Poisons the Hogs. E. E. Fessel and Mrs. Margaret Marshman own adjoining farms in Liberty township, Seneca county, and, like a great many others whose properties adjoin, do not dwell together in peace and harmony.

Recently a large number of Mr. Fessel's hogs were taken mysteriously sick and he discovered that the porkers had been killed by poison placed along the line fence between the two farms. Accordingly he brought suit in the common pleas court and the case was heard before Judge Schatfelberger and a jury Saturday and Fessel was awarded a verdict for $108.72. It is intimated that criminal proceedings will follow.

The Modest Girl. That old joke about the bashful girl who was so modest she wouldn't go into a restaurant because she would see the salad dressing is again going the rounds of the press.

Perhaps it may be interesting to note that a few more modest girls have been brought to light. Among them is the girl who dislikes to walk across the potato patch because the tubers had eyes and might see her ankles.

Another refused to drive through a forest in the Autumn because the leaves were off the trees and she would see their naked limbs. Another, when a matter around her head when she came down to breakfast so that the people might not see her hair undressed. Still another didn't like to run down hill because it made her breath come in short pants.

Just received a new lot of fur capes, English Seal, London Eye heavy satin lined, 24, 27 and 30 inches long at prices lower than elsewhere.

Not a Bigamist. Our readers will remember that some weeks ago it was reported that the person Miss Maude Talbot had married at Peru, Ind., had turned out to be a bigamist. Friends of the bride in Napoleon will be glad to learn that there was no foundation for the report.

The Peru Chronicle says, in speaking of the matter: "Llewellyn Capwell, the young railway fireman, who married a young lady of this city some weeks since, and was falsely and maliciously accused of being a bigamist by parties of this city and arrested and held at Montpelier by an officer on information sent from here, is in the city and called on the Chronicle. He is the guest of his brother-in-law, George Doxsee, an engineer on the Detroit division, residing on East Main street. Mrs. Capwell came here on a visit some days ago and left this morning to spend a few days with her parents at Napoleon, O., where her husband will join her in a day or two. They will either reside at Montpelier or in this city.

Mr. Capwell is fortified with proof to establish his innocence of the charge of bigamy, and also of misrepresentation, and will take such steps as will make his calumniators feel that his character cannot be assailed with impunity.

He lost his situation by the arrest and detention, and the time he has been required to consume in clearing himself of the charges.

AT LAST!

A Democratic Postmaster for Napoleon.

The Democrats in this vicinity were made glad on Wednesday evening last, by the announcement by telegraph that a Democratic postmaster had been named for Napoleon. Geo. Russell had been removed and Chas. Evers, upon the recommendation of Congressman Donovan, appointed to succeed him.

At this all Democrats rejoiced, and with them hosts of Republicans, who believed Mr. Russell should have had his discharge at the expiration of the time for which he was appointed.

Mr. Evers will take charge of the office as soon as his bond is received at Washington and approved, and his commission reaches Napoleon. We congratulate Mr. Evers upon his appointment and know that he will make an excellent postmaster.

We are not informed as to who will be his deputy, but the general feeling and wish is, that Mrs. Edison may be retained in her old position.

Crape Tissue Paper.

A new material for fancy articles and decorations is taking the place of silk and satin. It is called crape tissue paper, and is much like ordinary tissue, but is rather stronger and has a crinkly surface. The uses to which this paper can be put are legion.
