March and the weather is still with us. For the best 50 cent. fine cut, go to Bradley's. Defiance will have a second National Bank. Defiance is to have a seminary for females.

Van Wert is to have a telephone exchange. One of our greatest needs is more manufacturers. The band boys went to Delta last Thursday.

A hen is, of course, not joking when she is in 'er nest. Norden opens up this week a very large stock of notions. Some of our business men have already put up their drawings.

French and American kid button shoes, Detroit make, at Heller's. Deaths have been frequent throughout the county this month.

To arms! To arms! is the cry of our doctors as they start out with their vaccine matter. The three commissioners of Hancock county kick the beam at an even six hundred pounds.

Clear away the filth which has accumulated during the winter. It will keep disease from your doors. Last week there were over 15,000 loaded freight cars side-tracked on the Wabash between Toledo and Lafayette.

Our citizens should give the different churches of the place better support. Napoleon is deficient in church edifices. The sidewalk at the southwest corner of Perry and Clinton streets is in bad shape, and has been so for the past year. Why?

Dr. Augenstein has commenced the work of clearing the ground preparatory to the erection of his new business block. April comes in on Friday this year. Will the superstition about the day being an unlucky one, prevent anybody from moving.

A tramp who was caught roaming around through the country stealing eggs, said, "He merely wished to get the lay of the land." The Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific Railroad recently paid $100,000 for ten day coaches of a finish and elegance probably unsurpassed in the country.

An election for first lieutenant in F Co. 10th Reg't. O. N. G., will take place on next week Thursday evening. The contest will be spirited we are told. "Know all men by these presents," read the lawyer. "Why don't they put in women, too?" asked his lady client. "Because if one woman knows it all women know it."

Why in the name of common sense, if not decency, are the sidewalks along Perry street allowed to remain in their present condition? There is a screw loose somewhere. Six hundred new suits of clothes for the spring trade, at prices that throw all competition into the shade, at Bernstein's, prices lower than ever; square decale one price to all.

C. Gerber, the Toledo hardware man, has made an assignment to E. M. Ogden. The assets and liabilities are not yet known. Mr. E. T. Stiekney, of Republic, is conducting the business. Go to R. Hudson's Jewelry Store for musical instruments: Flutes, fifes, guitars, harmoniums, accordions. Also string and sheet music, clocks, watches and jewelry. He has a large assortment, stored between canal and river bridge.

An exchange says, to clean out a stove pipe, place a piece of zinc on the live coals in the stove. The vapor produced by the zinc will carry off the soot by chemical decomposition. Persons who have tried the process claim that it will work every time. Lessons in etiquette are now given in many of the public schools by the command of the school boards. Speaking of this fact the Youth's Companion says: "A good teacher should unconsciously give a lesson in this lovely art every time he speaks and every time he moves." Do all teachers do it?

The freight blockade still continues at Toledo. The sportsmen say wild ducks will be numerous. McComb wants a photographer and a marble dealer.

For Butterick's pattern and fashion sheets, go to Heller's. Many prophecy that polished floors will eventually take the place of carpets. Buy yourself a new spring suit and go to Norden's for it. Go to S. M. Honck and get your choice of spring suiting, at very low rates.

The Springfield school board has prohibited rope-jumping among the pupils. Everybody call and see the beautiful spring styles at C. M. Fisk's Jewelry store. We have an elegant assortment of new silk and satin ribbon, plain and fancy, at S. M. & M. E. Heller's.

Treasurer Gidley has handed over the following funds to the State: Taxes collected, $8,475.81; due county, $8,948.53. They have just arrived from New York. Blank books and pocket books, a full line and the cheapest in the land, at Kneeland's. Try 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' a sure remedy for spavins, curbs, ringbones, or any enlargement of the joints. See advertisement.

One of the large plate glass windows in Tyler block has been broken by a mischievous boy throwing a large torpedo against it. Defiance P. O. squabble is at an end. Postmaster Deltrick is not to be molested for the next two years,—and then the fight will be renewed.

The Wabash will shortly expend at Peoria, Ill., about $400,000 in the erection of a union depot and other important railroad enterprises. No scrofula can be so deep rooted, no sore so stubborn, but that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will be found helpful. It will effect a cure, if cure is possible.

Mrs. A. E. Mann requests those ladies wanting dresses cut or made, to call at her rooms, over Steckman's grocery. Her prices are reasonable. Rev. S. Gamertfelder, the new pastor, will preach in the Evangelical Church next Sunday, March 27, morning and evening. All are invited to attend.

