NOT DUE TO THE DISEASE

The rise in the price of poultry of all kinds, which is reported to have taken place in various states can not in the opinion of experts in the department of agriculture, be attributed to the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease. This disease does not affect poultry at all, and the Federal quarantines of various states—14 in all, now lay no embargo upon shipments of poultry.

It is true that when a case of foot and mouth disease is found upon a farm that farm is absolutely quarantined by the state or local authorities. No produce of any sort can leave it, the owner is not even permitted to drive his horses on the public highway, and in some cases his children are not allowed to go to school until the exposed stock have been done away with and the entire premises disinfected. Since the disease, moreover, is readily communicated from farm to farm by cats, dogs, poultry and human beings, the local authorities exercise their own discretion in determining what restrictions should be placed upon shipments of produce from the area in the immediate vicinity of the infected farm. These areas are so limited in extent, however, that the amount of poultry that may thus be prevented from reaching the market is an inappreciable percentage of the total supply. Poultry from the uninfected areas in the various quarantined states can be moved freely without the least danger of spreading the disease or of injuring the health of the consumer.

ANXIETY EXAGGERATED

The anxiety that has been expressed in several quarters in regard to the effect upon human health of the present outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease is regarded by Government authorities as somewhat exaggerated. The most common fear is that the milk supply might become contaminated, but in view of the precautions that the local authorities in the infected areas are very generally taking, there is comparatively little danger of this. Milk from infected farms is not permitted to be shipped at all. The only danger is, therefore, that before the disease has manifested itself some infected milk might reach the market. For this reason experts in the department recommend pasteurization. As a matter of fact, however, pasteurization is recommended by the department anyway for all milk that is not very high grade and from tuberculin-tested cows.

It has been demonstrated by experiments which have been made in Denmark and Germany that pasteurization will serve as a safeguard against contagion from the foot-and-mouth disease just as readily as it does against typhoid fever, but in any event it must be thoroughly done—the milk must be heated to 145 degrees F. and held at this temperature for 30 minutes.

WHAT QUARANTINE MEANS

Stock must not be moved along the highways or from farm to farm. Horses must be kept from fields with split hoof animals. Hunting is absolutely prohibited, even by farmers on their own land. The authorities must be notified of all suspected cases.

Healthy hogs may be killed and dressed on the farm where raised and hauled to market.

Healthy cattle and sheep may be killed and dressed on the farm where raised and the carcass hauled to market.

Heads, feet and hides of butchered animals must not be removed from the farm. Hides may be salted and kept until the quarantine is lifted. Heads and feet may be destroyed by burning or buried six feet under ground.

PAY

When you use up all the assets in the bank account of life,
You've got to pay.
When you use up all your energies
in keeping up the strife,
You've got to pay.
When you burn the candle at both ends and bat around at night;
When you gaily tread the primrose
path and follow beauties bright;
When you go the limit, son, no matter
where you fly your kite,
You've got to pay.
For the law of compensation never
has been beaten yet,
You've got to pay.
And for every fleeting joy or hollow
pleasure that you get,
You've got to pay.
Old Destiny is accurate, though
roisterers may scoff;
She is a great collector from the gay

When your account is due, my son,
you cannot stand her off,
You've got to pay.

WOOSTER WINS GAME

At the football game in Wooster last Friday afternoon Wooster high school defeated Medina high 14 to 6. It was the best game of the season. For the first time this season the Wooster team received the support that was due them all season and it was largely due to this that their school won the game. Medina people who accompanied the team to Wooster, declared that it was the best school spirit they had ever seen.

Our government never faced so tremendous a problem as that now lying dormant at the doors of congress and the legislatures, and which, when aroused, will shake this nation from center to circumference, and make civilization hide its face in shame. That problem is—women in the field.

The last federal census reports show we now have 1,514,000 women working in the field, most of them south of the Mason and Dixon line. There were approximately a million negro slaves working in the fields when liberated by the emancipation proclamation. We have freed our slaves and our women have taken their places in bondage. We have broken the shackles off the negroes and welded them upon our daughters.

The Chain-Gang of Civilization. A million women in bondage in the southern fields form the chain-gang of civilization—the industrial tragedy of the age. There is no overseer quite so cruel as that of unrestrained greed, no whip that stings like the lash of unborn destiny, and no auctioneer's block quite so revolting as that of organized avarice.

The president of the United States was recently lauded by the press, and very properly so, for suggesting mediation between the engineers and railroad managers in adjusting their schedule of time and pay. The engineers threatened to strike if their wages were not increased from approximately ten to eleven dollars per day and service reduced from ten to eight hours and a similar readjustment of the overtime schedule. Our women are working in the field, many of them barefooted, for less than 50 cents per day, and their schedule is the rising sun and the evening star, and after the day's work is over they milk the cows, slop the hogs and rock the baby to sleep. Is anyone mediating over their problems, and to whom shall they threaten a strike?

Congress has listened approvingly to those who toll at the forge and behind the counter, and many of our statesmen have smiled at the threats and have fanned the flame of unrest among industrial laborers. But women are as surely the final victims of industrial warfare as they are the burden-bearers in the war between nations, and those who arbitrate and mediate the differences between capital and labor should not forget that when the expenses of any industry are unnecessarily increased, society foots the bill by drafting a new consignment of women from the home to the field. Pinch no Crumb From Women's Crust of Bread.

No financial award can be made without someone footing the bill, and we commend to those who accept the responsibility of the distribution of industrial justice, the still small voice of the woman in the field as she pleads for mercy, and we beg that they pinch no crumb from her crust of bread or put another patch upon her ragged garments.

We beg that they listen to the scream of horror from the eagle on every American dollar that is wrung from the brow of toiling women and hear the Goddess of Justice hiss at a verdict that increases the want of woman to satisfy the greed of man.

The women behind the counter and in the factory cry aloud for sympathy and the press thunders out in their defense and the pulpit pleads for mercy, but how about the woman in the field? Will not these powerful exponents of human rights turn their talent, energies and influence to her relief? Will the Goddess of Liberty enthroned at Washington hold the caloused hand and soothe the feverish brow of her sex who sows and reaps the nation's harvest or will she permit the male of the species to shove women—weak and weary—from the bread-line of industry to the back alleys of poverty?
