Y. M. C. A. Notes

Fresh maple sugar has been in evidence as a principal social feature of various local organization meetings during the past week. On Friday evening the Weymouth boys held a joint open meeting with the girls of the "R. D. G." club, at the school house. After a lively debate on "Woman Suffrage," won by the girls on a close margin, all were served with warm maple sugar. In place of their regular meeting this week the Granger boys met at the home of C. Ganyard. A delightful evening of games and music, culminated with "first run" sugar from the Beachler bush. Mrs. Ganyard graciously added pickles and home-made buns to the main article of diet. The occasion was greatly appreciated by the boys and left a "sweet taste" that will last a long time. The Brunswick organization also planned recently to have a maple sugar feast, details of which have not been learned.

The "Standard Efficiency Tests", covering worth-while requirements in educational, religious and physical effort, have been submitted to the various groups throughout the county. Several expect to try to make good on these tests, in which boys representing many associations in North America have entered.

WITHOUT A LICENSE, MAYBE
A Columbus dispatch says that many members of the Legislature who hail from the rural sections have begun to clamor for the repeal of the hunter's license law on the ground that the law was misinterpreted by most of the hunters, who consider that under its provisions they have greater rights than they really have.

These rural members say they can cite numerous instances wherein hunters have trespassed upon farms, believing that because they had obtained a license they were perfectly privileged to hunt, wheresoever they pleased. The result has been severe friction between hunters and the owners of farms.

When the law was enacted it was pointed out several times that it gave the hunter no more real rights than he had before, and that especially it did not in the slightest infringe upon the authority of a owner of a farm to prohibit hunting thereon if he saw fit. In other words, it was shown that under the new statute the hunter would have to obtain first a license to hunt anywhere and then a right to hunt upon individual farms.

The complaint of the farmers is that the hunters interpret the new law to suit their own needs, and believe that because they have a license they can hunt at any place at any time. There is a good deal of explaining being done now to prevent the movement for the repeal of the hunters' license measure, particularly since it brings into the treasury of the fish and game department, or rather is calculated to bring into that department, the sum of $70,000 a year.

Whether the trouble can be adjusted and the law still saved, is now a question. This much is certain, that a campaign in education will be begun over Starr stood crouched over the prostrate form of Fretz like a lion over an ancient martyr.

W. E. Hemmeter spent Wednesday and Thursday in Warren and Salem, attending the annual meetings of the stores in which he is interested.

Mr. Fred Beck and sister, Mrs. Minnie Schville, Mrs. J. S. Beck and Mrs. Deucker attended the funeral of Mr. Lober at Chippewa Lake on Tuesday.

Mr. Carl Warner of North Randall and Mr. A. B. Collinbourne of Chicago, were in town Tuesday to attend the annual board meeting of the Warner-Hemmeter Co.

Leut. Ross P. Schlabach will arrive today to spend the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Schlabach, who will return with him to Pittsburg for an indefinite stay.

Mr. Paul Wells of Bellingham, Wash., who spent the past week in Medina left Monday for Marquette, Mich., where he will visit his sister, Mrs. M. E. Schlabach before returning to Washington.

Mrs. Sarah Walker Eddy has returned from her trip of several months in the interest of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church. Her travels were chiefly through the Southwest, including Kansas and Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rowe will return to-morrow from a two weeks trip through the east. Miss Elizabeth McDowell, who has been attending Wellesley college, will return with them. Owing to a recent illness Miss McDowell has been obliged to give up her school work for the remainder of the year.

Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Green of Hinckley, who have been spending the winter in Florida, arrived in Medina Saturday, where they will spend a few days visiting the family of Dr. Green's sister, Mrs. Dr. G. J. Damon. Upon leaving Medina, Dr. and Mrs. Green will go to Hiram, where the former will assume charge of a large fruit farm.

Mr. Eugene Hollenbeck, who has been spending the winter with his sister, Mrs. Andrew Ryan, returned to his home at Honeoye Falls, N. Y., on Friday last. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ryan, as far as Cleveland. Mr. Hollenbeck lived here several years ago when the Medina Foundry was then the Hol'oware foundry under Mr. George E. Webber.

"WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK"
The county commissioners are recognized as a pretty level-headed bunch of fellows—peaceably inclined, at least they do not travel about with "chips on their shoulders." But there was an occurrence in their office Monday forenoon that gave conclusive proof that one of the commissioners was an adept in the art of wrestling, if not past master in jiu jitsu. Commissioner Mahlon Fretz while in the commissioners' office Monday was discussing the difference of age between his own and that of Commissioner Starr. The difference was one year in favor of Starr. Whereupon Fretz declared that he was able to lay Starr upon his back even though the latter was younger by a year. The coats of both men were off in a twinkling and the way chairs' records, heels and pretty much of every old thing flew around the room for a few minutes, according to an eye witness, was a rare sight to behold. When all was over Starr stood crouched over the prostrate form of Fretz like a lion over an ancient martyr.

COUNTRY CHURCH AN AID
"The country church is a universal organization over our country, and is already in the field for betterment of our present rural conditions," said W. Fisk, junior dean of Oberlin College, in his lecture, "The Country Church," to the students of the winter course in agriculture at Ohio State University.

"However, the church is unorganized. It must serve the country people and form the basis of rural recreation as a community center. It must take care of any rural activity which has to do with the making of character," he declared.

Co-operation and organization which characterize the successful churches of the cities, must be added to the country church to make it more efficient, urged Professor Fisk. He cited the action of the Governor of Virginia in proclaiming a rural church day.

Community recreation day, season festivals, country reunions, and rural social activities in general were some of the features which Professor Fisk advocated for the country church to control.
