

Shares of Swift & Company are widely distributed. The map shows the number of shareholders in each state and has been dotted to indicate the proportionate distribution.

Who is Swift & Company?

Swift & Company is not a one man or one family affair. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—forty thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.

Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska.

13,000 of them are women.

Nearly 14,000 of them are employees.

The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.

No one person or family owns a majority of the stock.

In fact, it would take 900 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock.

These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible.

They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what it is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silverleaf Brand Pure Lard, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.

The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products as an imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.

tinest of the dozens of infants got refreshment.

By this time the field-kitchens were boiling and we could serve tea, tho without milk or sugar, to the lot of men who had also come in to escape the rain.

About seven o'clock the train was ready, only three hours late and then those poor folks had to bundle themselves up in their still damp clothes, gather their babies and their luggage together and go out into the rain again, to climb into box-cars, 36 to a car, and start out in to the night toward Moscow. The box-cars were fitted with tiny stoves, but no wood, so it makes you wonder how many more babies died before morning. And how many more, before the five day trip to the Russian capital was ended. Perhaps the milk and chocolate and biscuit we distributed for each woman and child, helped some of them to hold out.

BEST TIME AND METHOD OF PRESERVING EGGS

Eggs are always at their best in April. This year the season has been advanced on account of the warm weather, and it is doubtful if eggs will be much cheaper than they are at present. The water glass method is considered the most satisfactory.

Eggs stored in water glass solution are good for all cooking purposes, and may be used for boiling if precaution is taken to make a small pinhole in the large end to allow air to escape when heated to prevent the egg cracking.

The following government directions will prove satisfactory:

Use only absolutely fresh and clean eggs. Clean the eggs with a cloth dampened with vinegar.

Do not pack dirty eggs, but never wash them.

Use one quart water-glass to nine quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Place mixture in a five-gallon crock or jar, thoroughly cleaned and scalded. This is sufficient for fifteen dozen eggs.

Two inches of solution should cover the eggs. Store the jar in a cool place.
