

Boston Store

THE WEATHER THURSDAY.
Occasional showers probable; cooler.

No Let up to the Great Mill End Sale.

The people of Akron and vicinity have responded to this "our sixth Mill End Sale" with as much vigor as the first. The bargains are not all gone yet, as you will see by this list for Thursday.

Sale begins Thursday morning at 8 o'clock with a Great Mill End Sale of Shirt Waists.

Ladies' Colored Shirt Waists, worth 50c, Mill End Price, 25c.
At 9 a. m., Thursday morning—Special Bath Towel sale. Extra large size Bath Towels worth 20c a pair, Mill End Price, 12c a pair.

AT 2 p. m.—A Mill End Calico sale. 10 yards of good calico worth 5c a yard, Mill End Price, 19c.

MILL END BARGAINS FOR THURSDAY:

$1.50 Ladies' Lawn Wrappers, in light and dark colors, with ruffle, Mill End Price, $1.00.

$1 Ladies' Percale wrappers, with white yoke, also ruffle, Mill End Sale price 75c.

15c 9-4 Unbleached Sheeting, fine weave, good quality, Mill End Sale price 12 1/2c.

20c Fancy Tickings, in assorted stripes, Mill End Sale price, 12 1/2c.

16c Table Oil Cloth, big variety of patterns, Mill End Sale price, 12 1/2c.

5c and 6c Calicoes, mostly all colors, good patterns—Mill End Sale Price 4c. 12 1/2c Light Percales, stylish patterns for wrappers and shirt waists—Mill End Sale Price 5c.

12 1/2c Dark Percales, blues and greys; fast colors—Mill End Sale Price 7c.

5c Lawns and Dimities, fast colors; splendid patterns—Mill End Sale Price 3 1/2c.

8c Lawns and Dimities, good, stylish fast colors—Mill End Sale Price 5c.

12 1/2c Batistes, Lawns and Dimities; extra wide—Mill End Sale Price 7c.

25c and 22c Batistes, Lawns and Dimities; some have silk stripes—Mill End Sale Price 12 1/2c.

MILL ENDS IN ALL OVER-LACES AND EMBROIDERIES: ASSORTED LENGTHS VERY CHEAP.

50c Men's Working Shirts, in black and white stripes—Mill End Sale Price 37 1/2c.

20c Men's Light Percale Shirts, fast colors—Mill End Sale Price 25c.

30c Men's Percale Shirts; good dark colors—Mill End Sale Price 23c.

7c Foulard Silks; assorted colorings; good styles—Mill End Sale Price 5c.

75c Changeable Taffeta Silks for linings or underskirts—Mill End Sale Price 50c.

ALL THIS WEEK OF THE GREAT MILL END SALE.

150-152 S. Howard st.

PONIES

Ran Away, Throwing Children Out.

A Barberton Boy and Girl Were Injured Ones.

(Special Correspondence.)
Barberton, O., July 18.—The two little children of Barney McGrady, were thrown from their carriage while driving a team of Shetland ponies which ran away, Tuesday. The little girl was stunned for a while, but soon recovered. Her brother had the little finger of his left hand broken.

The Barberton Council has awarded the contract for the Seventh street sewer to Paul M. Henry.

Mr. O. E. Robinson and family of Baltimore are the guests of Barberton Inn. He is connected with the Diamond Match Co.

JUDGES

Declined to Hear Receivership Arguments.

Columbus, O., July 17.—The members of the Common Pleas Bench of this county, having declined to take up the matter of the Press-Post receivership after Clarence M. Jones, president of the company, had filed his affidavit, charging that Judge Badger, who appointed a receiver, was interested and prejudiced, Judge Hildy of Washington C. H., the presiding judge of the district and Republican nominee for judge of the Supreme Court, was called in. The judge said he would assign the hearing of the motion made by Jones to dismiss the receiver. Meanwhile L. P. Stephens, the receiver, has charge of the property.

Heartburn

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by all druggists, E. Steinhilber & Co., wholesale agents.

RAILROAD

Wants the Canal Franchise?

It Is So Claimed at Cincinnati.

Pennsylvania Reported to be After It.

