Dr. Mark Hanna has agreed to donate $40,000 to Kenyon College, to be used in founding a dormitory to be known as "Politicians' Barracks." The college last year donated the title of Doctor of Laws to Dr. Hanna, and he has no disposition to appear ungrateful.

The friends of Former Attorney General Frank S. Monnett, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, are sending communications throughout the State in which they refer to Mr. Monnett as "the man of the hour." Mr. Monnett is quite popular with Akron people, but someone ought to enjoin him from infringing upon the title of Akron's "man of the hour."

Clean streets, like a great many other reforms so vociferously promised by the new city administration, appear to have been only a spasmodic virtue, after all. Akron people will applaud no administration, Democratic or Republican, which lacks the backbone to cut loose from political considerations and administer the city's affairs for the benefit of its residents.

A Kansas soldier in the Philippines notes a new temperance force which is at work in the army. "We have," he says, "a lot of native soldiers enlisted here. When one of the white boys gets drunk the captain puts a native soldier over him, and the native puts on lots of airs while marching him around. It grinds the boys so that they wouldn't get drunk if they could."

Ohio's Republicans seem to have more rumor starters than keynote starters in connection with their fall campaign. Just about the time that the rumor concerning Judge Nash's probable resignation from the Republican ticket had been driven to cover, the Cleveland Leader, which ought to know better, comes along with a brand new edition of the story. If this continues, Gov. Nash will have to employ a whole regiment of press agents to keep the rumor-mongers on the run.

The following thrilling incidents were noted in a recent issue of The Gloucester, (Mass.) Daily News, under the head of "Police Notes:"

Officer O'Maley was called to Moore's Wharf at 7:30 p.m. to drive off a crowd of boys who were throwing rocks.

Officer O'Maley investigated a report of a fight on Hincocock street at 8 p. m., but it was all over when he arrived.

Officer O'Maley investigated a report that a noisy crowd on the steps of the High school were disturbing people in that vicinity.

Gloucester should employ some more policemen and give Officer O'Maley a rest.

The Rev. Purley A. Baker wants to take two or three days off to consider whether or not he ought to oppose Mr. Carl L. Nippert, the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor. It was only a week ago that the Rev. Baker was tramping down the tall grass in the Akron Senatorial district calling upon the constituents of Senator Sieber to defeat him for having opposed the Clark local option bill. The Clark bill was defeated by just one vote, and that vote was Senator Sieber's, it was claimed. As Mr. Nippert also voted against the Clark bill, it is up to Mr. Baker to explain whether his hesitation in announcing his attitude toward Candidate Nippert implies a modification of the conscientious principles and plain duty that were said to underlie the opposition to Senator Sieber.

WISE and Otherwise.

Fans are working over time.

What has become of the rain makers?

And very likely the Eighth will have to find a new Chaplain, too.

A good many people would take flight to see their names written out in full, but College seniors, never.

What if business men would take to writing their first and middle names as do the College Seniors? How would George Washington Crouse, George Tod Perkins, Orlando Leander McMillen, Edward William Stuart, Samuel George Rogers, Albert Thomas Paige and other familiar names look if so written?

Perhaps if while he lived, the smoking of cigars had dyed his body as deep a brown as it immediately became at his death, that Illinois young man would have taken warning and quit. But, great hero that he was, he died that others might observe, get scared and live.

"No, I didn't go to the Republican State Convention—I wasn't a delegate. Yes, it's the first time I ever remember," said the only L. C. Miles with his own Teddy Roosevelt smile, to a friend who asked him about it. "Saving up my money, then maybe I can go next time," the ex-County Treasurer added, and hurried on before the interviewer could make inquiry about those long overdue "whales."

County Clerk E. A. Hershey is another local Republican who skipped this year's convention—the first time in years.

In every office in which Messrs. Will Christy and J. R. Nutt are directly interested is hung conspicuously upon one of the walls this motto: "ALL THINGS COME TO HIM WHO HUSTLES WHILE HE WAITS." Shortly before he left for Cleveland, Mr. Nutt was asked if he had always lived up to the inspiration of the motto.

"To the best of my ability," was his reply.

It is undoubtedly true that Mr. Christy has also practiced the lesson it gives.

And it is apparent that quite a number of things have come to these gentlemen.

This is the auto-biography of a dog. It was interpreted by Poor Director Joseph Kendall and transcribed as it was spoken and translated by Chief of Police Durkin who has lately mastered the art of short hand in recording reports and complaints received by telephone. The auto-biography, absolutely correct therefore, sworn to and subscribed before William Beatrice Doyle, Mayor of the City of Akron, is as follows:

"I was born—hungry. I was educated—to expect nothing else. I was married to—hunger. I was, am, shall be and shall have been—hungry. And now, therefore, if Charles Steely will put me in his net and thence into the pound, and there feed me at an expense of 29 cents per day, as the indulgent City Commissioners have ordered, I shall ask no more. I am looking for the aforesaid Steely and he can't catch me too quickly!"

Sessions in a hot club room not providing an approved outlet for their conviviality, several members of a social organization, known as the "Fat Men's Club," decided that nothing else but a fishing excursion to Twin lake would inspire them to forgive the Weather Man, or restrain them from doing something rash.

That's just the way they felt about it.

When the grand round up of those who hadn't flunked out of the agreement to fish had been taken there were found the following named men, to wit: Messrs. Gus. F. Burkhardt, Louis Leffer, John F. Baughman, Adolph Kull, John Berger and Tony Rohner.

After a spirited discussion, with hot shots on both sides, it was decided not to walk to Twin lakes. Liveryman P. T. McCourt was called to the scene of mobilization, somewhere in South Akron. Shortly after it arrived, the men took their seats, two and two, and chanced to drive down South Main st. Unfortunately for them, they were seen by Mr. McCourt.

It so happens that this popular liveryman was not born yesterday, and he took a large and extensive tumble to the racket of the six fat men in the light wagon. They were ordered to come down from their seats and be weighed. One by one they got on the scales, and the aggregate weight of the six men was in the neighborhood of 1,600 pounds. A rumor was started to the effect that it was six tons, but up to going to press it could not be verified.

At any rate, they were refused permission to go further in the light rig, and as they contemptuously declined to take an ice wagon, the journey had to be made on the street car line as far as Kent, and in a hay wagon from there to the lakes.

Such is the tale of the six fat men.

appear, and their dancing act is better than the best. The work of Baby Mae Dawson was wonderful, and deserved the hearty applause they received. The hit of the bill was Dion Cato in her novelty singing act. The act is a new one and is a sure winner. Miss Rita Redmond has a beautiful voice and knows how to use it. The electrical effects worked perfectly and the brilliant and beautifully blended colors thrown upon her, truly made a picture no artist could paint. The encore given her was pronounced. Anna Kenwick was also a decided hit in her coon songs and dancing. Miss Kenwick is the best in her line who has ever appeared in Akron.

Rackett & Hazard, in their musical trip around the world, were also a grand success. In all, Manager Hawa has a show to be proud of. Seven Years In Bed.
