Beautiful September weather is keeping farmers very busy. The packing, canning and seeding time is at hand and every thing must be saved. A good many are ready to sow wheat and many fields of corn are almost ready to cut.

An old-fashioned Sabbath calm seemed to prevail last Sunday. Only a few were out in their autos and those went to church and returned. Some mistaking the request, did not even go to church and, as they had no other way of getting there, a good many congregations were not as large as usual.

On Monday afternoon, Aug. 26, at 4 o'clock, Miss Mildred A. McRoberts, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas R. McRoberts of Port Huron, Mich., was united in marriage to Paul V. Kreider of Wadsworth. The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Kreider graduated from Oberlin college in 1914. Mrs. George Stine received a letter from her father, Capt. Oscar Koepfle, in France, which brought great relief to the family. Capt. Koepfle was formerly in the Quartermaster's department of the Rainbow Division but for some time past has been captain of Co. C in the same (166th) division. While carrying out an attack on his sector on July 31, he was spotted as an officer and within four or five minutes 25 high explosive shells were aimed at him. He dropped on his face and stomach to avoid being hit by fragments but a piece of steel two inches long, one inch wide, and three-fourths of an inch thick penetrated the fleshy part of his right hip, passing diagonally to the small of the back and imbedding in the large muscle. This piece of steel was removed by an operation at a first aid station and Capt. Koepfle was removed to a hospital behind the lines, from which place he wrote his daughter, stating that he was getting along nicely and would soon be entirely well. He carries in his pocket the rough fragment of steel that was the cause of his trouble. At the time of writing he stated that he was able, with the aid of an attendant and a cane to walk a short distance.

What is a Branch House?

The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerator cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet.

Your meat dealer comes here to buy your meat for you—unless someone else can treat him better than we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well; and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.