Ever since The Enquirer exposed the fact that the Miami and Erie Canal Transportation Company has secured a hold on the canal that cannot be shaken off for 30 years, and places them in a position whereby they may demand a 15-year lease, under which they may operate any kind of a road they may see fit, so long as they do not use steam motive power, those interested in the scheme have tried to throw cold water on the expose, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Invariably they have merely declared that the contract and lease, which the company now has, prevent them from operating any kind of a road except one on which to run small motor cars for the propulsion of canal boats.

So far they have very judiciously refrained from making any mention of the law passed April 16, 1900, which allows the State Board of Public Works to lease the canal banks for 15 years for any purpose except the operation of a steam railroad, as before mentioned.

Thomas N. Fordyce, the father of the Miami and Erie Canal Transportation Company. In an interview in a Republican organ yesterday, followed in the steps of the others and tried to deny The Enquirer's articles by merely referring to the present contract and saying what The Enquirer has already published. Like the rest, he desires to make an intelligent public forget the law passed April 16, 1900, by not referring to it.

CALLS IT A RAILROAD.
While the claim has been made all along by those interested in the Miami and Erie Canal Transportation Company that the new electric line is not to be used for railroad purposes, the specifications for the work, drawn by Chief Engineer Chas. E. Perkins, of the State Board of Public Works, tend to strengthen the former belief.

These specifications designate the work specifically as a "railroad," and provide that "the construction of the roadbed and the entire equipment shall be made according to general standard specifications." In fact, the entire specifications are drawn, according to practical railroad men, for the construction of a fully equipped road for the hauling of both passenger and freight cars, and not what would be necessary if simply for the operation of small motor cars, to be used in the propulsion of canal boats, which, with their heaviest loads, seldom require more than three horse-power each.

For this reason it is argued that the line is intended for use by the Pennsylvania Railroad, as well as the Transportation Company. The fact that the railroad company has been trying to secure the canal for years is well known, and coupled with the fact that they spent in the neighborhood of $160,000 to convert Eggleston avenue into a railroad yard and thousands more at the mouth of the canal for the same purpose, is considered prima facie evidence that they expected to be able some day to acquire the canal bed and thus secure a direct line into the very heart of the valuable freight district, which includes the large manufacturing at St. Bernard, Ivorydale, Elmwood, Carthage and Lockland.

JUDGE FERRIS TALKS.
Probate Judge Howard Ferris, who was prominent in the efforts of the Canal Association to have that waterway abandoned, when asked what he thought of the present scheme of a railroad along the canal bank, said:

"The only motive I ever had in seeking to have the canal abandoned was to get rid of what I believed was a nuisance. It had ceased to be a commercial necessity, and had become a disease breeder. I was never in favor of giving it to a railroad, steam or street.

"The canal cost the state nothing, and, it seemed to me, that if the state abandoned it within the city limits it would be giving back to the city that which the city had given it. I never favored any payment to the state for the canal by the city. But to cede the canal to any private corporation, such as the company Fordyce represents, without any compensation, is manifestly improper. For the Pennsylvania Company to acquire it, if it is interested in the present scheme, is on a par with the manner

CHANGE

In Political Attitude

Toward the American Pension System.

It Is Too Heavy a Load to Carry

And Is Soon to be Thrown Overboard.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Keen observers begin to perceive more in the Sickles-Evans incident than mere sparring for spoils or the unveiling of an unsavory election bargain. The opinion is gaining ground that the Republican party, under the careful pilotage of the McKinley Administration, is making ready to abandon its old-time pension policy.

A veteran politician of the Central West, and once a Republican leader of note, today expressed that conviction, and predicted to a group of Washington newspaper men that at no distant day the Republican leaders will be found actually advocating the appeal of all pension laws.

"You laugh incredulously, I see," he remarked "yet I am very close to the truth. Ten years ago you would have been just as incredulous had anybody told you that the Republican party would ever abandon the cause of the negro. The signs that it would do so were already quite apparent in the second Harrison campaign, and now we see that it has practically put itself in accord with the once obnoxious 'Mississippi plan' of disfranchisement, or, at all events, has ceased to worry over the suppression of the black man's vote.

