SENATOR CALVIN S. BRICE'S WEALTH.

Senator Calvin S. Brice is estimated to be worth over $6,000,000. Ten years ago as a railroad lawyer at Lima, Ohio, all he had was his home and that incumbered. All of this immense fortune has been accumulated in this short period in successful railroad deals. His success has been phenomenal and while it shows the possibilities of this country nevertheless it is largely but the caprice of fortune. It is the grand prize in the lottery of chance which every now and then one man of a million draws. For the other 999,999 common sense teaches us it is folly to hope for such luck. The chances are all against us. There is a certain way for every man, woman or child to accumulate a competence. It is the rule that we see followed by those all around us, who are steadily getting ahead financially. The certain rule of wealth is very simple, it is to save.

It is not how much or how little we earn that makes any one rich, it is what is put by. Every one has this chance. The boy or girl who forms habits of industry and learns to save is sure to succeed. The man or woman who determines to put by a part of their earnings and who does it, is certain to become independent. The great trouble is we say, next week I will begin; next month I will have some surplus; next year I will have better pay and can put by something of consequence. Next week and next month and next year always bring needs as pressing as those of to-day. The sure rule is, begin now. Put by a part of your earnings and whether the start is in dimes or dollars, nevertheless make a start. You can put it by by putting it where it will bring you in something, or invest it in necessities where and when they are sold cheap. Thousands and millions of dollars are saved every year by persons taking advantage of buying where they can get good necessities of life cheap. We know of no better place where this can be done than at the Drug, Book and Wall Paper House of Saur & Balsley. Just at this season this house is offering some paying and special bargains in wall paper and decorations, consisting of some of the prettiest designs ever shown in the Northwest. Also, as this is the sickly season, this popular house is offering to humanity a variety of pure medicines that cannot help to keep one in good health and cure you if you are ailing. Much money can be saved by investing a small amount in good pure remedies and preventatives of disease. Their paints and oils are standard goods and are sold guaranteed to be the best, and it is money saved to get the best, especially when the margin which reign at the house of Saur & Balsley, Napoleon, O.

OBITUARY.

MILLER.—Died in peace, in Harrison township, Henry County, Ohio, Henrietta Miller, nee Hollinger, Sept. 28, 1890, aged 60 years, 5 months and 15 days. She was born at Hamburg, Germany, April 23, 1829, and emigrated to America in the year 1848 with her parents and settled at Sandusky, Co., O., where she was married to Adam Miller, and from thence moved with her husband to Henry County where she resided until called from labor to rest. About 40 years ago at Tiffin, Ohio, she was converted to God and became an honored and faithful member of the Evangelical Association until death. She was highly esteemed as a noble Christian, a good wife and a kind mother and will be missed where she lived, in community and home. During her four weeks suffering of typhoid fever, she said her prospects were bright of Heaven and Immortal Glory. She leaves a husband, one daughter and two sons to mourn their loss. Funeral services were conducted in the absence of her pastor by J. W. Myers, assisted by the writer. Services were held on Sunday, Sept. 21, 1890, in the Sbr'v church to a large congregation of relatives and sympathizing friends.

ROWE FOR THE TICKET!

He is Not a Kicker, for He is Not Built That Way!

ROBEYVILLE CORNERS, OHIO, September 29, 1890.

Ed. Northwest: Dear Sir—It has been rumored by some that I felt dissatisfied over my defeat, and they doubted as to whether I would support the ticket or not. I wish to say to those that if every Democrat votes as I do (a straight Democrat ticket without a scratch on it), the full ticket as nominated by the Democratic County Convention at Napoleon, Ohio, on the 20th day of September, '90, will go in with a bigger majority than ever before. My only wish are that every candidate defeated that day will take hold and work as hard at the polls as they did in trying to secure the nomination. No matter how bad a candidate may have been defeated I claim he ought to stand by the ticket, and if he has not stamina enough about him to do that, then he ought to have stayed entirely out of the field in the first place.

I am not a kicker, for the reason I was not built that way and I will prove it by my work at the polls. I have no reason whatever for feeling bad over my defeat. I made a fair canvass of the county without trying to play my own judgment in regard to voting, and if they saw fit to vote for me I would be thankful, if not, we would remain friends just the same.

