"Pride Goeth Before a Fall." Some proud people think they are strong, ridicule the idea of disease, neglect health, let the blood run down, and stomach, kidneys and liver become deranged. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will prevent all and save your pride.

A FLAT DWELLER'S THEORY. After Going Through an Ice-Making Plant He Was Out of His Steam Heater.

"Master," said the man who had been going through the plant where they make artificial ice, "I'll never forget this visit. I'm much obliged to you. You have given me a hint that I'll probably be worth hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills."

"You don't say so?" "Yes, sir. Now, let me understand it all clearly. Those pipes carry the gas which circulates all around the water and freezes it up so tight that any bouquets and things that happen to be floating around can't possibly get away until they're thawed out."

SONG OF THE SHIRT WAIST.

It Arises When the Airy, Fairy Favorite of the Ladies Makes Its Appearance.

Hark! the pipes of Pan are pleading—like a sweetheart interceding—in behalf of lazy fellows nowadays—for the proud and painted thighs—and the meek and minted jupes—are a bloom again upon the garden—when the night is a chap's unloading—when he knows that nature's wooing—from the uplands and the lowlands and the meadows—When the noontide glows in splendor—when the nights are soft and tender—and the captivating shirt waist reappears!

When the violet blossoms happy—on the coast of the apple—When we huddle out the old mosquito bar—When the tipsy holds wassail—in his honeycuckoo castle—when the troubadour is gazing his catarrh.

THOSE ABSURD NAMES.

"What ridiculous names they have over there in the Philippines," said the man who had just walked up to the counter and been assured by the clerk that he could have the best room in the hotel. "There a Calumpit, for instance. That name would make a horse laugh. Who ever heard of anything so absurd as to give a town such a postmark as that?"

Then he took the pen that the clerk had been holding out toward him and wrote upon the register: "J. Crawford, Woonsocket, R. I."—Chicago Evening News.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been unable to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have no more faith in its curative powers than they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full testimonials.