NOT MANY REAL SOLDIERS LEFT.
"Twenty-five years ago it was treason to Republicanism to hint that the policy of the party toward the old soldiers was an extravagant and wasteful one, or that there was any such thing as pension sharks or pension frauds. The country could not do too much for the old boys who had saved the Union. How is it now? There is a very different tone regarding this pension question. The enormous aggregate payments to the old soldiers are being viewed with misgivings by many stanch Republican partisans, while others are openly criticizing indiscriminate pensions. The language of the Republican press today on pensions would have broken up the party in 1880.

"Two decades ago nobody dared to question the pension policy of the Government as laid down by the Republicans. Now it is openly antagonized by hundreds of Republican leaders in all quarters, and almost solidly by the metropolitan press.

"All this, mind you, is as yet being done somewhat covertly. All still blandly talk about the honest and deserving pensioners; nobody apparently disputes that the good soldier should have pension if the law says so, and so on. It is only the frauds and sharks who are devouring the national substance. Meanwhile the enormity of the $145,000,000 annually going to the army of pensioners is eternally enlarged upon by the organs of the coming change. It is having the sinister effect designed.

"Pretty soon, as in the case of Indians, all the good soldiers will be dead ones. The Republican pension policy has ceased to be a drawing card, and it will eventually go, just as the strenuous Republican policy toward the freedmen has gone.

EVANS HAD A PROMISE.
"The very fury with which General Sickles has been attacked by the thick-and-thin Administration organs ought to show you what is coming. It is certain that the Republican committee sought out the professional soldier leaders and pleaded with them to go out and pacify the veterans when the great scare occurred last fall about the soldier vote in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The Republican bosses themselves gave away the story months before Sickles and Tanner began to talk. When the scare was greatest the committee cheerfully and in good faith promised that Evans should not be reappointed. There is no doubt about that. Sickles and Tanner did not solicit such a pledge; they were called in and it was volunteered to them.

"Now it is found impossible to fulfill that bargain because an aroused public opinion will not permit it. The President is shielding himself behind

CHANGE

In Political Attitude

Toward the American Pension System.

It Is Too Heavy a Load to Carry

And Is Soon to be Thrown Overboard.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Keen observers begin to perceive more in the Sickles-Evans incident than mere sparring for spoils or the unveiling of an unsavory election bargain. The opinion is gaining ground that the Republican party, under the careful pilotage of the McKinley Administration, is making ready to abandon its old-time pension policy.

A veteran politician of the Central West, and once a Republican leader of note, today expressed that conviction, and predicted to a group of Washington newspaper men that at no distant day the Republican leaders will be found actually advocating the appeal of all pension laws.

"You laugh incredulously, I see," he remarked "yet I am very close to the truth. Ten years ago you would have been just as incredulous had anybody told you that the Republican party would ever abandon the cause of the negro. The signs that it would do so were already quite apparent in the second Harrison campaign, and now we see that it has practically put itself in accord with the once obnoxious 'Mississippi plan' of disfranchisement, or, at all events, has ceased to worry over the suppression of the black man's vote.

NOT MANY REAL SOLDIERS LEFT.
"Twenty-five years ago it was treason to Republicanism to hint that the policy of the party toward the old soldiers was an extravagant and wasteful one, or that there was any such thing as pension sharks or pension frauds. The country could not do too much for the old boys who had saved the Union. How is it now? There is a very different tone regarding this pension question. The enormous aggregate payments to the old soldiers are being viewed with misgivings by many stanch Republican partisans, while others are openly criticizing indiscriminate pensions. The language of the Republican press today on pensions would have broken up the party in 1880.

"Two decades ago nobody dared to question the pension policy of the Government as laid down by the Republicans. Now it is openly antagonized by hundreds of Republican leaders in all quarters, and almost solidly by the metropolitan press.

"All this, mind you, is as yet being done somewhat covertly. All still blandly talk about the honest and deserving pensioners; nobody apparently disputes that the good soldier should have pension if the law says so, and so on. It is only the frauds and sharks who are devouring the national substance. Meanwhile the enormity of the $145,000,000 annually going to the army of pensioners is eternally enlarged upon by the organs of the coming change. It is having the sinister effect designed.

"Pretty soon, as in the case of Indians, all the good soldiers will be dead ones. The Republican pension policy has ceased to be a drawing card, and it will eventually go, just as the strenuous Republican policy toward the freedmen has gone.