I feel safe in saying that the delegates of that convention could not have selected a man better qualified to fill that position than Mr. Rowe, and as far as honesty and uprightness is concerned, it is unquestionable. Therefore I can not nor do not see any reason why Mr. Rowe should not receive the entire support of the party. All we have to do now is to go to work with the intention of coming out victorious and we surely will meet with success. Very respectfully,
F. A. ROWE.

KANSAS WILL GO DEMOCRATIC.

St. Louis, Sept. 29th, 1890.

EDITOR NORTHWEST:—I have just returned from a complete canvass of the State of Kansas, and it is very evident that the beautiful Sunflower State will experience a great political cyclone on the fourth day of next November that will do away with the 82,000 Republican majority that she gave in 1888. The causes for the great political revolution will be too much prohibition, cranks and robber tariff. I learn these facts not from Democrats alone but from many life-long Republicans who are thoroughly disgusted with the prohibition force that has been a great detriment to the State in various ways. The people of the State who pay the taxes begin to realize that they might as well license the damnable traffic and receive some benefits from it by way of reducing taxes and supplying means to keep up the school, poor and public improvement funds. As it now is they sell and consume as much intoxicating liquors as other States in proportion to their population and receive no benefit from it. The Kansas farmers are not only sick of prohibition, but they are getting their eyes open in regard to the tariff question, which they at last begin to understand, is for the aggrandizement of the New England manufacturers, trusts and monopolists only; and since the passage of the vicious and infernal McKinley bill, it will only strengthen their determination to vote for tariff reform candidates for Congress, and the Democratic re-submissionist State ticket. I was in the great Republican State of Iowa last year just before their election, which went Democratic, and the murmuring of discontent was nothing in comparison to what they now are in Kansas. If taking votes on the railroad trains is any indication of the result the State is certainly sure for the Democratic ticket. These train votes are so unsatisfactory to the Republicans their press will not publish results, as you will see by clipping from Wichita Eagle, one of the very ablest and leading Republican papers in the State, but has the honesty and courage to advocate reduction of the tariff and high license.

200 UNSATISFACTORY FOR REPUBLICAN MENTION. (Wichita Eagle.)

Now is the season in which to take the vote of the trains for governor. One was taken yesterday between Arkansas City and Wichita, but the result is entirely too unsatisfactory for publication. It was a regular of year affair.

I attended the recent Democratic and re-submissionist State conventions, and judging from the enthusiasm manifested by both Democrats and Republicans and their willingness to concede all and any party preferences as to candidates only so they could unite on good men that were honest, capable, and for the true and best interests of Kansas. It was amusing to see an old died in the "Lamb" lie down together and willing to be led by the children called Honesty and Reform. Yours truly,
F. M. BALDWIN.

THE CHICAGO HERALD STATES THAT BY THE TIME THE WORLD'S FAIR IS INAUGURATED THE TALLEST BUILDING IN THE WORLD WILL GRACE THE CORNER OF STATE AND RANDOLPH STREETS.

This colossal structure will be built entirely of steel and terra cotta, with veneerings of stone, and will tower into the clouds at an altitude of eighteen stories. The great structure, the topmost stories of which will be occupied as a masonic temple, will cost $3,000,000. Workmen are now raising the building at the corner of State and Randolph streets and the immense foundations on which this giant is to rest are now being laid.

While Democrats favor the principle of reciprocity, they cannot afford to share the responsibility of entrusting the application of it to the President, as is proposed by the amendment to the tariff bill. It is to invest one man with a power that places vast business interests subject to any whim or caprice he may, for any cause, seek to gratify any moment—a power upon the exercise of which there is absolutely no check, and from which there is no appeal. The only relief from the burthen shouldered upon the people is an absolute reduction of tariff duties to a revenue standard, and where reciprocity is had, that such reciprocity shall be free and untrammelled.

The New York Ledger for October 4 is a mine of interesting fact and fiction regarding the south, both the new south and the old. It leads off with a brilliant character sketch of Henry W. Grady, journalist, orator and patriot, written by Oliver Dyer, in which the effect on the new south of Grady's life-work is luminously explained. A crisp editorial on "The Marvelous Revival of Prosperity in the South" tells its own tale. The old south is pictured in the opening installment of a Kentucky war story entitled "Re-united," the pro-product of a distinguished southern officer. In "For Isabel," Maurice Thompson gives a vignette of ante-bellum life in Louisiana. James Farson tells the story of Caesar Rodney of Delaware. An illustrated bulletin by Thomas Dunn English and a story by Mrs. Amelia O. Evans are published in the same number.

Mysteriously Missing.