I have some goods in warehouse in rear of old store, that I will retail at wholesale prices. Do not forget the place. H. E. CARY. We understand Postmaster Fouke contemplates running a telephone from the Post-office building to the depot. This would be quite a convenience for our citizens.

We will repeat, that no communications will receive attention unless accompanied with the name of the writer. "Subscriber" will know why his communication does not appear. SOMETHING NEW.—Kneeland, the enterprising druggist, has lately invented a machine for showing samples of wall paper that beats anything we have seen. Call and see for yourselves.

Chas. Evers, as Administrator of the estate of Fred. Beckman, will offer at public auction on Saturday, two vacant lots on Perry street, nearly opposite the Court-House. The property is well located and is valuable. We direct attention of the reader to the business card of M R Rummell, who has taken charge of the old stand of Miller Bros. Mr. R. is a first-class workman, his productions giving good satisfaction. Call and see him, just south of canal bridge.

Those rascals who are in the habit of breaking glass in church windows should be dealt with quite severely if detected. There is a law against malicious destruction of property, and as it is of so frequent occurrence it is hoped the authorities may bring the guilty to account. FOUND.—Saturday morning, March 19th, concealed under depot platform, a large steel chisel, supposed to be the property of party or parties who made an unsuccessful attempt to burglarize Wabash R. R. ticket office, Friday night. Property awaits identification. Call again.

Joseph Bennett, formerly engineer on the Wabash road, was killed at Defiance on the 23d. He was on the train going home to Ft. Wayne, and it is supposed slipped and fell under the wheels. His body was horribly mangled. He leaves a wife and two children. The silver dollar of 1794, with flowing hair, is worth $15; of 1804, from $20 to $700. An original half dollar, struck by the Confederate States in 1861, is worth $200. The most valuable half dime is of the issue of 1802, which is worth $12.75. Three cent silver pieces of 1873 are worth 60 cents each. Got any?

We notice the youngsters of Napoleon are just at the present time practicing with a little toy which is dangerous in more ways than one. We mean the rubber sling. By its use an eye may be put out, windows broken and other damage done. This practice has become so dangerous and such a nuisance in some places that the authorities have been compelled to suppress it, and it would not be a bad move to choke it off here.

ED. NORTHWEST.—The death of Mr. John Conn, of Adams Ridge, noticed in the NORTHWEST, was one of the most horrid kind. The tragic event took place at the saw mill in what is known as the Conkle neighborhood. Mr. Conn was at the mill on business, and while standing near the saw it is supposed that he suddenly became dizzy and fell upon it. His body was dreadfully mangled, being cut in two across the breast; one arm and one leg severed, and the throat cut, the blood and fragments being thrown in every direction. About twelve years since another terrible accident occurred on the same mill site, when the mill belonging to the Conkles was burned,—one of the Conkles, a young man, in trying to escape from the fire got caught in a brace by his boot, and with his head downward was roasted to death.

Mr. Conn was an old and highly respected resident of Adams township, and a leading member of the United Brethren Church. Mr. B. Green is now fully installed as our new pedagogue. The school is now all in one, and under one teacher. Tressler's mill yard is literally packed with saw-logs, and they are being cut out at a rapid rate.

Miss A. M. Holly, of Napoleon, gave universal satisfaction in plating our primary school safely through the winter term. It is so seldom that this is accomplished that we desire to make a note of it. The roads, except that on the ridge, are in a terrible state, being almost impassable for teams. EOLUS.

Monday, March 21, 1881. New style spring neck wear at Heller's. BANKING AND REAL ESTATE OFFICE OF JOHN S. BRADDOCK, Mount Vernon, Ohio, March 18, 1881.

ED. NORTHWEST.—In reply to your article—"Old Land Warrants," in last issue of your valuable paper, I will say that while two million five hundred thousand acres still outstanding, as your article states, seems like a large amount, it is comparatively small, being only four per cent. of the amount issued. I have been hunting up and purchasing these old warrants for the past fifteen years, and find them at the present time exceedingly scarce. Should any of your readers find theirs they can obtain a high price for them by writing me.

I remain, yours respectfully, JOHN S. BRADDOCK. A full line of elegant spring cloths, cassimers, worsted and Scotch suitings, now ready at A. J. Vandebroek & Co's. 6-feb-17

THE DEATH OF MRS. JANE A. HAGUE, FROM HER CHILDREN. TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF MRS. JANE A. HAGUE, FROM HER CHILDREN.