EVANS HAD A PROMISE.
"The very fury with which General Sickles has been attacked by the thick-and-thin Administration organs ought to show you what is coming. It is certain that the Republican committee sought out the professional soldier leaders and pleaded with them to go out and pacify the veterans when the great scare occurred last fall about the soldier vote in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The Republican bosses themselves gave away the story months before Sickles and Tanner began to talk. When the scare was greatest the committee cheerfully and in good faith promised that Evans should not be reappointed. There is no doubt about that. Sickles and Tanner did not solicit such a pledge; they were called in and it was volunteered to them.

"Now it is found impossible to fulfill that bargain because an aroused public opinion will not permit it. The President is shielding himself behind

CHANGE

In Political Attitude

Toward the American Pension System.

It Is Too Heavy a Load to Carry

And Is Soon to be Thrown Overboard.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Keen observers begin to perceive more in the Sickles-Evans incident than mere sparring for spoils or the unveiling of an unsavory election bargain. The opinion is gaining ground that the Republican party, under the careful pilotage of the McKinley Administration, is making ready to abandon its old-time pension policy.

A veteran politician of the Central West, and once a Republican leader of note, today expressed that conviction, and predicted to a group of Washington newspaper men that at no distant day the Republican leaders will be found actually advocating the appeal of all pension laws.

"You laugh incredulously, I see," he remarked "yet I am very close to the truth. Ten years ago you would have been just as incredulous had anybody told you that the Republican party would ever abandon the cause of the negro. The signs that it would do so were already quite apparent in the second Harrison campaign, and now we see that it has practically put itself in accord with the once obnoxious 'Mississippi plan' of disfranchisement, or, at all events, has ceased to worry over the suppression of the black man's vote.

NOT MANY REAL SOLDIERS LEFT.
"Twenty-five years ago it was treason to Republicanism to hint that the policy of the party toward the old soldiers was an extravagant and wasteful one, or that there was any such thing as pension sharks or pension frauds. The country could not do too much for the old boys who had saved the Union. How is it now? There is a very different tone regarding this pension question. The enormous aggregate payments to the old soldiers are being viewed with misgivings by many stanch Republican partisans, while others are openly criticizing indiscriminate pensions. The language of the Republican press today on pensions would have broken up the party in 1880.

"Two decades ago nobody dared to question the pension policy of the Government as laid down by the Republicans. Now it is openly antagonized by hundreds of Republican leaders in all quarters, and almost solidly by the metropolitan press.

"All this, mind you, is as yet being done somewhat covertly. All still blandly talk about the honest and deserving pensioners; nobody apparently disputes that the good soldier should have pension if the law says so, and so on. It is only the frauds and sharks who are devouring the national substance. Meanwhile the enormity of the $145,000,000 annually going to the army of pensioners is eternally enlarged upon by the organs of the coming change. It is having the sinister effect designed.

"Pretty soon, as in the case of Indians, all the good soldiers will be dead ones. The Republican pension policy has ceased to be a drawing card, and it will eventually go, just as the strenuous Republican policy toward the freedmen has gone.

EVANS HAD A PROMISE.
"The very fury with which General Sickles has been attacked by the thick-and-thin Administration organs ought to show you what is coming. It is certain that the Republican committee sought out the professional soldier leaders and pleaded with them to go out and pacify the veterans when the great scare occurred last fall about the soldier vote in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The Republican bosses themselves gave away the story months before Sickles and Tanner began to talk. When the scare was greatest the committee cheerfully and in good faith promised that Evans should not be reappointed. There is no doubt about that. Sickles and Tanner did not solicit such a pledge; they were called in and it was volunteered to them.

"Now it is found impossible to fulfill that bargain because an aroused public opinion will not permit it. The President is shielding himself behind

CHANGE

In Political Attitude

Toward the American Pension System.

It Is Too Heavy a Load to Carry

And Is Soon to be Thrown Overboard.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Keen observers begin to perceive more in the Sickles-Evans incident than mere sparring for spoils or the unveiling of an unsavory election bargain. The opinion is gaining ground that the Republican party, under the careful pilotage of the McKinley Administration, is making ready to abandon its old-time pension policy.

