akron.

Fall Golf Tournament—Local Sporting News.

Some of the Buchtel college football players arrived Monday and immediately inquired about the work for the season. College opens Tuesday and on Wednesday there will be a meeting called for all the football players and enthusiasts, to look over the situation and material for the team. Practice will probably begin at once, and if the present weather continues the men will be in good shape in a short time. The boys all realize that they are going against a stiff proposition in the shape of the Case team, but all are anxious for the game. Manager Huddleston has received word from several athletic teams in the State, but will play only college teams.

TRYING FOR THE TEAM. Akron will be represented on the gridiron at Western Reserve University by two players. Will Laub is captain of the eleven and Hugh Price, the quarterback on the Akron team of 1898-99 is a candidate for halfback. The Cleveland Leader contains the following in reference to the W. R. U. and Case teams:

Commencing this afternoon the football season in Cleveland will have fairly started. Yesterday at Case and Reserve the students were busily engaged in arranging matters for the long session, and football was never in their mind. Several of the more courageous put suits on and kicked the ball and ran down the field, but that was all. Everything is bright for the great game at both schools and some excellent games may be expected, and when the season is over it would not be surprising to see the State championship come to Cleveland. Case is without a captain, as Lusk, who was elected to the position after the season closed last year, will not return to the scientific school. Ernest Farr and Bert Quarrie are talked of as candidates for the place, but nothing definite will be done until Joe Edwards, the coach, arrives. He is expected today and will get the men out for practice. MacAndrews will probably be the coach at Reserve, this being his third year. The candidates at Central, South and West High, have been practicing for over a week, and will be in excellent condition by time the first game is played.

GOLF GAMES. The Executive committee of the Portage Golf club met at the home of C. C. Goodrich, Monday evening and made arrangements for the fall tournament. The qualifying rounds will be played next Saturday. The 16 players having the best scores will play again the following Saturday. The eight having the best scores in this contest will meet on the next Saturday. This will reduce the number to four, who will play the semi-finals the week following. The finals will be played October 20. The winner will be presented with a cup by the club. The winner of the qualifying rounds will receive a cup from Mr. George D. Bates. A consolation contest will be played by those who fail to qualify for the tournament. The winner will receive a cup from the club. A cup is also offered by the club for the winner of the novice's tournament. Mr. J. H. McCrum offers a prize cup to the winner of the ladies' tournament. Cups are offered for the winners of the driving and approaching and putting contests. The green is in fine condition and the members of the club will always welcome visits from their friends.

TWO GOOD SCORES. Messrs. George D. Bates and J. H. McCrum played close to the record at the Portage Golf club links Saturday afternoon. The Bogie score for the links is 84. Mr. Bates made the rounds in 90 and McCrum in 86. Both men were in fine form.

FERNS AND KENNEDY. Unless present plans miscarry local sports will witness a championship contest in this city the night before Thanksgiving. The North End Athletic club will offer a purse for a 20-round go between Rube Ferns and Kennedy, who has made such a record in and around Pittsburgh. Sports in that city believe that Kennedy has them all put away. Ferns will be matched against Joe Wolcott for a fight down east. This will be the hardest proposition that he has ever tackled.

peared before the Council and stated that the Board of Health was $500 short in their plans and specifications for the building of a new post house, and desired the Council to appropriate that amount to the fund provided for that purpose.

The matter was referred to the Finance committee, who, after retiring for a few moments, returned and reported that the committee would recommend that $500 be added to the fund appropriated for the erection of a post house.

WANTED STREETS REPAIRED. Mr. Aaron Teeple stated that the residents residing on West Market st. in the territory of Portage township recently annexed to the city desired the streets repaired, weeds cut down and sidewalks laid. Also that they have no free mail delivery and wanted the Council to secure same for them.

President Flebeger in reply stated that the trustees of Portage township had agreed to keep streets in repair until the city received revenue and taxes from the people of this vicinity which would be used in making improvements.

WANTED INFORMATION. Mr. Frank Knapp desired information regarding peddlers ordinance. He stated that a monopoly existed among the retail butchers and wholesale meat dealers and that meat could not be purchased from the wholesalers and sold by individuals from house to house without being compelled to pay for a license to transact such a business. He was directed to see the Police Prosecutor.

desired to know who was responsible for the introduction of the ordinances. City Clerk Isbell in a clear, firm voice, responded that he assumed the responsibility.

"I have prepared these ordinances," said he, "upon the request of a large number of prominent residents of Akron, who desire to have the person selected as the head of the police department by the votes of the people instead of by appointment. I have here an opinion from an able Akron attorney, Mr. S. G. Rogers, which advises that these ordinances can be legally passed."