Our mother, around whose mortal remains we have gathered to-day, was born at Leesburg, Tuscarawa (now Carroll) county, Ohio, October 15th, 1816; was married to her surviving husband, John T. Hague, at the same place, Sept. 25, 1833, and passed to her final rest at Napoleon, Ohio, March 17, 1881. This is a cold, unimpassioned statement in the fewest possible words, of the three principal epochs in a human life—birth, marriage, death. But to those of her children who survive, who have watched and studied the growth and development of her beautiful character through all the changing vicissitudes of more than forty years of sunshine and shadow, her life which has just closed so peacefully speaks volumes worthy of lasting remembrance and of the closest imitation. Mother had more of the sorrows of life than usually fall to the share of suffering humanity. Her affections were ardent, and the loss of relatives, and especially of her children by death, and of their enforced absence from her while living, caused her the most poignant grief. Five of her twelve children preceded her to the land of shadows, and in the loss of each one she seemed to get a foretaste of the bitterness of death. But by a beautiful arrangement of a kind Providence all griefs, however bitter, have their compensation. Mother found hers for the loss of her loved ones here, in a perfectly satisfying faith, given by her religion, that every child buried out of her sight in this world was but the transplanting of a human soul into the Garden of the Immortals, and that they were all gathered by the river to welcome her to her final home beyond the grave. For many years our beloved mother had not a particle of the fear of death. She had the most abiding faith in her own immortality—and that she was only a sojourner in this world, her whole pilgrimage here being but a preparation for life in the world to come. Hannah Moore, whom she greatly admired, expressed her sentiments in this regard exactly, in the lines:

"The soul on earth is an immortal guest, Compelled to starve at an unreal feast; A spark which upward tends by nature's force; A stream diverted from its parent source. A drop disorbed from the boundless sea. A moment parted from eternity; A pilgrim pausing for the rest to come; An exile anxious for his native home."

Mother connected herself with the M. E. Church, more than fifty years ago, and to the day of her death was a constant attendant upon all its prescribed means of grace, never failing in the performance of every duty which its ordinances required. She was never given to a demonstrative display of religious fervor, nor did she condemn, by look or word, the largest freedom exercised by others in that respect. She was, in the broadest possible sense, a humble, faithful, devout Christian, wife and mother. We believe that the Angels are rejoicing to-day by the accession to their happy throng the spirit of our dear departed mother, who has washed her robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. If we who are condemned to linger yet a little while longer in this vale of tears, without the light of her dear smile and kindly greeting, can by this disposition be made fitter for our Father's use, her death following such a life will not have been in vain.

The above was read at the funeral of sister Hague, and by her pastor offered to the publishers. Sister Hague for half a century followed her Savior, and while her life amply evidenced the fact, it was made still more plain by her peaceful death. Sister Hague will be greatly missed by her neighbors and members of the church; but most of all by her seven surviving children and greatly bereaved husband. Brother Hague feels deeply his loss, but possessing a firm faith in God he looks forward to the time when all shall be gathered home, and the redeemed with robes washed white, securely stand on heaven's land where no parting words are said. To the hope of the gospel, by the grace of God are you committed. C. F.

Obituary. Charles Frederick Kerstetter was born at Texas, Henry county, Ohio, July 12th, 1814. Died at Florida, Henry county, Ohio, March 10th, 1881, aged six years, seven months and twenty-eight days. He was an unusually interesting and lovely boy, in his quiet loving way, he filled the hearts of his parents with hope and joy. His death was a source of deep sorrow to the home where he was so dearly loved; but the stricken parents mourn with hope and ever love and serve the saviour who has thus, in love and tenderness, removed their darling Freddy from all the sorrows and dangers of earth. May the Lord comfort the stricken parents and their hearts lead them in the way of peace and salvation. Our Freddy dear has gone to rest, From sorrow, pain and care. He has ceased to fold us in his breast, Oh, how we miss him here. J. W.

The citizens of Defiance a few days ago were highly pleased when the piece was given in that place two successive nights to crowded houses, all agreeing it was one of the finest entertainments had for years. It is hoped the citizens will give our Defiance neighbors a good attendance.

To those who by their sympathy and assistance kindly ministered to us in our recent bereavement, wherein we were called upon to surrender a beloved wife and mother to death's demands, I, in behalf of myself and children, extend my deepest thanks. A CARD. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stone hereby extend to the good people of Napoleon, their heartfelt thanks for the kindness manifested towards them in their recent affliction.