A veteran politician of the Central West, and once a Republican leader of note, today expressed that conviction, and predicted to a group of Washington newspaper men that at no distant day the Republican leaders will be found actually advocating the appeal of all pension laws.

"You laugh incredulously, I see," he remarked "yet I am very close to the truth. Ten years ago you would have been just as incredulous had anybody told you that the Republican party would ever abandon the cause of the negro. The signs that it would do so were already quite apparent in the second Harrison campaign, and now we see that it has practically put itself in accord with the once obnoxious 'Mississippi plan' of disfranchisement, or, at all events, has ceased to worry over the suppression of the black man's vote.

NOT MANY REAL SOLDIERS LEFT.
"Twenty-five years ago it was treason to Republicanism to hint that the policy of the party toward the old soldiers was an extravagant and wasteful one, or that there was any such thing as pension sharks or pension frauds. The country could not do too much for the old boys who had saved the Union. How is it now? There is a very different tone regarding this pension question. The enormous aggregate payments to the old soldiers are being viewed with misgivings by many stanch Republican partisans, while others are openly criticizing indiscriminate pensions. The language of the Republican press today on pensions would have broken up the party in 1880.

"Two decades ago nobody dared to question the pension policy of the Government as laid down by the Republicans. Now it is openly antagonized by hundreds of Republican leaders in all quarters, and almost solidly by the metropolitan press.

"All this, mind you, is as yet being done somewhat covertly. All still blandly talk about the honest and deserving pensioners; nobody apparently disputes that the good soldier should have pension if the law says so, and so on. It is only the frauds and sharks who are devouring the national substance. Meanwhile the enormity of the $145,000,000 annually going to the army of pensioners is eternally enlarged upon by the organs of the coming change. It is having the sinister effect designed.

"Pretty soon, as in the case of Indians, all the good soldiers will be dead ones. The Republican pension policy has ceased to be a drawing card, and it will eventually go, just as the strenuous Republican policy toward the freedmen has gone.

EVANS HAD A PROMISE.
"The very fury with which General Sickles has been attacked by the thick-and-thin Administration organs ought to show you what is coming. It is certain that the Republican committee sought out the professional soldier leaders and pleaded with them to go out and pacify the veterans when the great scare occurred last fall about the soldier vote in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

"The Republican bosses themselves gave away the story months before Sickles and Tanner began to talk. When the scare was greatest the committee cheerfully and in good faith promised that Evans should not be reappointed. There is no doubt about that. Sickles and Tanner did not solicit such a pledge; they were called in and it was volunteered to them.

"Now it is found impossible to fulfill that bargain because an aroused public opinion will not permit it. The President is shielding himself behind

Amuse

ments

A fine bill is presented at Lakeside Park Casino this week. The Whiting sisters do a fine singing and dancing specialty, while Harry Boyd, a black face comedian, is also good. Lynch and Jewell, in their skilful "O'Brien's Rehearsal," makes a decided hit. Miss Jewell's singing is fine, and the dancing by Mr. Lynch is said to be the best ever seen in Akron.

Forrester and Floyd, in a singing and talking skit keep the house in continuous laughter. Odell and Perry, are funny Irish comedians.

Randolph park theater presents one of the best shows yet, this week. The Marinellas are "the wonders of the age." Pelot, the juggler, Garfield and Gallager, comedians, and Mlle. Trane, in illustrated songs, finish one of the best bills ever offered here.

The usual Monday night audience was present to witness the many good things offered at Summit lake park. Royer and Corinne Imhof, in their laughable sketch, "The Irish Nabob," were received with rounds of applause. Miss Edna Burnette, a lady who possesses a fine baritone voice, is a decided feature. The Knight Bros. danced their way into the hearts of the audience and made a decided hit. Kippy, the tramp juggler, has added a host of new and original tricks to his act, and scored a decided success, as did also Fred Wyckoff, the clever comedian. A laughable skit "Senator McFee" closes the performance.

Use Democrat want column. It pays.

A broken air cylinder on the fast New York Erie engine delayed the train considerably Wednesday morning. A telegram was sent to Kent when the train stopped at Akron so that the damage could be immediately repaired on the train's arrival there.

Use Democrat want column. It pays.

