SULLIVAN.

Not for years has our community been so shocked as it was last week when the news reached here from New York that John Campbell was killed at the dreadful wreck when all passengers were supposed to have escaped and only the engineer and fireman were killed. Mr. Campbell's remains were supposed to be those of the engineer and were buried as such. Mr. Edwin Campbell and John Campbell the only sons of Mrs. Sylvia Campbell had started from New York together to come to their old home in Sullivan to visit their aged mother. They were on the fated train. Edwin escaped by jumping out the window. John was not found for several days later when it was found that his remains were interred as those of the fireman, and buried by a piece of his colored shirt, a leather watch guard and a glove on one hand. Then the body buried at Holmesdale by the societies as Fred Sells, fireman, was exhumed and identified by his watch and knife as the property of John Campbell. The watch had the letters of his name, of which there are twelve, in place of the figures, the letters Jo--pb-1 quite distinct although fire had nearly consumed the case. The star on the back of the watch is plainly discernable. The knife was of a peculiar design, the pearl handle extended the whole length of the knife. His remains are in Cleveland awaiting the desire of his wife. His aged mother, who is past 81 is very much shocked and depressed by her sad blow. Her relatives and friends are here: Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Mann, Mrs. Jane Graham, Mrs. Celia Pritchard Hayden and Mrs. Fanny Burt. Everything for her solace and cheer are tendered her by loving relatives and friends.

The members of the Christian church assisted by Mr. Wadsworth Riggs, have been beautifying the church by giving it three coats of paint, and now it stands clean, bright and beautiful, a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."
