

ABOUT BABIES. Refutation of the "Well-Spring of Pleasure" Idea. Some idiot has said that a baby in the size of a well-spring of pleasure. We'll never have a baby. A baby may be a well-spring of pleasure; but that is a fact that has never been made patent to us.

All we want to do in this brief article is to make well-spring-of-pleasure man get a liar. We won't go into that stereotyped story about a few getting out of bed on a cold winter night trotting up and down the room with the baby when she has the colic, and running tacks in his feet, and fooling around with the stregoric bottle, because we believe that any man who is not an idiot never did that except on the occasion of the first baby.

Then as time rolls on the babies get older and they also get the measles, and all sorts of infantile diseases, and in addition to this the boys fall off bake-ovens and board-piles and break their arms and legs, and the girls get sand thrown into their eyes and fall into coal-holes and get lost. The old man, instead of getting a new over-coat, saves his money to buy cough-syrup and pay doctor-bills, and when he finds his nose brought to the grind-stone in this manner he is apt to wonder whether the well-spring man is a myth or not, and is liable to believe that he is.

But we suppose what is, if right. The world wouldn't amount to much if there were no babies. There is nothing mean about us. We are willing to wrestle with the babies, and feed them, and clothe them, and educate them, and bring them up in the way they should go, and then see them meander off in the way they shouldn't go; but what we kick on is the well-spring idea, and we repeat that the man who got off that remark never was proprietor of a baby.

In Hot Water. Orpha M. Hodge, of Battle Creek, Mich., writes, May 16, 1878: "I upset a kettle of boiling hot water on my hand, inflicting a very severe scald. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and it gave great pleasure in announcing to you that the effect was to allay the pain and prevent blistering. I was cured in three days. We prize it very highly as a family medicine." For Sale by J. C. Saur.

One more of them gone. The Washington Star of the 26th ult. says: "A certificate of death was received yesterday at the Health Office of Sally Hunter, aged 115 years. Sally was born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, in 1766, and belonged to the Washington estate, being one of the servants manumitted by the General's will. She has lived in that county ever since until the war, when she and her children came to this city. That was about ten years ago, since which time she has lived at the corner of H and South Capitol streets, south-east. This is probably the very last of the servants of George Washington."

For thirty years Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has been kept for sale by druggists generally, and in all that time there has not been a single complaint made, but on the contrary the druggists and the people acknowledge it to be the best remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all Lung Diseases.

QUEER NOTION. Many people think it cheaper to buy 25 cent sizes of a proprietary medicine, but they make a mistake. For instance, Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry contains about eight times the quantity of ordinary 25-cent cough balsams. Besides it takes a less quantity of Wistar's Balsam to cure a cold. A single dose is often sufficient. For deep seated Colds and Consumption it has proven itself to be the best and quickest cure ever discovered.

Kendall's Spavin Cure. The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister or excoriate for human flesh. READ PROOF BELOW.

Statement Made UNDER OATH. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure, a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Kendall's Spavin Cure on Human Flesh. Patten's Mills, Washington Co., N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878. Dr. J. Kendall, M. D. Dear Sir:—The particular case on which I used your "Spavin Cure" was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months' standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your "Spavin Cure" put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excels anything we ever used.