Model Bakery's

NEW ENGLAND BREAD

Conceded to be the BEST BREAD on the market.

6 Loaves for 25c

S. B. LAFFERTY

106 S. Howard St.
Both Phones 394.

Money to Loan

On Household Goods. Pianos, Organs, Horses, Carriages, Wagons, Etc., Etc.

If you are in need of money for a grocery bill, meat bill, rent, taxes, or any other debt you owe, you can borrow the money and pay it back in small monthly payments, and each payment reduces both principal and interest, and you will find this plan the most safe, convenient and cheapest in the city. Property left in your possession and all business strictly confidential. Office hours from 9 to 11:30 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.; open from 7 to 8 in the evenings. Bell phone 790; People's, 774.

L. C. MILLER

Room 14 Arcade Building.

OSTEOPATHY

J. A. KERR, D. O.
JENNIE L. EVANS, D. O.
Osteopathic Physicians.
604 Hamilton Building
Graduates of A. S. O., Kirksville, Mo. Hours 8 to 12 and 1 to 5. Consultation and examination free. People's phone 360.

MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY

Will Run

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS

To COLORADO and UTAH, June, July, August and September, ONE FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP (Plus $2.00.)

HOME SEEKERS' EXCURSIONS

To the West and Southwest On the first and third Tuesdays of each month. ONE FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP (Plus $2.00.) For further information call on or address

JNO. R. JAMES,
Central Passenger Agent,
Room 905 Park Bldg. Pittsburg, Pa.

H. J. BINGHAM, M. E.
MACHINE DESIGNING,
GENERAL DRAWING.
21 Arcade block, Akron, O.

St. Vincent College,

Beatty P. O., Westmoreland Co., Pa.
65TH YEAR.

This is a Catholic Institution conducted by the Benedictine Fathers. It is 40 miles east of Pittsburg, and 5 miles from Latrobe, on the Pennsylvania railroad. The climate is healthful, the buildings large, heated by steam and lighted by electric lights. The courses of study are the Classical and Commercial, also an Elementary School for beginners.

TERMS: Board, Tuition, Washing, Mending and Physician's Fee, $100 a year. For information or catalogue, address THE REV. DIRECTOR.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

OF THE German-American Building & Loan Association

Of Akron, Ohio, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901:

ASSETS.
Cash on hand$ 3,268 44
Loans on mortgage security 45,580 36
Loans on stock or pass-book security 2,150 40
Loans on all other security (itemized under query 19) 5,711 54
Furniture and fixtures 425 78
Interest due from borrowers 18 33
Total$57,157 85

LIABILITIES.
Running stock and dividends (including credits on mortgage loans)$17,558 57
Paid-up stock and dividends 32,275 09
Deposits and interest 6,779 16
Fund for contingent losses. 507 64
Other liabilities, in detail, interest on deposits 19 15
Uncollected earnings 18 33
Total$57,157 85

RECEIPTS.
Cash on hand at close of last fiscal year$ 6,709 81
Dues on running stock 9,908 85
Paid up stock 12,275 09
Deposits 10,623 00
Loans on mortgage security repaid 11,652 45
Loans on stock or pass-book security repaid 6,349 60
Loans on all other security repaid (query 19) 628 95
Interest 3,621 85
Total$ 60,870 11

DISBURSEMENTS.
Loans on mortgage security$16,798 09
Loans on stock or pass-book security 2,500 00
Loans on all other security (query 19) 783 36
Withdrawals of running stock 12,068 27
Withdrawals of paid up stock 10,050 00
Withdrawals of deposits .. 12,258 14
Dividends on running stock 640 58
Dividends on paid up stock 1,530 20
Expense 186 87
Interest on deposits 585 39
Other disbursements, in detail, dividends loan stock, Stationery $47; furniture $3; sundries $56.76 106 76
Cash on hand 3,268 44
Total$ 60,870 11

PROFIT AND LOSS.
Dividends on running stock$ 640 58
Dividends on paid up stock 1,530 20
To fund for contingent losses 171 80
Interest on deposits 604 54
Sundries 56 78
Stationery 322 00
Furniture 15 00
Expense 186 87
Dividends on loan stock... 94 10
Total$ 3,621 85

Total