Dr. Stout, one of Holgate's most esteemed citizens, our mayor, a prominent physician, and a gentleman of wide and favorable acquaintance in the county, has been missing from our city and from his family without any one's knowledge of his whereabouts for over four weeks. What can detain him so long from home and whether he has gone on questions that have been constantly on the tongues of our people the past two weeks or more. Ugly reports are out to the effect that he has shaken the Holgate dust from his feet for good and that one of Holgate's fair damsels whose reputation for virtue is none the best, has gone with him. What truth there is in this it is not our province to state, for we do not know; but certain it is that the Dr. has been gone the length of time named and also certain it is that the aforesaid young lady disappeared about the same time or a little before. His many friends, the editor of this paper among them, have hoped against hope that he would return and the ugly story be proven false but all now concede the fact that it is now a plain case of desertion and elopement. His esteemed wife is sympathized with by every one in her trouble. Financially embarrassed was certainly not the cause, as he leaves no personal debts of any consequence that we have learned of and took two or three hundred dollars with him. It is the most sensational affair that has ever occurred in our city and is an everybody's tongue. He is a prominent Mason and K. of P., and stood high in their orders, and leaves behind him a legion of warm friends who are still loath to believe that it can possibly be as bad as it appears on its face.—Holgate Times.

THE MCKINLEY TARIFF.

The London Papers Comment on the Effects of the Measure. LONDON, Sept. 29.—The News commenting on the McKinley bill, says: "We are happily old hands in contests of this kind, and will not be driven by any provocation to the suicidal policy of resorting to either reciprocity or retaliation. The enterprise of our traders will find in one corner of the globe—in Asia, Africa, or on the continent of America—more than sufficient to compensate for this incredibly foolish measure. The great loss will be to the United States. The earlier tariff has already paralyzed their export trade in manufactures, and the McKinley bill may kill it. The true danger to England's industrial supremacy will begin only when free trade opens to these intelligent and powerful rivals the markets of the world." The Times bledicts that the McKinley bill will cut both ways, and in a manner surprising to its authors. "It will do grave harm to America and dislocate the general industries of the world. America will be the chief sufferer in the end. Things elsewhere will adjust themselves in the course of time to the new course of trade, while America will be left permanently paying higher prices for inferior goods and wasting her labor and industrial energy in vain and misdirected efforts in disregard of natural economic laws."

VIENNA, Sept. 29.—One thousand mother of pearl button-makers have been locked out, owing to the McKinley bill, which the manufacturers believe threatens to stop the entire trade with America.

Ball-Dozer Ball-Dozed.

It is well-known that Speaker Reed a few months ago was bitterly opposed to the river and harbor bill. He even said to a member one day who was soliciting consideration for it, "To h—l with your inland seas." But a correspondent to the St. Louis Republic tells how the Republicans in the House, worms though they be, turned on the speaker and forced him to sign the bill against his wish and will: "Reed signed the river and harbor bill to-day. He did it with very bad grace. He did not want to do it. He was bull-dozed into doing it. He was informed early this morning that if the bill was not signed to-day a resolution would be introduced by a Republican, supported by nearly half the Republicans and all the Democrats, commanding him to sign the bill forthwith and if he refused to obey that order that a resolution would immediately be introduced removing him from the speaker's chair. It was a very serious piece of business for him in assuming to use the veto power. He was going too far even for his peons on the Republican side of the house. That it was his intention to veto the river and harbor bill there is no doubt, but it was made very clear to him that if he persisted in his intentions he would get into trouble. Reed is a bully and bulldozer, but an infinite coward. The backbone that his handmen brag so loud of is only visible when Tom is not in danger."

"It is not altogether clear whether a speaker can be removed or not, but Reed himself has held that a majority of the house can do anything and in the event of Reed refusing to sign the river and harbor bill the chances are that a majority of the house would promptly have voted to degrade him from the speakership. However, the movement became so great that Reed took alarm and one of the first things he did this morning after the chaplain offered prayer was to attach his signature to the river and harbor bill. He did not announce it at the time because he was mad and hated to have it known that he was bull-dozed, but he announced it later in the day, according to custom, that he had signed the bill. It was the first time in the history of the government that a speaker attempted to exercise the veto power that is plainly conferred upon the executive by the constitution, but Reed has no regard for the constitution, precedent, fair play, or legislative decency, and only gave way when his peons assured him they were ready to revolt and join with the democrats in compelling him to do his duty."