The City Clerk then read Attorney Rogers' opinion, as follows:

"I am of the opinion that the Council can repeal the ordinance creating the office of Chief of Police, and likewise repeal the ordinance abolishing the office of City Marshal. That part of the Akron and Youngstown act which provides for the office of Chief of Police reads as follows: 'And the Council may, when in its opinion expedient, create by ordinance the office of Chief of Police, and the Council may, when in its opinion expedient, abolish by ordinance the office of City Marshal.' It will be noticed that this statute provides that the office of Chief of Police may be created by ordinance, and the office of City Marshal, abolished by ordinance. An ordinance can always be repealed. There is nothing in this section or in this act which forbids the repeal of an ordinance creating or abolishing such office; there is nothing which would even seem to indicate that when the office once is established, it must remain forever.

"It seems clear to me that if the Legislature left the matter of the creation of an office to the sound judgment of the Council, it would not be unreasonable to presume that it likewise left to the judgment of the Council the power of determining how long it should keep the office. It seems unreasonable to assume that the Legislature would permit a Council to exercise its discretion about creating an office, and then prevent such exercise of discretion as to keeping such office. The power to create by ordinance necessarily implies the power to repeal whatsoever is created."

After the reading of the attorneys' opinion, President Flebeger referred both ordinances to the Police committee of the Council.

The presentation of the surprise ordinance in the Council Monday night, by City Clerk Isbell proposing to abolish the office of Chief of Police created a profound sensation among officials at city headquarters, and Tuesday morning it was the only important matter discussed.

Commissioner McGarry, when asked his opinion regarding the matter, said: "I have always favored and believe in giving the people as much voice in the selection of city and other officials as possible, and believe the ordinance presented in the City Council is a step in the right direction."

Mayor Young had no opinion to express to the public, except that he did not believe the Council had authority to again create the office of Marshal after it had been once abolished.

Evidently Commissioners Crisp and McMillen had not yet seen Judge Anderson for their daily opinion at the time a Democrat reporter called at the City Hall, for they had nothing to say.

The members of the Police department do not care to express an opinion in regard to the ordinance.

CENSUS

Of Devastated City.

Will be Taken to Learn the Total Death List.

Loss of Life Now Estimated at 15,000.

Debris Being Rapidly Cleared Away.

Pitiable Condition of Judge John J. Reagan.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 18.—(SPL)—The work of clearing the streets of debris is proceeding rapidly under the lively work of eight thousand men. Bodies are constantly being uncovered and it is estimated that 2,500 victims still lie beneath the ruins. One hundred and thirty corpses were cremated yesterday, nine days after the hurricane.

A census is being taken by wards to obtain some approximate idea of the total death list. An excessive estimate based on four persons to a family in eleven out of twelve wards make the number 15,000. The Twelfth ward suffered most. Out of 547 houses but twenty-eight are left standing.

Insanity and malarial fever claims the attention of physicians and nurses. In the first category the case of Judge John J. Reagan is most pitiable. The Judge lost every relative he had in Galveston and sits in silence relieved now and then by a burst of maniacal laughter.

In the way of transportation, horse cars have been put on in the business part of the city. General Manager Folk, of the Santa Fe, states that the bridge across the bay would be repaired sufficiently to permit of the passage of trains by Thursday at the latest.

Up to this writing the number of refugees who have deserted the city is 8,000.

When asked as to the necessary amount of money required to burn the dead, clean and purify the streets, feed and clothe the living and place the people where they can be self-sustaining, Congressman Hawley, one of the representative business men of Galveston, said it would take $5,000,000. In naming this sum, however, he does not mean that the losses can be covered by any such figures.

Mayor Jones is authority for the statement that the aggregate will be $20,000,000. As to the number of people dependent upon charity the estimates vary. Mayor Jones says 8,000 while other authorities go as high as 15,000. More nurses and physicians are here than really are required, while the food supply is plentiful and arriving faster than it can be taken care of.

An Ocean Hotel. Some idea of what a big hotel a transatlantic liner is may be gained from the following from Almslie's Magazine: "Everything about the kitchen of a great steamship is on a most elaborate scale. The range weighs many tons; the various soup chaldrons are constructed to hold 20 gallons; loaves are baked by the dozen, each in a separate and specially constructed compartment. To serve the meals thousands of plates, pieces of silver, cups and saucers and napkins are required, and the average breakage in the galley of a big ship amounts to a barrel of china every day.

"The amount of stores required for a single voyage by a great liner is comparable only to the commissariat of an army. Here are a few figures furnished by the chief steward of one of the big German ships from the order sheet for a recent trip: Sixteen tons of fresh beef, five tons of lamb and veal, 3,500 head of chickens, ducks, geese and game, four tons of salted meats, 1,000 dozens eggs, three tons of sugar, 100 barrels of flour, 700 bushels of potatoes, 2 1/2 tons of butter, 2,000 quarts of milk and 500 gallons of ice cream. Of course this is not an exhaustive list, but it will serve to give an idea of the enormous appetite which the store-rooms of the ocean liner must satisfy."
