tunity pass if the matter could be brought to a successful issue. A committee was appointed to call on the business men personally and line them up for the enterprise. A headed proposal was received from Mr. Eaton for booster signatures and he has reconsidered his former statement and promises, if Medina business will act quickly, before the proposition he has submitted to others is accepted, he may, yet, be able to come here and swing this rubber plant project.

Wednesday afternoon a committee of Medina men began a canvas for signers to this "booster" pledge. It is hoped every business man will sign this; it is not a pledge to buy stock; still if a man is interested it is expected he will buy to his full power of payment. This paper is in the hands of solicitors as the Sentinel goes to press.
